EXISTING NOW

Marty Epp -Carter & Elaine Quave

EXISTING NOW is a recognition of the complexity of the human experience and the immense beauty found in the impermanent present moment. Each work is a metaphor for the artists' lives, an accumulation of both personal experience and collective knowledge. Epp-Carter and Quave explore the profound experience of existing now. In this continuous moment of now, we hold our memories of the past, and our hopes and fears for the future.

REFLECTIONS

April Huguenin

Opening Reception: October 13 | 6 - 8 PM

Artist April Huguenin has spent much of her creative journey following in the footsteps of Monet. In an exhibit reflecting her time spent in his gardens, she invites the viewer to become immersed in the familiar environment that has been the subject of some of the most beloved masterpieces of all time.
