Work by John Duckworth

City Gallery at Waterfront Park, 34 Prioleau Street, Charleston. Upper & Lower Level Galleries, Through Dec. 23 - "Are You AWAKE Now?," featuring works by John Duckworth. "Balance, awareness and perception" are the three words contemporary artist John Duckworth uses to describe the unique nature of his upcoming multi-sensory exhibition. The gallery will be transformed into an immersive space within a guided exhibition layout, displaying Duckworth's photography, sketches, paintings, video, and audio installation in his most comprehensive show yet. Much of Duckworth's art has an underlying meditative quality, embedded in works such as his Buddhist-inspired paintings and his most recognizable photographs of nature. The exhibit will feature over forty art works in this exhibition that also highlights Duckworth's creative and meditation practices. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 10am-6pm & Sat.-Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 843/958-6484 or (<http://citygalleryatwaterfrontpark.com/>).

Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art, The Marion and Wayland H. Cato Jr. Center for the Arts, College of Charleston School of the Arts, 161 Calhoun St., Charleston. Through Dec. 6 - "Jumaadi: forgive me not to miss you not". In recognition of Charleston's history as a significant international port city, the Halsey Institute provides a platform for the exchange of different cultural traditions through an international artist-in-residence program. For the fall 2014, the Halsey Institute has invited Jumaadi, a contemporary multimedia artist from Indonesia, to participate in a 2-month artist-in-residence. During the residency, Jumaadi will be creating new work to be exhibited at the Halsey Institute, including paintings and drawings as well as a series of contemporary and historical Indonesian shadow puppets. He will also be working on a special project with students at the Academic Magnet High School in North Charleston to create an evening of shadow-puppet theater to be presented at their school. Through Dec. 6 - "Unknown Picassos: Diurnes". A largely unknown work from 1962, "Diurnes" is a box decorated with color lithographs by Picasso containing 30 original photograms made by a then-young unknown photographer, André Villers, under Picasso's instigation to "play with" some paper cutouts he had done for his grandchildren shortly after Matisse's death, in 1954. One thousand boxes were produced by Berggruen in Paris in 1962, with lithographs of the photograms, along with an 18-page poetic script by Jacques Prévert. Each image is precisely numbered and titled in its own paper folder. On top of the 30 images is a separately bound, beautifully printed, 18-page poetic, script-like text written by one of Picasso's closest friends, the French poet, film writer (Les Enfants du Paradis his signal achievement), prolific song writer, and collage artist Jacques Prévert. The text presents readers with a set of characters and dialogues relating to the images. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 11am-4pm and open till 7pm on Thurs. Contact: Mark Sloan at 843/953-4422 or at (www.halsey.cofc.edu).

Saul Alexander Foundation Gallery, Charleston County Public Library, 68 Calhoun St., Charleston. Dec. 1 - 31 - "Outside-In the Lowcountry," featuring photography by Eric Horan. Horan says, "I moved to the Lowcountry from Colorado where I grew up and received my commercial photography degree. I have been working as a commercial photographer in Beaufort County, SC, since 1981 with a one year hiatus to train in New York City. I decided to return to the Lowcountry to develop my scenic photography skills and build my own business, as advised by one of my mentors." Hours: Mon.-Thur., 9am-8pm; Fri. & Sat., 9am-6pm; and Sun. 2-5pm. Contact: Frances Richardson at 843/805-6803 or at (www.ccpl.org).

The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Historic Textiles Gallery, Through Jan. 4, 2015 - "Unfurled: Flags from the Collections of the Charleston Museum. The Museum's flag collection spans from the early 19th century to the late 20th century, with examples covering a range of functions and styles. Many flags will be exhibited for the first time. Throughout history, flags have conveyed a variety of meanings - as symbols of national identity, as signals to others, or to mark specific places or events. "Flags can inspire patriotism and pride, but they can also stir hostility. Their meanings can change over time," explains Charleston Museum Director Carl Borick. Ongoing - Featuring the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific collections in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 843/722-2996 or at (www.charlestonmuseum.org).

South Carolina Aquarium, 100 Aquarium Wharf, Charleston. Through Jan. 15, 2015 - "Salvage for our Seas". Marine animals come to life through recycled metal, tools and old engine parts in the South Carolina Aquarium's newest art installation. The exhibition features sculptures by Charleston artist Daniel Miner representing the Lowcountry's diverse animals and landscapes. Each piece is an original interpretation by Miner who transforms expired engine parts and shop equipment into detailed sculptures using a hand-held plasma cutter, which delivers 30,000 degrees of precision-cutting heat. Miner individually draws and handcrafts each piece, sealing them with a multi-stage powder coating. Miner's work reflects his passion for preserving and protecting our natural world. His pieces include sea turtles, mahi, sailfish, and tarpon. Visitors to the Aquarium have the opportunity to reserve and later purchase Miner's artwork displayed in Salvage for our Seas, with a portion of the proceeds directly supporting conservation and education programs at the Aquarium. Hours: reg aquarium hours. Contact: 843/579-8660 or at (www.scaquarium.org).

Clemson Area

Sikes Hall Showcase, Clemson University, Ground Floor Sikes Hall, 101 Calhoun Drive, Clemson. Through Mar. 27, 2015 - "Savannah River Survey: Photographs by Anderson Wrangle". Clemson University Photography professor Anderson Wrangle has followed the Chattooga River from its origin in Cashiers, NC, to its terminus in Lake Hartwell, and tracked the network of rivers and lakes in southwest North Carolina, northeast Georgia and northwest South Carolina. The Savannah River is born from these waters and begins properly in the submerged confluence of the Seneca and Tugaloo Rivers, deep under Lake Hartwell, marked by the towering presence of the dam. Clemson University is part of this watershed, landscape, and history, and is integral to its future. The exhibition was organized by Lee Gallery. The artist will give a talk about his research on Sept. 29, from 2:30 - 3:30pm. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8:30am - 4:30pm. Contact: call Denise Woodward-Detrich, Lee Gallery Director at 864/656-3883 or at (<http://www.clemson.edu/centers-institutes/cva/galleries/index.html>).

ALTERNATE ART SPACES - Clemson
Brooks Center Lobby, Brooks Center for the Performing Arts Lobby, Clemson University, 141 Jersey Lane, Clemson. Through Dec. 5 - "Decoding the Shape of Future Recollections". This exhibit features a survey of work exploring abstraction from the Clemson Architecture Foundation Collection showcasing a range of approaches to abstraction from figurative to landscape and from objects to architecture. Works were selected for their use of elements and principles of design as tools to assist in the decoding of meaning and content within the work. As viewers move through the exhibition the level of abstraction intensifies requiring increased visual engagement and reflection to deduce the artists' intent. By actively reading the visual clues the viewer stretches their interpretation skills towards layering future recollections when engaging with abstract works of art. Artists included in the exhibition are noted southern painters: Carl Blair, David Freeman, Robert Hunter, John O'Neil, Walter Hollis Stevens and Edward Yaghjan. Additional artists: Ben Shahn, Antoine Predock, Manley, Bill Seitz and A. Stanick. The exhibit was organized by Brooks Center for the Performing Arts and the Lee Gallery. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 1-5pm. Contact: call Denise Woodward-Detrich, Lee Gallery Director at 864/656-3883 or at (<http://www.clemson.edu/centers-institutes/cva/galleries/index.html>).
