Market Street, Dudley Building, NC A&T State University, Greensboro. Ongoing - The Matye Reed African Heritage Collection seeks to educate people about the culture, history and accomplishments of African societies and peoples of African descent. It achieves this through the development of exhibits drawn from its extensive collection of African artifacts, which represent a cross-section of African cultures from over thirty-five countries. The collection is made up of fine examples of African material culture including sculptures, masks, figures, household implements, musical instruments, and textiles. The modern collection includes works from Nigeria, Ghana, Ethiopia, Haiti and elsewhere in the African Diaspora. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 10am-5pm & sat., 1-5pm. Contact: 336/334-3209.

Revolution Mill, 1250 Revolution Mill Drive, Greensboro. Gallery 1250, Through Dec. 31 - "Articulate". Weatherspoon Art Museum (WAM) at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and Revolution Mill are excited to announce that they have partnered to present a dynamic painting installation by Raleigh-based artist James Marshall (aka Dalek). Marshall's design was inspired by a desire to both feature the angular geometries found throughout the historic mill building and set off the vibrant red that has been used as the signature color of its renovation. Ongoing - WAM and Revolution are working to make this installation the first in a series of ongoing WAMRev collaborations, reflecting a shared commitment to presenting bold and imaginative exhibitions and reaching new audiences. Gallery 1250 is a new art space on the first floor of Revolution Mill's newly redeveloped 1250 building. The gallery was designed in the center of the floor, with walkways through the space and large glass windows so that tenants and visitors can continually view and experience the art. The 1250 building is part of the 50-acre mixed-use campus, and is home to artist studios, creative office spaces. It also features a multimedia gallery for film installations, a café area, and an outdoor event and performance space named Revolution Docks. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 11am-6pm, select evening + weekend hours will begin this fall. Contact: (www.revolutionmillgreensboro.com/WAMRev).

Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. The Gregory D. Ivy Gallery & The Weatherspoon Guild Gallery, Through Jan. 29, 2017 - "The Kindness of Friends: Gifts in Honor of the 75th Anniversary." The Weatherspoon Art Museum holds the only collection of its kind—focusing on modern and contemporary art—in North Carolina. It also enjoys a growing regional, national and international reputation. Now numbering close to 6,000 works of art, the collection has grown in large part through the ongoing generosity of the museum's many friends—in gifting art, funds to purchase art, or acquisition endowments. As part of our 75th celebration, supporters are further enhancing the collection with current and promised gifts. Some of these were seen in the 2010 exhibition, "Inquiring Eyes: Greensboro Collects", but many will be displayed now for the first time. The Bob & Lissa Shelley McDowell Gallery, Through

Dec. 23 - "Decade by Decade: Art Acquired in Its Time". When Gregory Ivy founded the Weatherspoon in 1941, he wanted students attending Woman's College as well as the larger Greensboro community to have firsthand experience of the art of their time. He achieved this vision in part through the exhibitions he organized, the instructors he hired, the workshops and lectures he offered, and perhaps most importantly, the artworks he acquired for the Weatherspoon's burgeoning collection. As a result of Ivy's unwavering vision and through the financial support of the Greensboro community, the Weatherspoon has evolved over the course of its 75 years into an internationally recognized museum with a noteworthy collection of modern and contemporary art. "Decade by Decade: Art Acquired in Its Time" highlights select objects that entered the collection shortly after the date of their creation. The objects included represent various contemporary art movements from the museum's founding to the present, and thus underscore the museum's enduring commitment to both emerging artists and to the art of its time. Visitors will glean that there have been more than a few prescient acquisitions over the years! Gallery 6, Through Feb. 26, 2017 - "In Falling Snow: Japanese Prints from the Lenoir C. Wright Collection". The wonders of winter snow can be seen in this exhibition drawn from the museum's Lenoir C. Wright Collection of Japanese prints. Representing a variety of landscape settings, atmospheric conditions, and psychological moods, the woodblock prints masterfully illustrate how this seasonal phenomenon can provide visual interest while also furthering narrative content. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Sculpture Courtyard - Featuring selections of American sculpture from 1900 to the present from the Weatherspoon Collection and on loan works from contemporary artists. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue., Wed. & Fri., 10am-5pm, Thur., 10am to 9pm and Sat. & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 336/334-5770 or at (<http://weatherspoon.uncg.edu/>).
