Craven Allen Gallery, 1106 1/2 Broad St., Durham. Through Oct. 30 - "William Paul Thomas: Public Displays of Affection". Thomas's paintings are larger than life, both in physical presence and visual impact. Each image flirts with photorealism while maintaining evidence of a strong painterly hand, which is amplified by his rich color palette. Some of his subjects can be seen with their faces partially covered in blue, which he refers to as "Cyanosis". This effect is a visceral depiction of the conflict and trauma that we all hold just beneath the surface. Cyanosis challenges viewers to be more aware of not only their own hardships, but also those of the people they interact with every day. The title of the show, "Public Displays of Affection," refers to his intimate connection with the people he paints. "I choose specific models as a way of recognizing their significance in my life's path. I relish being able to honor everyday people through making images. We regularly celebrate women and men of prominence in mass media, so I take advantage of the opportunity to highlight the people that impact me on a more

View inside 21c Museum Hotel

21c Museum Hotel, 111 North Corcoran Street, Durham. Vault Gallery, Through Jan. 2022 - "Claire Alexandre - Of Soil and Sky". The exhibit is a collection of passed-down memories that share the wandering reflections of my existence as a Diaspora child on unceded Indigenous and AfroCarolina land. Housed in the depths of 21c Museum Hotel Durham and NC Mutual Life Insurance's Provident1898, these vibrant depictions of ancestors, friends, and mentors become intertwined with the buildings' cultural foundations and that of the larger landscape of what we call North Carolina. Part mythology for this moment and part ecological guide, the mixed-media offerings honor the powerful entities and energies that have repeatedly created sanctuary for my people and me, not only throughout time, but into futurity. This exhibition is co-organized and presented by 21c Museum Hotel Durham, The Understudy, Provident1898, and Mavis Gragg. Ongoing - Standing tall and proud in the center of downtown Durham, 21c Museum Hotel is a multi-venue contemporary art museum offering more than 10,500 square feet of art-filled exhibition and event space, a full-service boutique hotel with luxurious guest rooms, and home to Counting House restaurant.
