Editorial COMMENTARY

Mother of All Pottery Shows Turns Into Top of the Mountain Winners

Not too long ago we had a battle between Queens. Our long time Queen of the Carolina Arts Facebook page, Wan Marsh of Charlotte, NC, was knocked off her throne by our new Queen, Kristi Ryba of Charleston, SC. The battle pitted artists from the banking capital of the South against one from the tourist mecca of the South, but last month we had a group of potters from one of the smallest towns in North Carolina set an all time record for views of our cover image posted on the Carolina Arts Facebook page.

Ryba had taken the crown with a total of 7,500 + a few hundred more than Marsh had gotten to become our first Queen with a total of more than 2,000 over any contender. Our King or Queen titles are decided by totals between individual artists. Our November 2017 cover showcased works by a group of Seagrove, NC, potters. Their total of view went beyond 9,000 views. And, considering that we only have 3,900 + likes to our page - some folks were spreading that image around on their pages and people were liking what they saw.

Just a few months ago I thought it would take a while for anyone to surpass Kristi Ryba's total, but I didn't think about a group of artists, as we have never had a group cover score so high in the past. But it just goes to show you never know what the public is going to react to.

The good thing for all of us is - that cover brought a lot of new viewers to Carolina Arts.

Buy Art for the Holidays

It's my annual plea to call for readers to buy art for the holidays. Many of you have heard it before - many times, but I'm giving it again to remind readers that one of the best ways to help our economy - especially our local economies - is to buy art from local artists, from local galleries, from local art museum gift shops, and other non-profit art organizations. But, make sure the works are made by local artists.

There are many ways you can accomplish this act of giving art. The most direct is buying art at one of the many Holiday art sales taking place at arts councils, art groups, and art organizations taking place this month. Many of these facilities don't show exhibits during the month of December to give local artists an opportunity to have a sales venue. Also, many outdoor art fairs or sales will be taking place.

Buying art in a gallery provides a double hit to the economy, as it helps an artist and helps maintain the main outlet for seeing and buying art in the Carolinas and around the world. Not every community has an art museum.

You can give someone an art class, an art book, or some art supplies.

You can also make a donation to an arts organization in someone's name.

There are so many ways to give art for the Holidays - just use your imagination. Why, you could even buy an ad in a regional arts newspaper for an artist or art group.

And of course we want you to buy from our supporters - the people who make this publication possible. And, when and if you do, make sure they know you are doing it because of their great support for Carolina Arts, Carolina artists, and the overall Carolina visual art community.

After all, it takes a village to pull off a publication like ours: people sending in the information we present, artists to make the work shown in exhibits, those who present those exhibits, the people who support us, and the people who go see those exhibits.

Thanks ya'll - see you in the new year.

Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston, SC, Presents Several New Exhibitions

The Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston, SC, is presenting several new exhibits including: Mexico and the Charleston Renaissance, on view in Gallery 2, through May 20, 2018; Magic in the Mundane: Modernist Photography from the Robert Marks Collection, on view in Gallery 3, through May 20, 2018; and Pan American Modernism: Avant-Garde Art in Latin America and the United States, on view in Galleries 8 & 9, through Jan. 7, 2018.

Mexico and the Charleston Renaissance explores the influence of Mexican art and culture upon American artists in the mid twentieth century, particularly artists associated with the Charleston Renaissance. The exhibition features paintings and works on paper from the Gibbes Collection by William Halsey, Anna Heyward Taylor, George Biddle, Charles Wilbert White, Edward Middleton Manigault and Corrie McCallum.

Magic in the Mundane: Modernist Photography from the Robert Marks Collection presents works that were influenced by surrealism and other modernist art movements. Early twentieth-century photographers expanded the traditional boundaries of the camera radically altering perceptions of everyday subjects. This exhibition features works by Alfred Stieglitz, Berenice Abbott, Laszlo Moholy-Nagy, Martin Munkácsi, and George Platt Lynes, from the Robert Marks Collection at the Gibbes.

Pan American Modernism: Avant-Garde Art in Latin America and the Carlos Mérida, "Abstract with Three Figures", 1961, oil, sand, and pencil on wood, 34 5/8 x 41 3/8 x 1 3/8 in.

United States explores the rich visual dialogue that flourished across the Americas between 1919 and 1979.

Showcasing more than 70 important works of art, the exhibition examines Modernism as an international phenomenon, embracing the contributions of Latin American artists.

The exhibition was developed by the Lowe Art Museum, University of Miami, with the tour organized by International Arts & Artists, Washington, DC.

This exhibition is made possible by BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina, the Gaylord & Dorothy Donnelley Foundation, the Ethel-Jane Bunting Endowment Fund, and Alice and Lance Wyatt.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Museum at 843/722-2706 or visit (www.gibbesmuseum.org).

City of Charleston, SC, Presents Works Focused on Charleston's Public Parks

The City of Charleston Office of Cultural Affairs presents Posing Possibilities: Drawing Inspiration from and for Charleston's Parks, on view at City Gallery through Dec. 18, 2017. This celebration of the beauty of Charleston's public spaces features the work of Jack Alterman, Janie Ball, Christophe Drumain, Karyn Healey, Alan Jackson, Hirona Matsuda, and Fletcher Williams III. An artists' talk with the exhibiting artists will be held on Dec. 9, at 2pm.

Posing Possibilities celebrates the promise of public parks and the people who nurture those spaces in a collaboration between multiple artists and the Charleston Parks Conservancy. Photographer Jack Alterman presents a series of portraits of the "Park Angels," the dedicated volunteer corps that helps the Conservancy improve and preserve Charleston's parks.

The exhibition also includes a display utilizing the artwork of architect Christophe Drumain highlighting the Conservancy's 10 years as a nonprofit organization that has collaborated with neighborhoods, businesses and the City of Charleston to renovate and beautify more than 25 city parks. Frequent collaborators Alan Jackson and Hirona Matsuda present a series of works based on five of Charleston's parks. Painter Karyn Healey examines the proposed Lowline linear park. Janie Ball shares landscape studies of the parks she knew growing up in Charleston. Fletcher Williams III's work meditates on public art.

Through this exhibition, City Gallery and the Charleston Parks Conservancy hope to engage visitors and Lowcountry residents alike in thinking about the role of art in public spaces, as well as to inspire them with the beauty of local parks and landscapes.

Photographer Jack Alterman has been framing the faces, buildings, and landscapes of Charleston since the 1970's. Janie Ball has been engaged in creating art, for as long as she can remember. Her paintings are composed of bold thoughtful shapes of color which when visually combined by the viewer "paint" the image.

Christophe Drumain is a partner at DesignWorks, a Charleston-based Landscape and Planning firm.

Karyn Healey has been an artist for many years, working as a graphic designer, a community art advocate, and adjunct faculty member teaching design and typography.

Alan Jackson is a professional architect who has an interest in abstract expressionism and minimalist artwork.

Hirona Matsuda uses primarily found and salvaged objects, refocusing the viewer's attention on things that have been deemed useless and of no aesthetic value. The assembled compositions are a delicate balance of color and texture and light and shadow.

Fletcher Williams III is a Charleston-based interdisciplinary artist whose theoretical and conceptual art making practice is rooted in a southern vernacular, which he finds essential to documenting the unweaving of Charleston's social and cultural fabric.

Established in 2003, the City Gallery at Waterfront Park is a free and non-profit gallery owned by the City of Charleston and operated by the Office of Cultural Affairs.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings, call the gallery at 843/958-6484 or visit (www.charleston-sc.gov/citygallery).

The deadline each month to submit articles, photos and ads is the 24th of the month prior to the next issue. This will be Dec. 24th for the January 2018 issue and Jan. 24 for the February issue. After that, it's too late unless your exhibit runs into the next month. But don't wait for the last minute - send your info now. And where do you send that info? E-mail to (info@carolinaarts.com).

The Charleston Museum in Charleston, SC, Offers Look at Museum's Early Days

The Charleston Museum in Charleston, SC, is pleased to announce the opening of a new exhibit of historic photos in its Lowcountry Image Gallery. The Early Days: A Photographic History of America's First Museum, on display through May 14, 2018, tells the story of the Museum's transformation over the years.

After The Charleston Museum's founding in 1773 by the Charleston Library Society, it was subsequently overseen by the Library Society, the Literary and Philosophical Society of South Carolina, the Medical College of South Carolina, and the College of Charleston. In 1907, Charleston's city council offered the newly built Thomson Auditorium on Rutledge Avenue to house the Museum and provided funding to support the growing institution. Over the years, Museum directors continued the expansion of exhibits and educational programs and fashioned the Museum into a much loved cultural institution in the Charleston community.

opened once again to the community in April 1980. Unfortunately, in October of 1981, a fire destroyed the old building leaving only the portico with four columns as a remembrance. Although the Thomson Auditorium is gone, the Museum, in its modern facility, continues to preserve and exhibit Lowcountry heritage and educate the people of our community and visitors from around the world.

Featuring images of the Museum's time in Randolph Hall at the College of Charleston, the old Museum on Rutledge Avenue, as well as its present location on Meeting Street, The Early Days allows visitors to look back on the dedication and devotion given to America's First Museum over the years.

A 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, The Charleston Museum, founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Holding the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific materials in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings or visit www.charlestonmuseum.org.

By the 1970s, the grand building that housed the Museum had fallen into serious disrepair and the welfare of the collections was threatened. Under the directorship of Donald Herold, the collections were moved to the new location at 360 Meeting Street, and the Museum

City of North Charleston, SC, Features Works by Camela Guevara and Patrick Nevins

The City of North Charleston's Cultural Arts Department is pleased to announce that gouache paintings and textile works by the current City of North Charleston Artist-in-Residence, Camela Guevara, as well as oil paintings by local artist Patrick Nevins will be on exhibit at the North Charleston City Gallery, located in the Charleston Area Convention Center, in North Charleston, SC, from Dec. 1, 2017, through January 29, 2018. The artists will host a free public reception at the gallery on Dec. 7, from 5-7pm.

In the exhibit, PLUME, featuring gouache paintings and fiber art by Camela Guevara, a contemporary textile artist and painter based in Charleston. Her tactile fiber art pays respect to traditional, time-honored sewing and weaving techniques through the lens of spare, geometric imagery with an emphasis on materials. Figure skating costumes, over-the-top fashion, and utilitarian textiles inform her abstract and non-functional fiber pieces. In addition to working with textiles, she has most recently been creating expressive gouache paintings that visualize her internal stream of consciousness without judgment.

In her exhibition PLUME, Guevara presents abstract gouache paintings of "plumes" on paper, along with some pieces composed of handmade cording on wood panel, and some woven pieces using raffia and found objects. Guevara draws inspiration for her plumes from the world around her. "When I think of plumes in nature," she explains, "I think of the man-made complications of pollution, such as the floating island of plastics in the ocean." For Guevara, the process of creating these pieces is a meditative one, "it is a kind of sifting of all the media I experience, similar to the filtration of an oyster.

Work by Camela Guevara

I take in so much culture and interaction on a daily basis, that I'm filtering through it all and cleansing myself from the deluge of advertising and media through painting."

Guevara received a BA in Studio Art with a concentration in sculpture, print-making, and painting from the College of Charleston in 2010 and attended the Penland School of Crafts for weaving in 2016. Her work has been exhibited in a number of solo and group exhibitions locally and beyond. Recent shows include the South Carolina Palmetto Hands Juried Fine Craft Exhibition (North Charleston, SC), the Piccolo Spoleto Juried Art Exhibition (Charleston, SC), Nasty Women at Redux Contemporary Art Center (Charleston, SC), Feminist Fiber Art at the Virago Gallery (Seattle, WA), New Weave at the Southern Gallery (Charleston, SC), and Telling Her Story at the Greenville Center for the Arts (Greenville, SC).

Guevara has offered art instruction to children and adults for 7 years through organizations such as the North Charleston Cultural Arts Department, Girls Rock Charleston, Space Craft Studios, and Redux Contemporary Art Center, and works as both Assistant Manager and Outreach Coordinator for Artist & Craftsman Supply's Charleston Uptown location. In addition, she currently offers residencies to North Charleston schools and community groups as the City of North Charleston's 2017/18 Artist-in-Residence.

Oil painter Patrick Nevins presents Impermanent Objects, a collection of still-lives and landscapes on wood panel and canvas. Nevins strives to create as much realism as he can in his paintings. He believes that the challenge of realism teaches him something with each new painting. He has recently turned to still-lives for his subjects due to their availability and his ability to manipulate and change the setup to reflect his idea and vision. "For the most part," Nevins says, "my subjects are chosen to depict a certain message or thought. Sometimes it is as simple as a texture or the way the light hits an object." Nevins sees his work as influenced by Joshua Suda, Adam Vinson, and Todd Casey, as well as local artist Robert Lange.

Nevins is from a small town in Massachusetts. He came to South Carolina through service in the Marine Corps. His love for the area led him to enroll in the College of Charleston where he graduated in 2005 with a bachelor's degree in Fine Arts. He lives on Folly Beach and is represented in Charleston, SC, by the Atelier Gallery, and by gallery43 in Roswell, GA.

Work by Patrick Nevins

He has exhibited widely in juried shows throughout South Carolina. In 2015 his piece, won first place in the Charleston City Paper Art Contest.

The North Charleston City Gallery is situated in two corridors of the northwest corner of the Charleston Area Convention Center, located at 5001 Coliseum Drive in North Charleston. Parking and admission are free. Gallery hours are Tue., noon-5pm, Wed., 11am-5pm, Thur., 11am-7:30pm, and Fri., 11am-5pm. Inquiries regarding the artists or purchase information may be directed to the North Charleston Cultural Arts Department at 843/740-5854.

Ella Walton Richardson Fine Art in Charleston, SC, Offers Works by Jeff Jamison

Imagine is the newest exhibition at Ella Walton Richardson Fine Art, in Charleston, SC, featuring renowned contemporary Impressionist oil painter Jeff Jamison. The exhibit will be on view from Dec. 1, 2017 - Jan. 4, 2018. The show opens with an art reception on Dec. 1, from 5-8pm. The artist will be in attendance to meet patrons.

The gallery invites you to escape into Jamison's timeless realm of long-lost lovers as they reunite in dreamlike cities, cozily tucked beneath the glow of an umbrella. You might feel the urge to suddenly ride your bicycle along a sunny side street in Charleston, or your breath might catch at the sight of couples strolling in Central Park. All of this is normal, in fact, it is the provocation of the senses that Jamison seeks in his works.

Jamison imbues a combination of nostalgia and timelessness into his paintings through use of a contemporary style. This might seem paradoxical, and perhaps it is, but it is what makes his works so enigmatic. They are beautiful and mysterious, light and carefree and above all, they invite you to participate with your imagination. The cities Jamison features might appear to be New York or Paris, but look closely! They are in fact the cities of his dreams — a mix of places he has been and places he wishes to go. Because of the ambiguity of people and places, Jamison's works offer something to everyone.

Born in 1958 in West Memphis, A Kansas, Jamison became interested in art at an early age. He began taking classes as a means of learning how to capture the light and shadows that held his constant attention. His serious art studies began at Middle Tennessee State University in 1977. In 1982, Jamison enrolled at the Art Institute of Fort Lauderdale, FL. After two years, he graduated and was offered the position of Editorial Illustrator for the Fort

Corrigan Gallery llc in Charleston, SC, will present Southern Sensibilities - Naturalist Paintings, featuring works by Meg Page, on view from Dec. 1 - 30, 2017. A reception will be held on Dec. 1, from 5-8pm, as part of the Charleston Gallery Association artwalk.

Page resides in both Maryland and Pennsylvania, visiting gardens and landscapes along the east coast for inspiration. She and her work have been featured in "Southern Accents," "Southern Living," "Town and Country," "Gardening Life," "The Baltimore Sun" and "Baltimore Style." The artist has been called "one of the country's great naturalist illustrators" by "The Baltimore Sun." Page began as a photographer after studying at the Cleveland Institute of Art.

Recording nature as she has seen it, Page documents birds, feathers, bugs, frogs, turtles, pigs, pets, foxes, fruit, vegetables and flowers. She tells a story about each and records their stories in her work. She particularly favors commission work loving the collaboration with the owner to be of the work. Working for the most part in watercolor, the works are following the tradition of historically done botanicals but often with a contemporary twist of solitude or faded imagery.

Corrigan Gallery is open twenty-four hours a day online with a sampling of the works available from local artists of past and present along with visiting artists. Twelve years since the gallery's inception with 30 years of experience in Charleston art, the gallery is a leader in the contemporary, local art scene.

Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC, Offers Works by Nathan Durfee

Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC, will present Islands I Make Believe, featuring Pop Surreal paintings by Nathan Durfee, on view from Dec. 1 - 22, 2017. A reception will be held on Dec. 1, from 5-8pm.

Durfee says of the exhibit, "Our minds wander a lot. Whether in a form of escapism, brainstorming, or merely getting lost in thought, our brains travel to another place. That mental state has been a source of inspiration, and my newest body of work, Islands I Make Believe, is a tribute to that. These 25 paintings are self-contained vignettes cut out from my wandering mind. Although they touch on subject both societal and personal, it's put through a surreal filter much like our brain does when we dream." Durfee has been known to endlessly rework his initial sketches on the panel until he finds just the right composition. Once worked out he systematically begins to build the painting with his diverse visual vocabulary of color and texture.

Durfee's previous shows have been defined by narrative elements; telling stories to tie the paintings together. This year he wanted to use composition and a single thematic element to drive the show, which is islands. The end effect showcases the growth and possibility of his artistic style.

"This show is the most cohesive body of work I've created. Although I'm always experimenting and testing new painting applications, in the past I focused on a particular set of characters or narratives to anchor my art shows. This time I'm using a consistent compositional element: the island. This has allowed me to explore themes in a consistent setting while giving the show a nice unified feel. I hope people look at my work and see that places their mind travels to when they're lost in thought. The islands they make up. The islands they make believe," said Durfee.

Many of the works in the show deal with the idea of solitary struggle. Durfee says, "The painting Michael Missed His Mark is about the beauty in failing. In the piece, Michael tries to hit a target with a remote controlled rocket. Everything goes wrong and the rocket crashes into the water in a fiery ball of disappointment. In its wake, the rocket left an intricate trail of smoke which becomes the focus of the piece. Not only is there beauty in the knotted path, for the elephant it represents and opportunity to study what went wrong with his rocket. Because Michael will grow personally from the experience, it's a success regardless of the outcome."

Overall the exhibit is the perfect example of Durfee's unyielding ability to consistently evolve as a painter. He says, "A lot of these attempts make me seem less like an artist and more like a research scientist; testing theories and analyzing their results. This is intentional. I feel that as an artist it is not only important to establish a voice but to challenge it constantly. It is with this testing and experimentation that voices evolve and grow."

Society of Bluffton Artists in Bluffton, SC, Features Works by Larry Hughes

Society of Bluffton Artists in Bluffton, SC, will present Small, Medium(s), and Large, featuring works by Larry Hughes, on view from Dec. 11 - 31, 2017. A reception will be held on Dec. 15, from 5-7pm.

The exhibit consist of group works to include Ab-Originals, Southwest Suite, and Cave and Rock Art.

Hughes is a self-taught artist who "learned by osmosis" from his mother, Virginia S. Hughes, a fine professional watercolorist who painted for over 80 years. He started painting 11 years ago and today is represented in two galleries and private collections in 8 states. He has studied with several regional teachers as well.

Hughes is fascinated with and works in various mediums - from crayon art and alcohol inks to watercolor, acrylic, and mixed medium. His work ranges from 2 x 2 inches to 30 x 40 inches. Thus the title of the show.

Hughes says he has always had a love/hate relationship with the blank canvas, but the process of creation thrills him every time. "It's the way I feel as a writer about staring at a blank page," said Hughes.

His Cave and Rock Art series allows the viewer to feel the universality of artistic expression stretching back almost 100,000 years. The simplicity, directness, and power of those ancient artists is present in that series.

"I continue to create, work, and play by the credo of 'be interested and be interesting,'" Hughes said, adding, "I hope to at least make each viewer see something interesting."

In addition to his role as a local artist, Hughes is founder of the Lowcountry Oyster Trail (LOT) an experiential tourism, economic development, and environmental initiative. The LOT uses the fun focus of food, drink, adventure and learning to fund the SC Lowcountry Oyster Trail Fund. The Fund promotes and enhances marine ecological research, analysis and environmental stewardship for the region.

SoBA is the flourishing art hub in Bluffton's historic District at the corner of Church and Calhoun streets. SoBA offers regular art classes, featured artist shows, exhibitions and more.

Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, Offers Exhibit Focused on Beadwork

Get Beadazzled at Art League Gallery this December, voted Hilton Head's Best Gallery 2017! This exhibition, Beadazzled: Artistry in Beads, featuring beadwork by Caroline Alderman, Nancy Apy, Lydia Chojnacki, Carol Romano Geraghty, Maxine Oliver and Linda Raih will be on display from Dec. 5 - 30, 2017. A reception will be held on Dec. 7, from 5-7pm.

Beaded sculptures, jewelry and embroidered art pieces fashioned with thread or wire are just a few of the techniques displayed in this show. The splendor and sparkle of beadwork continually fascinates the six featured female artists. They have combined their talents in this innovative and imaginative presentation of beads of all colors, shapes, and sizes.

The display of artistry in beads at Art League of Hilton Head's newest exhibit is a must see. You will be beadazzled by the many one of a kind pieces of bead work.

Choose a stylish, elegant gift for that special someone or for yourself. The artists will be demonstrating their techniques from 10am-noon on Dec. 14, 21 and 28.

Caroline Alderman has been making intricately patterned polymer clay beads since 1990, using the Venetian Millefiori technique...the color is in the clay...they are not painted. She also sculpts, molds, and textures her beads, often applying gold and silver leaf for a bit of shine. Combining her beads with handmade glass beads and a myriad of beads collected from around the world, she creates her bold, unique jewelry. Alderman's work is often described as wild, whimsical and wonderful!

Nancy Apy was introduced to bead designing when she was cajoled by a friend into taking a simple necklace making class five years ago. That started her love affair with beads. She enjoys working with natural stones which are reflected in her "nature related" subject matter. Her goal when creating is "to stretch the limits of beading materials to achieve something extraordinary".

Work by Linda Raih

Lydia Chojnacki was bitten by the bead bug in the 1990's. Over the years, her work has evolved from simple jewelry pieces to complicated classic designs that incorporate semi-precious beads, wire work and a variety of beading techniques. Uniqueness and quality craftsmanship are the tenets of her work. She exhibits and sells her pieces at Art League of Hilton Head and Beaufort Art Association galleries.

Carol Romano Geraghty literally grew up in New Jersey in her parents' jewelry business. She remembers playing and working amongst the gold, silver and gemstones in their four jewelry stores from the age of 8 until 32 years later

Main & Maxwell in Greenwood, SC, Offers Demo of Glass Blowing by Andrew Lazenby - Dec. 2, 2017

Main & Maxwell in Greenwood, SC, will be hosting a glass blowing demonstration by South Carolina artist Andrew Lazenby on Saturday, Dec. 2, 2017, from 10am - 4pm.

Andrew Lazenby and Mary Sanders make up the creative drive behind Blue Goose Studios. Natives of South Carolina, they both grew up in Rock Hill and currently make it their home.

Lazenby began working in ceramics in the early 1990's and focused primarily on functional work. After graduating from Winthrop University with a Masters in Biology, he taught high school and worked on his art on the side. In 2000 he was introduced to glass bead making and was hooked by the flame! He moved completely away from ceramics and dove headfirst into the medium.

Lazenby left his teaching job in 2015 to become a full-time glass artist and has expanded his focus to hollow forms such as cups, goblets, and glass ball ornaments. Currently he has been working on marble making, recently adding memorial marbles to his repertoire.

When making a memorial marble, Lazenby incorporates a small amount of cremains into the glass to create a truly one when they sold the business. It was at that time that she found an outlet for her love of jewels in the form of beads when she started creating elegant beaded knitted purses. Gradually she transitioned into bead weaving and designing jewelry for today's woman. Geraghty also finds time to share her love of jewelry making as she teaches adults at a local bead shop and children at the Boys and Girls Club of Hilton Head Island. She displays and sells her work at Art League Gallery.

While attending a quilt show 12 years ago, Maxine Oliver was drawn into a bead booth packed with colorful sparkling beads of all shapes and sizes. This is where she purchased her first beads to make a piece of jewelry. Seeing the complexities, intricacies, and the possibilities of working with beads she was "unable to resist and was seduced into creating her new art form." Since then her focus has been to incorporate beads into her small "art quilts" and bead weaving into her innovative and elegant jewelry.

Linda Raih, beadwork artist and designer, has been creating wearable art work made of beads and/or fibers over 10 years. Much of her inspiration comes from the beads themselves as there are so many types, shapes and colors available: from glass or clay to pearls or semi-precious stones.

Raih particularly enjoys bead embroidery. Most of her work is one of a kind and can be seen at shows and at Art League Gallery and at Karis Gallery-both on the Island. She also teaches beginning jewelry making classes at Art League Academy.

Wofford College in Spartanburg, SC, Features Exhibit Focused on Wofford Men in WWI

Wofford College in Spartanburg, SC, is presenting WWI: At Home and Abroad, an exhibition which remembers Wofford men who served includes artifacts, postcards and letters of condolence, on view in the Sandor Teszler Library Gallery, through Dec. 18, 2017.

Four-hundred-fourteen men from the Wofford College family served in the Great War, World War I. Seventeen did not come home.

The exhibition, marking the centennial of America's entry into World War I, features unique items from Wofford's Archives and Special Collections that illustrate the global and local impact of the war. Included are pictures of the Wofford students who made the ultimate sacrifice, letters of condolence written by the college president at the time, artifacts from a Wofford soldier's kit and postcards from men serving in France. These items are coupled with a traveling exhibition that illuminates the political, social and cultural climate during that time. The traveling exhibition was produced by the library at Sewanee: The University of the South and funded by the Associated Colleges of the South.

Blue panels in the traveling exhibition tell a story of what life was like for Germans in America when President Woodrow Wilson declared war on April 6, 1917.

Wofford College - WWI

It was the culmination of a time when anti-German sentiment already was pervasive in the United States. Anti-German propaganda targeted the large population of German-Americans living in the US, some whose families had settled here in the 1700s and who fondly celebrated their deeply rooted German traditions. The omnipresence of German heritage led to the unfounded belief that rampant German espionage put Americans at even greater risk.

Wofford graduate Gerald D. Sanders served during La Grande Guerre, and he lived and went on to write poetry, earn his Ph.D. and teach English to undergraduates in Michigan. Images from the Wofford College Journal literary magazine in the exhibit show samples of Sanders' work published both while he was a student and after he graduated. One of his poems, written "somewhere in France," portrays a deep sense of survivor's guilt and a heart-wrenching wish to be with his fallen wartime friends still.

Another survivor of the war, Broadus R. Littlejohn Sr., the father of the namesake of Wofford's treasured Littlejohn Collection, arrived in Valdohon, France, to train at the artillery school. The uniform he wore, his pack, his terrifying gas mask and primary documents relating to his time in the war are on display in the exhibit. A graduate of Wofford's Fitting School, Littlejohn was discharged in June 1919 and came home to Spartanburg to start a business, the Community Cash grocery stores.

Looking closely at Littlejohn's uniform, a visitor to the exhibit can see how worn the knees are and where he sewed tiny holes closed with his meticulous soldier's hands. Another piece of his belongings, though – the gas mask – reveals a less mundane element of war; if the eyes are the windows to the soul, these wide glass eyes hide depths unimaginable to most of us.

Gen. James C. Dozier, whose portrait from Wofford's collection is in the exhibit, was a first-year student at Wofford (1915-1916) when he took the call to join the Army. Two years later, he found himself wounded near Montbrehain, France, yet he somehow was able to lead his platoon to safety while under machine gun fire.

In January of 1919, for his bravery, Gen. John J. "Black Jack" Pershing, commander of the Expeditionary Force on the Western Front, awarded Dozier the Medal of Honor. A first lieutenant in Company G, 118th Infantry, 30th Division of the Allied Expeditionary Force, Dozier later would be named South Carolina's adjutant general, a position he held from 1926 to 1959. Dozier never returned to his studies at Wofford.

Also in the exhibition is a postcard collection that features images of agony and happiness, of destruction and romanticized war. Their messages are equally diverse, from the matter-of-fact to words of love and friendship.

Other words, sent from home on the unspeakably sorrowful occasion of the death of Wofford students in the war, live on in the archives. With sadness "beyond expression," Wofford President Henry Nelson Snyder composed each of 17 letters of condolence, sent to the families of Wofford students who made the ultimate sacrifice and never came home. In the exhibition are the faces of those 17 Wofford men, and visitors may read the names of all 414 of Wofford's own who served in the Great War.

Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, SC. It offers 25 major fields of study to a student body of 1,650 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, study abroad participation and successful graduates, Wofford is home to one of the nation's 283 Phi Beta Kappa chapters. The college community enjoys Greek Life as well as 19 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

Hampton III Gallery in Greenville, SC, Offers Works by Enid Williams

Hampton III Gallery in Greenville, SC, is presenting an exhibition of paintings by Enid Williams, on view through Dec. 31, 2017. A Coffee and Conversation will be held on Dec. 9, from 11-noon.

Williams offered the following statement, "My imagery simultaneously represents static time and change. Perhaps, through the use of a complex order of form and color, I am commenting on our attempts to control time and prevent change. I am quite interested in how the viewer responds to the paradoxes in my work. My imagery lacks an explicit hierarchy and that creates an ambiguous optical effect that both undermines and heightens the desire for logic and order. My vocabulary of circular shapes is meant to evoke a sense of playfulness, as well as reflect a certain temporality of appearances. Although historical and cultural influences continue to inform my work, color perception test charts were my initial inspiration. I find a certain irony in this engagement and can evoke a multitude of meanings.”

Originally from Texas, Williams moved to Ohio in 1990 and began studying art at the University of Toledo. Her studies provided daily access to a world-renowned collection of period and contemporary art, and this immersion has had a lasting influence on her artistic practice. After graduating from Toledo, Williams was accepted into the Arts Program at Kent State University. Her graduate work consisted of extensive study in painting with an emphasis on contemporary issues and theory. Enid's studies at KSU lead her to seriously investigate abstraction and encouraged her to examine a range of possibilities for her work, including pattern and decoration, painting conventions and history, and pictorial optics. Her current work explores the tenuous and temporal nature of perceptual experience as it relates to the viewer's understanding of pictorial space.

Williams has participated in exhibitions regionally and nationally. Her work has been shown at the Carnegie Museum of Art in Pittsburgh, PA, the Columbus Museum of Art in Ohio, the Butler Institute of American Art, and the McDonough Museum in Youngstown, OH, the State Museum of South Carolina, and the Greenville County Museum of Art, in South Carolina. In 2011 she was awarded a Pollock-Krasner Foundation Grant. Additional awards include the Metropolitan Arts Council Individual Artist Grant, SC in 2011, and 2007, the Ohio Arts Council Individual Artist Fellowship in 2002, the Columbus Museum of Art Purchase Award in 2000, the Hall Memorial Award of Painting, Ohio Art League, 2000, and the Carnegie Museum of Art and Associated Artists of Pittsburgh Milono Painting Award in 1997. Her work is included in public and private collections including the Columbus Museum of Art in Ohio, the Contemporary Carolina Collection at the Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston, the Cleveland Clinic Foundation in OH, and The Morris Museum of Art in Augusta, GA.

Williams has instructed studio classes at Kent State University, Youngstown State University, and the University of Akron in Ohio. She currently teaches design, painting, drawing and printmaking at the Benson Campus of Greenville Technical College in Greer, SC.

Curator Catherine Walworth. “In doing so, she encourages viewers to pause in front of her images and think critically about how history gets written.”

In Soul Culture, Cox continues to deconstruct issues of race and gender using the body as central image while promoting empowerment. She transforms her photographic portraits into hypnotic video and mandala-like reliefs that are influenced by Hindu and Buddhist religious art, the visual escapism of 1960s psychedelia, the use of fractals in African culture, and a sacred geometry grounded in spiritual wholeness. Digitally manipulated figures are cut and handwoven into unique kaleidoscopic “paintings.” The artist says Soul Culture, with its almost hypnotic film, is bringing a new viewing experience that is “engaging the viewer in a profoundly different way, bringing a certain peace, reflection, and joy.”

Born in Jamaica in 1960, Cox was raised in New York, where she studied film as an undergraduate at Syracuse University and later earned her MFA from the School of Visual Arts in New York City, subsequently attending the Whitney Museum of American Art's Independent Study Program.

Cox's work is in several museum collections, including the Brooklyn Museum, New York City, the Mildred Lane Kemper Museum, St. Louis, Missouri, and the Spelman College Museum of Fine Art, Atlanta, Georgia, in addition to the CMA.

Last year, the CMA purchased Cox's Liberation of Aunt Jemima and Uncle Ben, an iconic work that upends both racial and gender stereotypes, after displaying it in the

Davidson College and UNC-Charlotte Features Works by Bob Trotman

The Van/Every Smith Galleries at Davidson College, in Davidson, NC, and Projective Eye Gallery at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, in Charlotte, NC, are proud to be presenting the spirited and very timely works of Bob Trotman in Business As Usual at the Van Every/Smith Galleries, on view through Dec. 8 (curated by Lia Newman) and at the Projective Eye Gallery, through Dec. 14 (curated by Crista Cammaroto). Each venue will display different works. Between both galleries, more than 30 sculptures, 50 maquettes, and 18 drawings will be exhibited.

"Business as Usual", a phrase popularized by Winston Churchill in a 1914 speech, and later resurrected during World War II, was meant to be a message of both defiance and hope. Bob Trotman's most recent body of work borrows the slogan Business as Usual – the idea that everything should proceed as normal, despite particularly trying situations – for his recent ensemble of sculptures and sculptural vignettes.

Trotman's works, finely crafted, primarily of wood, but at times utilizing sound, light, movement, resin, clay, and more – perfectly encapsulate the negative associations of the phrase in their critique of big business, power, privilege, greed, and corruption. Though Trotman's works reflect onto us what the artist perceives as problems in our society his sculptures are not direct representations of specific current events and his characters, though familiar, are not based on real people. The artist's interests are wider than politics or simply today's headlines, and the excesses his works emphasize are certainly not new. Trotman's works represent everything the artist has been resisting for the last forty or so years in his pursuit of a modest life in rural North Carolina.

The monograph was published by The Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art, College of Charleston and the Van Every/Smith Galleries, Davidson College, with the support of the Projective Eye Gallery of the UNC Charlotte College of Arts + Architecture and The Gregg Museum of Art & Design, NC State University.

Business as Usual will also be on view at the Gregg Museum of Art & Design at NC State University, Feb. 1 - July 1, 2018.

Bob Trotman was born in 1947 in Winston Salem, NC. He received a BA in philosophy from Washington and Lee University and for 42 years has maintained a studio in the foothills of Western North Carolina. He has been the recipient of two grants from National Endowment for the Arts, four grants from the North Carolina Arts Council, and was a finalist for the 1858 Prize from the Gibbes Museum in Charleston, SC. His work is included in several prestigious collections such as the Smithsonian's Renwick Gallery, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, the North Carolina Museum of Art, the Weatherspoon Museum of Art, The Mint Museum, Museum of Art of the Rhode Island School of Design, Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, and the Museum of Art and Design, among others.

For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call Davidson at 704/894-2519 or visit (www.davidsoncollegeartgalleries.org) and UNC-Charlotte at 704/687-0833.

A new monograph about Trotman will be available for purchase at the galleries. The monograph contains introductory text by Mark Sloan, essays by Roger Manley and Lia Newman, and an interview between Crista Cammaroto and the artist.

Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, Offer New Exhibits

The Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, is presenting several new exhibits at the Center for the Arts including: Vernon Grant's Winter Wonderland, on view in the Dalton and Perimeter Galleries, through Dec. 29, 2017, and the York County High School Art Show, on view in the Edmund Lewandowski Classroom Gallery, through Dec. 19, 2017.

Vernon Grant's favorite subject, Santa Claus, along with his whimsical gnomes, and published scenes of winter will be on exhibit. Come explore Grant's humorous art and share some laughter with friends and family as you peer into his depictions of this holiday season.

Illustrator Grant is known for his ability to imagine and to create colorful and unique works of art. Armed with a paintbrush in hand and an idea in mind, Grant quickly brought playful thoughts to life as illustrations for all to enjoy. His gift of storytelling through art captured the attention of advertisers, companies and publishers. Grant's illustrations appeared in print on the covers of national magazines, advertising products, greeting cards and children's books from the 1920s through the 1970s.

Vernon Grant's Winter Wonderland is sponsored by O'Darby's Fine Wine & Spirits.

Also at the Center for the Arts, the York County High School Art Show is on exhibition in the Edmund Lewandowski Classroom Gallery. Coordinated by the Arts Council of York County and the Catawba River Art Guild, awards are sponsored by the Yorkville Artists' Guild.

Center for Craft, Creativity and Design in Asheville, NC, Offers Holiday Pop-Up Shop

Over 30 designers and makers will be featured in a three-day holiday pop-up shop and five-day online shop co-organized by Asheville-based design firm SHELTER and national non-profit the Center for Craft, Creativity and Design in Asheville, NC. The shop will feature unique, limited edition, and one-of-a-kind handcrafted goods made by local and national makers as well as exclusive fine art, jewelry, home goods, holiday items, and more.

The Holiday Pop-Up will be held from Dec. 1-3, 2017, from 10am - 6pm at the Center for Craft's gallery in downtown Asheville. For anyone unable to make it to Asheville for the big event, a five-day online shop will follow from Dec. 6-10 at (cecdnow.org/holidayshop).

Asheville is a creative hub for designers and makers. Just last year, Asheville was featured in international design fairs in New York and Toronto through the exhibition Outside the Box. In 2016, Metropolis magazine recognized Asheville as one of the top Southern cities attracting creatives from the likes of New York, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. This year's pop-up shop features work from a number of such high-flying Asheville-based designers and makers, including Amber Jensen's one-of-a-kind hand-woven backpacks, new ceramic vases by East Fork Pottery, the premiere of Tiny Shelter's incense burners, and samples from the newly formed label, Rite of Passage Clothing.

"We are pleased to curate and design a showcase of local and national designers working at a high level in so many different mediums," said Shelter Design Studio Co-founder Rob Maddox. "Spanning from textiles and jewelry to homegoods and apothecary, the Holiday Shop is an exciting opportunity to feature Asheville's role in the national conversation on contemporary design and craft."

In addition to featuring local and national makers and designers, the pop-up will include an exclusive collection of goods by recipients of the Center for Craft's Windgate Fellowship, one of the most prestigious and sought-after awards for emerging craft artists in America. This collection will include handwoven scarves by Andrea Donnelly (Richmond, VA), glass lamps by Wes Valdez / Blob Blob

Studio (Philadelphia, PA), home goods by Nate Moren / Tandem Made (Minneapolis, MN), ceramic work by Rosa Novak (Oakland, CA), and jewelry by Alexandra Perez-Dezma (Coronado, CA).

"The Center is proud to feature the exquisite work of our Windgate Fellows in this year's holiday shop. Their keen eye, quality production, creativity, and ingenuity can be seen in this collection," said Center for Craft Executive Director Stephanie Moore.

The Holiday Pop-Up Designers include: Alexandra Scarlett Jewelry (Coronado, CA), All Roads (Joshua Tree, CA), Bella & Oliver Soap Co. (Swannanoa, NC), Chomp Textiles (Asheville, NC), Andrea Donnelly (Richmond, VA), Doug Johnston Studio (Brooklyn, NY), East Fork Pottery (Asheville, NC), Echoview Fiber Mill (Weaverville, NC), Everyday Oil (Asheville, NC), FEHLO (Asheville, NC), Andrew Hayes (Asheville, NC), Amanda Hollomon Cook (Marshall, NC), Amber M. Folk Art Center in Asheville, NC, Offers Annual Holiday Makers Sales - Dec. 2, 2017

Returning this year for holiday shopping is the Southern Highland Craft Guild's annual holiday sales. The first two Saturdays of December, Dec. 2 and 9, members of the Guild will be selling their fine crafts at the Folk Art Center from 10am to 4pm. This opportunity allows shoppers to purchase handmade items for their friends and loved ones with rare deals.

Each year creatives of the Southern Highland Craft Guild liquidate overstocks and annual inventory at the Guild Holiday Makers Sale. Members will be on hand in the center's auditorium selling select work 10-50% off retail, with a separate group exhibiting each weekend. This allows a range in goods and designs for the public to shop from the Guild.

A highly desirable market for makers, this sale provides them the chance to cycle out remaining 2017 product to begin the new year with a fresh start. This allows many creatives to try out new techniques, and begin their annual production process. For the customer, the sale means great deals for holiday shopping and a chance to connect with the craftspeople. It also provides an exciting, festive alternative to mall and big box import shopping.

Choose from a variety of gift items including ceramic tableware, fine jewelry, hand-woven and dyed wearables, bound journals and etched cards, blown vases and ornaments, turned wooden bowls and more. Buying from artisans supports the local economy and promotes the Guild's mission to cultivate the crafts and makers of the Southern Highlands for the purpose of shared resources, education, marketing and conservation.

Pottery by Ed & Kate Coleman.

Nearly 70 members will be participating over the course of the two sales, with a different group each weekend – so plan on coming to both for best selection! A complete list of exhibitors is now available at www.craftguild.org/holiday-sales.

While at the Folk Art Center, do not miss the Focus Gallery show, Shaping Matters and the Main Gallery exhibition, with work from new members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild. Visitors will also want to shop at the main craft shop, where they will find premier gifts for everyone on their list, and a variety of handmade holiday decorations from Christmas tree ornaments to wreaths and table arrangements.

The Southern Highland Craft Guild is a non-profit, educational organization established in 1930 to cultivate the crafts and makers of the Southern Highlands for the purpose of shared resources, education, marketing and conservation. The Southern Highland Craft Guild is an authorized concessioner of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior.

The Folk Art Center is located at Milepost 382 on the Blue Ridge Parkway in east Asheville, just north of the Hwy. 70.

Woolworth Walk in Asheville, NC, Features Works by Tanya Franklin and David Simchock

Work by Tanya Franklin

Work by David Simchock

Woolworth Walk in Asheville, NC, will present Tanya Franklin + David Simchock, featuring works in glass by Tanya Franklin and photography by David Simchock, on view in the FW Gallery, from Dec. 1 - 29, 2017. A reception will be held on Dec. 1, from 5-7pm.

Glass contains ripples of color and layers of reflections, frozen in motion, begging the viewer to take a closer look. One look was all it took for Tanya Franklin to choose glass as her medium for creative expression. Her designs are faith based since she finds the One who created and inspires her undeniable. Franklin is influenced by Creation and patterns in nature. She then adds her individual perspective to the design.

So, although many of Franklin's pieces are functional and useful, they hopefully provide an experience involving reflection and discussion. Her design perspective can contain hidden smaller designs and symbols within the details of the larger piece, discernible to keen eyes looking for more. She wants to convey the feelings of awe, peace and humility experienced when encountering the Smoky Mountains, a fiery sky at sunset, or an ageless twisted tree on a hike.

Much like Franklin believes that our individual lives are part of a greater design, her glasswork harkens back to the greater Creation that was its source of inspiration.

A native of New Jersey, David Simchock has lived and traveled overseas for many years and now resides in the Blue Ridge Mountains just outside of Asheville, NC. His award-winning images have been featured in publications around the

Asheville Gallery of Art in Asheville, NC, Features Works by Elinor Bowman

The Asheville Gallery of Art in Asheville, NC, will present Exploring the Human Figure, featuring work by Elinor Bowman, whose watercolor interpretations of the human figure capture both spontaneity and grace of movement, on view from Dec. 1 - 31, 2017.. A reception will be held on Dec. 1, from 5-8pm.

"My favorite subject is people, primarily painting live models. No matter how many times I've painted a model, some other aspect shows up. And new models are a completely new experience," says the artist. The paintings in this show were all painted at an open studio at the Swannanoa Art League in Black Mountain, NC. "Watercolor, black walnut ink, and Chinese ink are currently my favorite mediums. I love the spontaneity, with results in the painting which may not have been expected or predicted."

Bowman shared how she works from life. "The paintings of clothed models were completed when the model maintained one pose (in twenty minute increments) for three hours, although I sometimes paint several paintings during the session. The nude model poses were usually short poses – five two-minute poses, two ten-minute poses, then twenty minute poses for the remainder of the session."

The deadline each month to submit articles, photos and ads is the 24th of the month prior to the next issue. This will be Dec. 24th for the January 2018 issue and Jan. 24 for the February issue. After that, it's too late unless your exhibit runs into the next month. But don't wait for the last minute - send your info now. And where do you send that info? E-mail to (info@carolinaarts.com).

Work by Elinor Bowman

Before taking up painting, Bowman worked with figures of another sort. She was a consulting actuary, working with hospitals and government employers who provided pension plans for their employees. "I began painting in my 50s, and love it. I did take a figure drawing class when I was younger, but never pursued art. After careers in business, painting is so enticing."

Bowman's work, as well as the paintings of the other 30 gallery members will be on display and for sale through the month of December.

Jordan Street Arts Opens in Downtown Brevard, NC

Jordan Street Arts, located at 25 W. Jordan Street in downtown Brevard, NC, opened its doors to the community on Nov. 1, 2017. Jordan Street Arts is a new cooperative art gallery featuring fine art and skilled craftsmanship of area artists.

"The goal of Jordan Street Arts is to create a vibrant, interactive, family-friendly environment for both artists and patrons," says co-owners Keith and Amy Braman. "We encourage our artists to be present and active in the gallery, so that patrons can meet and interact with the artist(s) as they fall in love with the pieces they create."

An artist himself, Keith Braman opened the gallery to allow artists to profit one hundred per cent from their work. Braman states, "We provide a store front in downtown for area artists to lease a space in order to display their work in the community." The only cost to the artist is a reasonable monthly space rental fee. In lieu of a sales commission, Jordan Street Arts requires their artists to act as gallery host/attendee a couple times per month.

Sandi Anton, one of the artists displaying her art at Jordan Street Arts comments, "The beauty of Jordan Street Arts is the friendly, open door attitude of the owners. The time obligation of working four hours a couple times per month is a benefit and blessing that allows me the chance to interact with the wonderful people of Brevard." If an interested artist is unable or unwilling to fulfill the time requirement, a 25% commission will be assessed on their work sold.

Although not officially open, Jordan Streets Arts opened its doors for the Oct. 4th Gallery walk. Erin Jones, one of JSA's artists painted on her signature wood canvas just outside the door on Jordan Street. Jones drew a steady crowd of onlookers as she created her latest work of art. "That evening was designed to give the community a preview of what we are all about," says the Bramans. "It was a festive and exciting evening... a feeling we intend to cultivate on a daily basis."

Theatre Art Galleries in High Point, NC, Offers Works by Laura Pollak, Artists Who Teach & Elementary Students

Theatre Art Galleries in High Point, NC, is presenting, Pure Color, featuring works by Laura Pollak, on view in the Main Gallery; Annual Artists Who Teach Exhibit, on view in the Upstairs Gallery; and Annual Elementary Art Exhibit, on view in the Kaleidoscope Youth Gallery. All three exhibitions are on view through Jan. 5, 2018.

The Main Gallery will feature an exhibit titled, Pure Color, with works by pastels artist Laura Pollak from Greensboro, NC. She is an award winning fine artist showing her works in galleries and museums across the nation. Her works have been juried into both national and international shows. Most recently, Pollak won a top award in the North Carolina Statewide Show.

Pollak has garnered acclaim in the very prestigious International Association of Pastel Societies, and the Pastel Journal's top 100 pastels. Her work was published along with an interview in the April 2017 issue of THE PASTEL JOURNAL. The latest milestone is acceptance into the Pastel Society of America's International Show

"We have had a fantastic response so far," says Amy Braman, feeling blessed to be a part of the Brevard art scene. Reception from the community has been warm and enthusiastic with the retail neighbors welcoming and encouraging Jordan Street Arts as part of the Jordan Street family. Brevard is unique in its love of music and art and Jordan Street is fast becoming the perfect street to stroll and enjoy the art gallery(s), businesses, and fine restaurant(s). Additionally, the improved parking lot offers plenty of parking spaces for easy access to the area.

Jordan Street Arts has made classroom/meeting room space available for the general public to rent by the hour. The space accommodates up to 10 people. "Anyone who teaches any type of art class is welcome to rent the space." Braman says, "It can also be utilized as a meeting space." There is a table and chairs as well as a coffee maker and mini-fridge provided.

Most importantly, Jordan Street Arts is currently accepting artists and fine craftsman of all mediums. There is a variety of space sizes available ranging from shelf and display case shelves to wall space and wall/floor combo spaces. "We want to provide a showcase for every type of art and fine craft, encompassing pottery to jewelry, paintings, sculptures, carvers, writers, digital arts and more."

For further information check our NC Commercial Gallery listings or call 828/384-3816 and Jordan Street Arts' page can also be found on Facebook.

Post Graduate studies from the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, MI. Her subject matters range from landscapes and garden scenes to playful abstracts and personally frames each piece in the studio to compliment every painting.

Recent exhibitions include: The International Association of Pastel Societies in Albuquerque, NM, The Cecil Byrne Gallery in Charleston, SC, The Pastel Society of the West Coast, The Southeastern Pastel Society, the NC Statewide Exhibit, and the National Arts Club in NYC. Laura is the current President of the Pastel Society of North Carolina.

"I can remember the greatest gift my parents gave me at the age of 4 was the Crayola Crayon set of 72 colors! I have been enthralled with color ever since. I'm fascinated with light and shadow patterns. Even the most mundane subject is glorious when truly examined and especially in sunlight. It is a joy to capture the beauty in this world and hold these fleeting moments in a painting. A refuge one can revisit again and again."

NC Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC, Offers Collaborative Exhibition

A new and interesting exhibition, The Last Drop: Intoxicating Pottery, Past and Present, will begin at the North Carolina Pottery Center on Dec. 9, 2017, and run through April 7, 2018. The opening activities, which will include a presentation by guest curator Robert Hunter, editor of Ceramics in America, and reception will be held at the North Carolina Pottery Center in Seagrove, NC, from 4-7:30pm on Dec. 9. The opening activities and reception are free and open to the public.

This exhibition is a collaboration between the center, based in Seagrove, NC, the Chipstone Foundation of Milwaukee, WI, and Ceramics in America. Lindsey Lambert, the center's executive director, notes, "Collaborating on this exhibition with the Chipstone Foundation and Ceramics in America is a wonderful opportunity and progression for the North Carolina Pottery Center as both are known for their high degree of scholarship and innovative thinking. As a small, but determined, museum and educational center, we appreciate their willingness to collaborate with us on a significant and important exhibition that helps us better fulfill our goal of sharing North Carolina's clay stories, past and present."

For thousands of years, potters have fashioned clay vessels for the ritual consumption of fermented and distilled beverages. These vessels not only reflect the technological and stylistic concerns of their time and place, but also a wide variety of cultural celebrations as well as proscriptions related to the making, distribution, ceremonial usage, and consumption of alcoholic drinks.

The Center invited fifteen leading contemporary potters, from North Carolina and around the United States, to create new ceramic work that will be inspired by specific English (and one German) drinking vessels, out of The Chipstone Foundation's exemplary collection, from the 17th or 18th century. "We are not seeking a reproduction or a facsimile necessarily, but an interpretive or conceptually based object that reflects upon historic materials, designs, and processes interpreted through the lens of cultural commentary, societal views on alcohol consumption, and the ongoing role of fired clay in alcohol-related wares," adds Lambert.

Our participating artists are: Kim Ellington (NC), Dan Finnegan (VA), Michael Gates (NC), Bruce Gholson & Samantha Henneke (NC), Mark Hewitt (NC), Fred Johnston & Carol Gentithes (NC), Kate Johnston (NC), Roberto

The Annual Artists Who Teach Exhibit is being featured in the Upstairs Gallery. Participating Art teachers exhibiting are: Michaela Hafley, Mendenhall Middle School, Tara Kecki, Union Hill Elementary, Dorinda Carver, Archer Elementary, George Ohara, Penn-Griffin School of the Arts, Shannon Myers, Dudley High School, Amy Davis, HP Christian, Lisa Woods, Weaver Academy, Denis Byrd, Southwest High School, Christopher Allred, Southeast High School, Sarah Cone, Academy at Lincoln, Kat Manzella, Saint Pius X, Anne Popek, Ragsdale High School, Shannon Ashley, Brightwood Elementary, and David Lemon from East Garner Magnet Middle School.

The Kaleidoscope Youth Gallery is hosting the Annual Elementary Art Exhibit with art work from the students of many of our area elementary schools.

Lugo (PA), Senora Lynch (NC), Ibrahim Said (NC), Akira Satake (NC), Virginia Scotchie (SC), Mark Shapiro (MA), Malcolm Mobutu Smith (IN), and Richard Zane Smith (OK).

Other areas of the exhibition will focus on ceramic artist Michelle Erickson's historical approach to craft and scholarship and to recreating antique ceramics and the alcohol-related ceramics of 19th-century North Carolina.

Ceramics in America 2017 will serve as the document of record for the show/project and will include brief biographies of and statements by each of the participating artists as well as a critical essay.

The exhibition is curated by Robert Hunter, the editor of Ceramics in America, supported by an advisory panel of Mark Hewitt, David Stuemple, Michelle Erickson, Lindsey Lambert, Stephen C. Compton, Jon Prown, and Sarah Carter.

STARworks in Star, NC, Offers Holiday Ornament Sale - Dec. 2, 2017

STARworks in Star, NC, will present its annual Holiday Ornament Sale, on Dec. 2, 2017, from 10am-4pm, featuring more than 2,500 colorful hand-crafted glass and ceramic ornaments. Ornaments are handcrafted by STARworks artists, interns and resident artists, and come in all sizes, shapes and colors.

STARworks Clay Studio artists have created ceramic crystalline ornaments in new colors this year. In addition to the familiar ball ornaments, STARworks glassblowers have brought back the popular star ornament in new colors for this holiday season, and plenty of candy canes and icicles.

The glass and ceramic artists at STARworks have also created ornaments and holiday items for the STARworks Signature Series. Glassblowers and clay artists create Signature Series items in their own time after work. These items are unique to each artist and in limited supply.

Red Glass Star

(www.STARworksNC.org) after the sale. Prices start at $10. Payment options include cash, check or credit cards.

STARworks recommends people arrive at the ornament sale as close to 10am as possible to ensure a good selection. Doors will open at 9am for those who like to arrive early, but the sale will not begin until 10am.

STARworks is a project of Central Park NC, a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the economy of the region by focusing on the sustainable use of our natural and cultural resources. Proceeds from the ornament sale help fund STARworks programs, including the high school glassblowing program.

STARworks is located on Russell Drive in Star, just off I-73/74 in northern Montgomery County.

There are no advanced or reserved sales. Ornaments left after the sale will be available in the School House Gallery at STARworks, Monday through Saturday, from 9am to 5pm while supplies last. A limited selection of ornaments will be available online at

Cheryl Newby Gallery in Pawleys Island, SC, Features Works by Mike Williams

One of South Carolina's most recognized artists, Mike Williams, will be featured for the winter exhibition at Cheryl Newby Gallery in Pawleys Island, SC, which has represented the Sumter native since 2004. The show includes both subjects for which Williams is best known; watery landscapes and "fish paintings". There will be sixteen paintings on view and for sale during the show which will run through Dec. 9, 2017.

"We see so many artists' depictions of the lowcountry that all seem to look alike, however, no one paints the watery estuaries and cypress swamps of the lowcountry like Mike Williams. I think that is because many other artists haven't grown up visiting those fishing holes, and haven't had the first-hand experiences in the cypress swamps that Mike has had. Mike is not only a masterful artist, he is an outdoorsman, and has fished all his life in the lowcountry. He is very much at home on the water," says gallery owner Cheryl Newby.

Williams' paintings are in the permanent collections of the Columbia Museum of Art, the South Carolina State Art Collection, City of Columbia, SC, the City of

This year, the judge will be Hollis Hammonds whose drawings are currently on exhibit in the Cecelia Coker Bell Gallery. Hammonds will select all the art, assign place, and award prizes that have been donated by art manufacturers and suppliers. The judges for these shows are always given free reign regarding a show's size and focus, and the resulting shows have ranged from large and inclusive to small, theme-oriented exhibitions. The selection process has always served as a stimulus for critical discussion. Hammonds received her BFA in Drawing from Northern Kentucky University and her MFA in 2D Studies from the University of Cincinnati. She is the author of Drawing Structure: Conceptual and Observational Techniques, and has had her creative work featured in multiple publications. She was awarded the grand prize for the Dave Bown Projects 14th Semi Annual Competition, and has been an artist in residence at McColl Center for Art + Innovation in Charlotte, NC, Vermont Studio Center, and Atlantic Center for the Arts. Hammonds is an Associate Professor of Art and Chair of the Department of Visual Studies at St. Edward's University in Austin, TX. Coker College upholds and defends the intellectual and artistic freedom of its faculty and students as they study and create art through which they explore the full spectrum of human experience. The college considers such pursuits central to the spirit of inquiry and thoughtful discussion, which are at the heart of a liberal arts education. Fine Art at Baxters in New Bern, NC, Offers Works by Eric McRay

Fine Art at Baxters in New Bern, NC, is presenting The Everyday World, featuring works by Eric McRay, on view through Dec. 29, 2017.

McRay's Guiding Principle - An artist's style is his visual language by which he communicates. Thus, McRay is multi-lingual. Openness and exploration rather than a dedication to a particular style best characterize his work. "I believe there is no single correct pictorial solution."

McRay received a BFA degree at the Maryland Institute, College of Art, where he earned a four-year scholarship for his artistic talent. A native of Washington, DC, McRay moved to North Carolina and has been exhibiting since 1987. In November 1998, he was juried into Raleigh's prestigious Artspace. Since opening his Artspace studio in downtown Raleigh, McRay has served in the offices of Vice-President and President of the Artspace Artists Association, as well as served on Artspace's board of directors and Executive Committee.

Work by Eric McRay

McRay's artistic career has been featured on TV and radio programs, and in numerous newspapers, magazines and websites. The Raleigh News & Observer named him one of the "Artists to Watch". Numerous times he has been listed among the "Best Local Artist" and "Favorite Local Artist".

of December. A Craven County native, Varley's work focuses on wildlife and landscapes.

After two careers, first as a teacher and then a registered nurse, Varley began her photography journey with class at ASAP photography in Greenville, NC, as well as online coursework through National Geographic and Creative Live. These lead to a passion for learning more about photography, including numerous workshops and trips across the United States for the perfect shot. When asked what she loves to shoot the most, Varley's response is "anything with fur and feathers and grand, expansive landscapes."

Varley is a member of the Twin Rivers Artists Association, the Coastal Photography Club, and Eastern Region Carolina nature Photographers. Her work has been displayed in a number of group and solo exhibitions in the region, including at the New Bern Library and the Turnage Theater in Washington.

Ackland Art Museum in Chapel Hill, NC, Features Installation by Patrick Dougherty

The Ackland Art Museum at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, NC, has commissioned its first major site-specific, outdoor art installation in nearly 20 years: a "stickwork" sculpture by Chapel Hill-based artist Patrick Dougherty entitled Step Right Up. The large-scale work was constructed on-site over a three-week period, and is made entirely of tree saplings. It is on view 24/7 in front of the Ackland Art Museum in downtown Chapel Hill, expected to be on view through Aug. 31, 2018.

Step Right Up was formally dedicated at a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Tuesday, Oct. 31, 2017, that featured remarks by UNC-Chapel Hill Chancellor Carol L. Folt, Ackland Director Katie Ziglar, and the artist, and included Chapel Hill Mayor Pam Hemminger.

"Patrick's five individually-shaped sculptures act as carnival barkers of sorts, summoning the public to 'step right up' and enter the Ackland to experience the wonders inside," said Ziglar. "The art on view in the Museum includes a 2,000-year-old Iranian earthenware, animal-shaped pouring vessel that the artist acknowledges was a key inspiration for these works."

Dougherty's Step Right Up follows the Ackland's exhibition of Los Trompos - large-scale, Mexican spinning tops - and similarly activates the outdoor public space in front of the Museum. "Patrick's stickworks invite us to walk inside them, explore their interiors, and discover new views looking out on the surrounding environment of UNC and Chapel Hill," said Ziglar.

The maple and gum tree saplings used to make the piece were responsibly harvested from Duke Forest and Triangle Land Conservancy, organizations with which Patrick Dougherty has long relationships. At the ribbon-cutting, Ziglar thanked "the 188 volunteers - including UNC students, faculty, staff, and alumni; Triangle community members; and Ackland Art Museum Members and friends - whose hard work and commitment made Step Right Up come to life."

Owing to the organic material used and the outdoor setting, Step Right Up is a temporary installation, expected to be on

Ackland Art Museum in Chapel Hill, NC, Offers Exhibit of Japanese Military Prints

Ackland Art Museum in Chapel Hill, NC, is presenting Flash of Light, Fog of War: Japanese Military Prints, 1894-1905, which spotlights dramatic Japanese prints in an innovative installation, on view through Jan. 7, 2018.

Flash of Light, Fog of War: Japanese Military Prints, 1894-1905, is an expansive exhibition showcasing 75 Japanese prints of battle scenes from the First Sino-Japanese War and the Russo-Japanese War at the turn of the 20th century.

Drawing from a recent, major gift to the Ackland of over 240 Japanese prints from Gene and Susan Roberts, Flash of Light, Fog of War presents these military scenes in an unprecedented manner: rather than being arranged chronologically, the dramatic atmospheric and luminescent effects depicted in the prints organize the exhibition. Starting with prints featuring moonlight, the exhibition moves through scenes that include electric searchlights, pyrotechnic explosions, and the fog and smoke of the aftermath of battle.

The show's emphasis on technique provides a unique opportunity to examine how late 19th-century Japanese printmakers adapted to the realities of rapidly modernizing warfare. By tweaking the centuries-old tradition of ukiyo-e (woodblock printing), printmakers achieved altogether new atmospheric and light effects that were part reportage and part dazzling artistic display.

A major feature of Flash of Light, Fog of War is its stunning installation, which utilizes not only elegant colors to bring out visual features of the works on view, but also subtle electrical effects - including very occasional projected explosions - that underscore the thematic content. "This is a show that really must be seen and experienced," commented Ackland Director Katie Ziglar. "We are enormously proud of our innovative and fresh installations, and Flash of Light, Fog of War represents a high point in these efforts."

Of his final exhibition as the Ackland's Associate Curator of Asian Art, Bradley M. Bailey noted, "The inspiration for the exhibition comes from the vivid imagery and descriptions of a Japanese soldier, Tadayoshi Sakurai, whose memoir of the Russo-Japanese War, Human Bullets (Nikudan), was published to wide acclaim and success in 1904."

Within the exhibition, the prints are supplemented with new acquisitions and loans of Japanese textiles and ceramics from the collection of Jacqueline M. and Edward G. Atkins.

Flash of Light, Fog of War, has been made possible by the Henry Luce Foundation and the Ackland's Ruth and Sherman Lee Fund for Asian Art. Support for the exhibition catalogue was provided by Gene and Susan Roberts.

Featuring a year-round calendar of special exhibitions and dynamic public programs, the Ackland Art Museum - located on the historic campus of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill - encourages visitors to engage with the rich legacy of the artistic past as well as with living artists from around the world. Ackland's holdings consist of more than 18,000 works of art, featuring significant collections of European masterworks, twentieth-century and contemporary art, African art, North Carolina pottery, and folk art. In addition, the Ackland has North Carolina's premier collections of Asian art and works on paper (drawings, prints, and photographs). This universal collection of artworks from antiquity to the present makes the Ackland uniquely able to advance the teaching and research missions of the University.

North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences in Raleigh, NC, Features Works by John W. Elliott

The North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences in Raleigh, NC, will present Exterminati Sum Mechanica, where scientific illustration meets steampunk, featuring works by John W. Elliott, on view in the Museum's Nature Art Gallery, from Dec. 1, 2017 through Jan. 28, 2018. A reception will be held on Dec. 2, from 2-4pm.

What do you get when you blend classical scientific illustrations of arthropods (creepy crawlies) with cyber and steampunk themes? Come to the Nature Art Gallery and find out.

A working designer and artist for over a decade, Raleigh-based Elliott is a visual artist and Artistic Director for Zendustria, a neo-Renaissance guild of artists and designers dedicated to bringing art and design to home and office. His work at Zendustria has focused on an exploration of scientific illustration and biomechanical whimsy. His first series explored the bounds of scientific illustration by giving his subjects a bio-mechanical twist. His latest series works with human forms which are melded with engines and automotive elements. Elliott has been touring with his work for the past three years and has pieces hanging in the US, France, Poland, Japan and India.

Prior to Zendustria, Elliott worked at Epic Games, Inc., studied game development, game design, concept art and level design, and took part in a character and story development master class with PIXAR's Matthew Luhn. Over the course of his career, he has utilized his skills to serve a variety of local companies, including Mobility Medics, where he did custom design and fabrication of special-needs parts for patients. With the software company Animated Communications, he produced character designs and concepts, 2D and 3D

Gallery C in Raleigh, NC, will present Pop Realism, offering new works by Robert Box, on view from Dec. 1 - 31, 2017. A reception will be held on Dec. 1, from 6-9pm.

Robert Box is a painter living and practicing in New York. He attended the School of Visual Arts from 1969-1972. He worked as an abstract colorist for many years, but now paints in a "Pop Realism" style that focuses on bright and colorful depictions of everyday objects. This will be his very first show in North Carolina.

Some Exhibits That Are Still on View

Our policy at Carolina Arts is to present a press release about an exhibit only once and then go on, but many major exhibits are on view for months. This is our effort to remind you of some of them.

Joseph Erb (Cherokee), "Petition", acrylic on canvas, 24" x 36"

Western Carolina University in Cullowhee, NC, is presenting Return from Exile: Contemporary Southeastern Indian Art, curated by Tony A. Tiger, Bobby C. Martin, and Jace Weaver, featuring contemporary Native American art, on view in the Fine Art Museum at the Bardo Arts Center through Dec. 8, 2017. The exhibition features more than thirty contemporary Southeastern Native American artists working in a variety of media including painting, drawing, printmaking, basketry, sculpture, and pottery. Return from Exile is one of the first major exhibitions to focus on contemporary artists from tribal nations with an historical connection to the Southeastern United States. These include the so-called Five Civilized Tribes, the Choctaw, Chickasaw, Cherokee, and Muscogee (or Creek), and Seminole, all of whom were forcibly removed in the 1830s to present-day Oklahoma as a result of the Indian Removal Act of 1830. The title of the exhibition represents the return of these artists to their ancestral homelands. For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call 828/227-3591 or visit (www.wcu.edu/bardo-arts-center/fine-art-museum/).

Sigmund Abeles, "Cat Mask - Marlo", 2009, oil, 30" x 30", collection of Nancy and Billy Cave.

The Franklin G. Burroughs-Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum in Myrtle Beach, SC, is presenting Grand Strand Collects, taking an intimate look at local art collectors' passion, on view through Dec. 14, 2017. For the passionate collector, art is far more than something beautiful to put on the wall. Each piece comes with a story: where and when it was purchased, perhaps an event or occasion the item commemorates. Possibly there was the thrill of the hunt: to find a work by a particular artist or with a special subject. In that celebrates four of the artist's books, including his iconic Jazz portfolio, on view through Jan. 15, 2018. Drawn from the Bank of America art collection, the exhibition features 80 framed illustrations that together offer meditations on life, love, hardship, and utter joy. "Henri Matisse is one of the essential European artists of the modern era," says Lynn Robertson, CMA interim director. "As South Carolina's only international art museum, we are thrilled to partner with Bank of America to give our community the chance to see the artist in one of his most personal and experimental genres." Work by Mary Robinson

USC-Upstate in Spartanburg, SC, is presenting Finding Language, featuring art of Mary Robinson, whose dreamlike works evoke images of chaos and elemental forces, on view in the UPSTATE Gallery on Main, through Dec. 30, 2017. Drawing upon our complex and tumultuous relationship with nature, Robinson's artworks invoke both the fluidity of the natural world and the intermittent - and at times dramatic - reconfigurations due to natural disruption and renewal. Often mixing and remixing printmaking matrices along with cutting up and reconstructing prior paintings and drawings, the resulting enigmatic and dream-like images echo the interplay and chaos of elemental forces at work in the world around us. Robinson is an associate professor of art and head of printmaking at the University of South Carolina. For further information call Jane Nodine at 864/503-5848 or e-mail to (jnodine@uscupstate.edu).

Jonathan Green, "Folding Sheets", 1989, permanent collection of the Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts + Culture

The Harvey B. Gantt Center for African-American Arts + Culture in Charlotte, NC, located at the Levine Center for the Arts is presenting Instill & Inspire: Selections from the John & Vivian Hewitt Collection of African-American Art, on view through Jan. 22, 2018. For over a 50-year period, John and Vivian Hewitt visited galleries, artists' studios and exhibitions, collecting hundreds of paintings, etchings and sketches. The John & Vivian Hewitt Collection of African-American Art is an assemblage of fifty-eight two-dimensional works celebrating the expression and passion of twenty artists, including Charlotte-born Romare Bearden and other master artists, Margaret Burroughs, Jonathan Green, Jacob Law-

Work by Herb Jackson

NC State University in Raleigh, NC, is presenting A Door is not a Window, featuring paintings by Herb Jackson, on view at Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, through Jan. 28, 2018. This presentation features major abstract works from the past two decades by Raleigh native Herb Jackson, one of North Carolina's premier contemporary artists. The exhibition employs special lighting made possible by support from Wells Fargo. Jackson was born in Raleigh, NC, in 1945. He cannot recall a time when he was not busy painting and drawing, but remembers beginning to sell his artwork by the time he was ten or eleven. In 1962, he won first place in the North Carolina Artists Exhibition, an annual juried show for state residents sponsored by the North Carolina Museum of Art. Look inside the old Charleston Museum

The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Charleston Museum's Lowcountry Image Gallery, Through May 14 - "The Early Days: A Photographic History of America's First Museum," tells the story of the Museum's transformation over the years. After The Charleston Museum's founding in 1773 by the Charleston Library Society, it was subsequently overseen by the Library Society, the Literary and Philosophical Society of South Carolina, the Medical College of South Carolina, and the College of Charleston. In 1907, Charleston's city council offered the newly built Thomson Auditorium on Rutledge Avenue to house the Museum and provided funding to support the growing institution. Over the years, Museum directors continued the expansion of exhibits and educational programs and fashioned the Museum into a much loved cultural institution in the Charleston community. By the 1970s, the grand building that housed the Museum had fallen into serious disrepair and the welfare of the collections was threatened. Under the directorship of Donald Herold, the collections were moved to the new location at 360 Meeting Street, and the Museum opened once again to the community in April 1980. Unfortunately, in October of 1981, a fire destroyed the old building leaving only the portico with four columns as a remembrance. Textile Gallery, Through May 31 - "Piece by Piece: Geometric Quilts," the second installment of the exhibition, will consist of quilts with geometric designs. Different shapes and piecing techniques have traditionally been mainstays of the quilting craft. Columbia Area

Columbia Museum of Art, Main & Hampton Streets, Columbia. Through Jan. 15, 2018 - "Henri Matisse: Jazz & Poetry on Paper," a sweeping exhibition that celebrates four of the artist's books, including his iconic Jazz portfolio. Drawn from the Bank of America art collection, the exhibition features 80 framed illustrations that together offer meditations on life, love, hardship, and utter joy. "Henri Matisse is one of the essential European artists of the modern era," says Lynn Robertson, CMA interim director. "As South Carolina's only international art museum, we are thrilled to partner with Bank of America to give our community the chance to see the artist in one of his most personal and experimental genres." Dec. 15 - Apr. 22, 2018 - "Renée Cox:

Soul Culture," showcasing a new series of works from pioneering photographer Renée Cox. With this mesmerizing exhibition of one video and 11 mixed-media photographic collages, Cox aims to inspire transcendence and provide a space where people of color know no limits. "Throughout her career, Cox has subverted everything from the expectations of women in art programs to the telling of history and legend, rewriting it by inserting her own image as a strong black woman into the role of lead character, superhero, and even Jesus at the Last Supper," says CMA Curator Catherine Walworth. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the earliest form of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the ancient Romans is represented by 2nd century glass and bronze items and portrait sculpture. Many of these works have not been seen since the Museum moved to its location on Main Street in 1998. The collection has grown over the last several years with the donation of 12 fine Roman sculptures in 2002 from Pennsylvania collector Dr. Robert Y. Turner. Admission: Yes, but there is no admission charge on Sun. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-5pm; first Fri., till 8pm; Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 803/799-2810 or at (www.columbiamuseum.org).

McKissick Museum, University of South Carolina, USC Horseshoe, Columbia. 2nd floor, North Gallery, Through Dec. 9 - "Nostalgia for Nature: Democratizing Decorative Arts. By the late nineteenth century industrialization had transformed Western society. Dominating cities were machine-filled factories and buildings constructed in Revivalist architectural styles. Urbanization had taken hold creating a great divide between artists/designers and end products. Individuals looking to resist the Machine Age created their own artistic movements, specifically the Arts and Crafts Movement and Art Nouveau. What these styles had in common was the goal of reviving the applied arts and making them affordable to the general public. This exhibition will feature examples of decorative art glass and pottery, representing the two aforementioned art movements, from the William S. Belsler and Richard D. Mandell Collections at McKissick Museum. Objects representing important individual artisans and reputable companies such as Emile Galle, Rene' Lalique, Tiffany Studios, and Rookwood Pottery are included. Ongoing - "Diverse Voices: Discovering Community Through Traditional Arts". Dedicated to the late George D. Terry, "Diverse Voices" explores deeply-rooted traditions that help create and maintain the cultural landscape of South Carolina and the surrounding region. Each year the exhibit will focus on a specific theme or tradition. Year one of "Diverse Voices" offers a comprehensive presentation of objects from the museum collection that represent the work of celebrated NEA National Heritage Fellows and Jean Laney Harris Folk Heritage Award recipients. Ongoing - "Highlights from the Permanent Collections of McKissick Museum". Permanent - "Baruch Silver Collection," a collection of the Baruch family silver. Spartanburg Art Museum, Chapman Cultural Arts Center, 200 East St. John Street, Spartanburg. Through Dec. 10 - "Paper Worlds" is a group exhibition featuring the work of nine artists who push the boundaries and capabilities of paper. Though digital technology has become a staple in modern life, there is no denying that paper—from business cards to cardboard boxes to printer stock to picnic napkins—refuses to be replaced by it. From hand-pulled prints meticulously cut and assembled into three-dimensional shapes, to delicate papier-mâché stop-motion animation, to using recycling as part of the creative process, these artists remind us that although modern technology is ubiquitous, we still live in a "Paper World". Participating artists include: Roger Chen, Charles Clary, Hanne Frey Huso, Christina Laurel, Wan-Yi Lin, Shona MacDonald, Sky Pape, Adrian Rhodes, and Mark Rospenda. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun., 1-5pm; and till 9pm on 3rd Thur. of each month. Closed on national holidays. Contact: 864/582-7616 or at (www.spartanburgartmuseum.org).

Sumter

Sumter County Gallery of Art, Sumter County Cultural Center, 135 Haynesworth St., Sumter. Through Jan. 12, 2018 - "The Art of Deane Ackerman" and "Terrell Clark: EYES of Havana". Ackerman, a native of Illinois, attended Northwestern University for one year, and then continued her college work as a sculpture major at the School of the Art Institute in Chicago. Married, with 3 children and 3 grandchildren, she has been a Sumter resident since 1965 and is a charter member of the Sumter Artist's Guild, which was founded in 1972. She worked almost exclusively as a sculptor until 1980, producing many pieces now found in private collections across the country. Though she has worked in a variety of mediums, her focus for the past 30 years has been colored pencil drawing, for which she has won numerous awards. A native of Meridian, MS, Terrell Clark is a photographer with an exceptional eye who possesses that rare ability to capture those precious moments in life that would otherwise be missed and forever lost in the vortex of forgotten memories. Clark's beginning in photography is quite interesting. When he was in ninth grade, he built a pinhole camera from a Maxwell House coffee can. To this day he still has his first picture, which was taken with the pinhole camera. Artisan Center Gift Shop - Featuring art objects from local and regional artists. Work by Nathan Durfee

Robert Lange Studios, 2 Queen St., Charleston. Dec. 1 - 22 - "Islands I Make Believe": Pop Surreal Paintings from Nathan Durfee". A reception will be held on Dec. 1, from 5-8pm. The exhibit features the work of oil painter Nathan Durfee. Nathan says of the exhibit, "Our minds wander a lot. Whether in a form of escapism, brainstorming, or merely getting lost in thought, our brains travel to another place. That mental state has been a source of inspiration, and my newest body of work, 'Islands I Make Believe', is a tribute to that. These 25 paintings are self-contained vignettes cut out from my wandering mind. Although they touch on subject both societal and personal, it's put through a surreal filter much like our brain does when we dream." Ongoing - Featuring works by Ali Cavanaugh, Megan Aime, Robert Lange, Nathan Durfee, Kerry Brooks, Jessica Duneagan, Fred Jamar, Michael Moran, Amy Lind, Adam Hall, Joshua Flint, Sean Clancy, and JB Boyd. Greenwood
Main & Maxwell, 210 Main Street, at the intersection of Main Street and Maxwell Avenue Greenwood. Dec. 2, from 10am-4pm - The gallery is hosting a glass blowing demonstration by South Carolina artist Andrew Lazenby. Andrew Lazenby and Mary Sanders make up the creative drive behind Blue Goose Studios. Natives of South Carolina, they both grew up in Rock Hill and currently make it their home. Lazenby began working in ceramics in the early 1990's and focused primarily on functional work. After graduating from Winthrop University with a Masters in Biology, he taught high school and worked on his art on the side. In 2000 he was introduced to glass bead making and was hooked by the flame! He moved completely away from ceramics and dove headfirst into the medium. He left his teaching job in 2015 to become a full-time glass artist and has expanded his focus to hollow forms such as cups, goblets, and glass ball ornaments. Both Lazenby and Sanders have works for sale at the gallery. Ongoing - A gallery and retail shop specializing in local South Carolina artists offering handcrafted art, pottery, jewelry, fiber and gifts for all occasions. Perspective Gallery, in Crickentree Shopping Center on Johnnie Dodds Blvd., Mount Pleasant. Ongoing - The Mount Pleasant Artists Guild has opened their first art gallery The Guild has been considering for some time the possibility of opening a gallery to showcase the work of the many talented artists who create original artwork in an assortment of media. Perspective Gallery is in the former location of the Treasure Nest Art Gallery. A steering committee was brought together to formulate a plan and oversee the work required to create the gallery environment the guild had been seeking. Over 40 artists are currently exhibiting their lively, colorful work, in oils, watercolors, photography, mixed media and more. A wide range of styles is represented. It is the goal of the Mount Pleasant Artists Guild and the staff of Perspective to bring to the East Cooper area a truly high quality, diverse collection of artwork that will appeal to residents and visitors alike in a pleasant, inviting gallery setting. Pottery by Ed & Kate Coleman.

Southern Highland Craft Guild at the Folk Art Center, Blue Ridge Parkway Milepost 382, Asheville. Center's Auditorium, Dec. 2 & 9, from 10am-4pm - "Annual Holiday Makers Sale". Returning this year for holiday shopping is the Southern Highland Craft Guild's annual holiday sales. The first two Saturdays of December, members of the Guild will be selling their fine crafts at the Folk Art Center from 10am to 4pm. This opportunity allows shoppers to purchase handmade items for their friends and loved ones with rare deals. Each year creatives of the Southern Highland Craft Guild liquidate overstocks and annual inventory at the Guild Holiday Makers Sale. Members will be on hand in the center's auditorium selling select work 10-50% off retail, with a separate group exhibiting each weekend. This allows a range in goods and designs for the public to shop from the Guild. Main Gallery, Through Jan. 14, 2018 - "Legacy Endures, Introducing New Members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild". Showcase 18 juried makers that have been accepted into the Guild within the past two years. "Legacy Endures" is an introduction to these individuals and their craft in the media of glass, clay, metal, wood, fiber, paper, mixed media, jewelry, and natural materials. The exhibit displays the following makers and their work: Christian Arnold in glass, Erica Bailey in jewelry, Valerie Berlage in wood, Amy Brandenburg in jewelry, Lauren Faulkenberry in paper, Lynne Fiorenza in jewelry, Grace Cathey in metal, Ken Hall in metal, Ann Hord-Heatherley in mixed media, Patrick Ironwood in mixed media, Marty McConnaughey in natural materials, Betsy Meyer in fiber, Tim Nester in wood, Laura Peery in clay, Audrey Sawyer in jewelry, Angelique Tassistro in clay, Jessica White in paper, and Laurie Young in glass. Permanent Collection Gallery, Ongoing - "Craft Traditions: The Southern Highland Craft Guild Collection". The Guild's Permanent Collection is comprised of approximately 2400 craft objects and dates from the late 19th century to present. Beginning with a donation from Frances Goodrich in 1931, the Permanent Collection serves the Guild's mission of craft conservation and education. This new installation will feature over 200 works that highlight our holdings in traditional art: woodcarving, pottery, dolls, basketry, weavings and furniture. The subject of this ongoing exhibition is craft history – that of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and the Studio Craft Movement. Hours: daily from 9am-6pm. Contact: 828/298-7928 or at (www.southernhighlandguild.org).

Boone

Appalachian Cultural Museum, University Hall Drive, off Hwy. 321 (Blowing Rock Road), Boone. Ongoing - The permanent exhibit area includes, TIME AND CHANGE, featuring thousands of objects ranging from fossils to Winston Cup race cars to the Yellow Brick Road, a section of the now closed theme park, "The Land of Oz". Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 828/262-3117.

Turchin Center for the Visual Arts, Appalachian State University, 423 West King Street, Boone. Main Gallery, Through Dec. 2 - "Circles of Influence: Barbara Hardy & Bob Ray". The exhibit highlights Barbara Hardy and Bob Ray, artists who have been living and working together for over twenty-five years sharing a deeply rewarding intimate, creative and artistic bond. The influence the artists have on one another and their shared love of rich texture and layered patterns will be immediately apparent even though each artist's practice and techniques are unique and quite different from one another. Mayer Gallery, Through Jan. 6, 2018 - "Garden of Biotalian Delights: Diane Kempler". Although Diane Kempler and Hieronymus Bosch work in different media and are, forgive the obvious, from vastly different cultural eras, there is something about Kempler's wildly gesturing ceramic forms that remind me of Bosch's passionately overpopulated paintings. It is not just the similarity of the titles, Kempler's nod to the Dutch Renaissance artist. Just as Bosch's seminal painting, "The Garden of Earthly Delights" seduces the viewer with the richness of macroscopic life, Kempler's "Garden of Biotalian Delights" achieves the same effect with the richness of life seen through a microscope. Gallery A, Through Jan. 6, 2018 - "Taking Tea: Judith Gregory". Gregory transforms the Turchin Center's Gallery A into a tranquil tea house for meditation, contemplation and intimate conversation. As the world rapidly changes outside the walls of the center, sanctuary becomes all the more important as we try to make sense of our place in the universal village through ceremony and interpretation. Constructed from used tea bags and loose tea leaves, "Taking Tea" creates an immersion in a quiet, delicately scented world. Come for a moment, stay for an hour, the Turchin Center invites visitors to find shelter and inspiration through the visual arts. A university art gallery is a safe place to think and talk about ideas with all peoples regardless of race, religion, gender identity, political persuasion—you name it—with respect and active listening. What better place than a tea house to cross cultural barriers and find common ground. Gallery B, Through Jan. 6, 2018 - "Spectacle & Scaffolding: Contemporary Photography Muses Hierarchy," guest curated by Ann Pegelow Kaplan. The exhibit features the works of contemporary photographic artists who explore the underlying power structures that we live with and participate in daily, but which often seem invisible. Mark Curran, Trevor Paglen, Greta Pratt, and eIn O'Hara slavick reflect upon systems that inscribe and maintain power differentials in the United States and beyond, including the market economy, the labor system and workers, technology and surveillance, the relationship of patriotism to the nation-state, and hierarchical social categories such as race, gender, class, and nationality. Hours: 10am-6pm, Tue., Wed., Thur., & Sat. and Fri., noon-8pm. Contact: Hank T. Foreman at 828/262-3017 or at (www.turchincenter.org).

Southern Highland Craft Guild on Tunnel Road, 930 Tunnel Road, Asheville. Ongoing - Work by members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild in various media. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9:30am-5pm. Contact: 828/298-7903.

The Center for Craft, Creativity and Design, 67 Broadway, Asheville. Dec. 1-3, from 10am-6pm - "Holiday Pop-Up," at the Center for Craft's gallery in downtown Asheville. The shop will feature unique, limited edition, and one-of-a-kind hand-crafted goods made by local and national makers as well as exclusive fine art, jewelry, home goods, holiday items, and more. For anyone unable to make it to Asheville for the big event, a five-day online shop will follow from Dec. 6-10 at (cccdnow.org/holidayshop). Benchmark Gallery, Through Jan. 6, 2018 - "Crafted Strangers". Questions of immigration, citizenship, belonging, and identity are more pressing and complicated now than ever. Using a variety of mediums, seventeen established and emerging artists from across the United States and Canada will exhibit work that problematizes identity stereotypes. The exhibition is curated by the emerging curatorial collective Matters Unsettled, a partnership between Cass Gardiner and Quizayra Gonzalez. Gardiner and Gonzalez received a 2017 Curatorial Fellowship from CCCD, which funded the planning and execution of the exhibition while providing the curators a platform and professional development. Crafted Strangers is the third and final Curatorial Fellowship exhibition to be mounted this year, following Tie Up, Draw Down and The Good Making of Good Things: Craft Horizons Magazine 1941-1979. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-6pm. Contact: call 828/785-1357 or at (www.craftcreativitydesign.org).

YMI Gallery, YMI Cultural Center, 39 S. Market Street @ Eagle Street, Asheville. Ongoing - "In the Spirit of Africa". Featuring traditional and contemporary African masks, figurative woodcarvings, beadwork, jewelry, and textiles. Discover the purpose of mask and sculptures, which reflect African ancestral heritage and learn to appreciate symbolism and abstraction in African art. YMI Conference Room, Ongoing - "Forebears & Trailblazers: Asheville's African American Leaders, 1800s – 1900s". The permanent exhibit offers a pictorial history of African-Americans from throughout Western North Carolina. Photographs of both influential and everyday people create a panorama of the variety of life among blacks in the mountain region. Here are the young and old, the prominent and the unknown, the men and women who helped create our city's life. YMI Drugstore Gallery, Ongoing - "Mirrors of Hope and Dignity". Ackland Art Museum, UNC - Chapel Hill, Columbia & Franklin Streets, Chapel Hill. Through Dec. 10 - "Court and Capital: Art from Asia's Greatest Cities". This exhibition is part of the elegant re-installation of the Ackland's Asian galleries. Following "Flora and Fauna," which featured exquisite depictions of plants and animals, "Court and Capital" explores the grand customs and fashions of Asian capitals during their transformation to modern megacities. Through Jan. 7, 2018 - "South African Beadwork: Recent Acquisitions from the Collection of Norma Canelas Roth and William Roth". The Ackland recently acquired—by gift and purchase from the distinguished collection of Norma Canelas Roth and William Roth of Winter Haven, Florida—29 fine pieces of nineteenth- and twentieth-century beadwork by peoples of the South East Cape region of what is now South Africa. Few museums can claim such rich holdings. South African beadwork is an art of vibrant colors, sophisticated patterns, and varied textures. The works on view derive from three principal population groups in the area: the Mfengu, the Zulu, and the Ndebele. Of particular note are rare examples of nineteenth-century beadwork, probably collected by European Christian missionaries. Through Jan. 7, 2018 - "Flash of Light, Fog of War: Japanese Military Prints, 1894-1905". The exhibit examines how Japanese printmakers, in response to First Sino-Japanese War and the Russo-Japanese War, created dynamic compositions - soldiers silhouetted against fiery pyrotechnic explosions, beams of bright white electrical light illuminating the hulls of steel warships, and the haze of spent gunpowder obscuring the brutal combat of the battlefield - that were part reportage and part dazzling artistic display. Through Aug. 31, 2018 - "Step Right Up," an outdoor installation by sculptor Patrick Dougherty. The Ackland Art Museum at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has commissioned its first major site-specific, outdoor art installation in nearly 20 years: a "stickwork" sculpture by Chapel Hill-based artist Patrick Dougherty entitled "Step Right Up". The large-scale work was constructed on-site over a three-week period, and is made entirely of tree saplings. It is on view 24/7 in front of the Ackland Art Museum. The Collection Galleries, Through May 18, 2018 - "The Collection Galleries". In this beautifully designed installation, the Ackland presents a powerful and stimulating selection of over 260 works from its extensive permanent collection. Museum Store Gallery (Franklin and Columbia Street), Store hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5:30pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Museum Hours: Wed. & Thur., 10am-9pm; 2nd Fris. 10am-9pm; all other Fris., 10am-5pm; Sat. 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 919/966-5736 or at (www.ackland.org).

Work by Jean LeCluyse

FRANK, 109 East Franklin Street, Chapel Hill. Through Dec. 22 - "Drawn Together," featuring works by Kiki Farish, Jean LeCluyse, and Aggie Zed. Drawing is often seen as the preparation for a masterpiece—the precursor to a painting or formulation for a sculpture. However, the artists presented in this exhibit are "drawn together" through the skill, beauty and mystery of their mixed media drawings and ceramics. Ongoing - Featuring work from over 70 artists, Frank offers more than you'd expect from an art gallery. Frank is a collective, founded by the area's finest artists working together to open the door for creative innovation in the arts. Hours: Summer, Wed.-Thur., noon-5pm; Fri., Noon-8pm; Sat., 10am-5pm and Sun. 1-5pm. Contact: 919/636-4135 or at (www.frankisart.com).

Van Every/Smith Galleries at Davidson College, Belk Visual Arts Center, 315 North Main and Griffith Streets, Davidson. Through Dec. 8 - "Business As Usual," featuring sculpture by Bob Trotman, curated by Lia Newman. Business as Usual, a phrase popularized by Winston Churchill in a 1914 speech, and later resurrected during World War II, was meant to be a message of both defiance and hope. Trotman's most recent body of work borrows the slogan Business as Usual—the idea that everything should proceed as normal, despite particularly trying situations— for his recent ensemble of sculptures and sculptural vignettes. A companion exhibit will be held through Dec. 14, at the Projective Eye Gallery, in Charlotte, curated by Crista Cammaroto. Each venue will display different works. Between both galleries, more than 30 sculptures, 50 maquettes, and 18 drawings will be exhibited. Ongoing - While on campus, be sure to take a tour of our Campus Sculpture. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-5pm and Sat. & Sun., noon-4pm. Contact: 704/894-2519 or at (www.davidsoncollegeartgalleries.org).

Elizabeth Ross Gallery, Central Piedmont Community College, Central Campus, Overcash Performing Arts Center, Elizabeth Avenue and Kings Dr., Charlotte. Through Dec. 5 - "Witnessing..." featuring a collection of the student work produced during the summer 2017 Airy Knoll experience. The works will feature each student's own reflection of their time at Airy Knoll. Each summer, Central Piedmont Community College (CPCC) painting instructor Elizabeth Ross takes a group of students to a farm in Middlebrook, Virginia, to participate in a resident program presented by the Art Department of CPCC called Airy Knoll. During the week-long stay, students take part in an intensive exploration of the creative process of finding one's own voice in the visual arts. Ross Gallery, Through Dec. 5 - "Fourth Annual Holiday Art Market Fundraiser," feature works by CPCC alumni, students and faculty, to raise funds for educational programming. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 10am-2pm. Contact: 704/330-6211.

Mint Museum Randolph, 2730 Randolph Road, Charlotte. Bridges and Levine Galleries, Ongoing - "Contemporary British Studio Ceramics: The Grainer Collection". Focused on the collection of Diane and Marc Grainer, this installation is a survey of contemporary British studio ceramics. Comprising functional and sculptural objects made between the 1980s and today, the show features work by artists either born or residing in Great Britain, including established "contemporary classics" like Gordon Baldwin and Rupert Spira, and cutting-edge ceramicists such as Julian Stair and Kate Malone. Several recently-gifted works from the Grainers are included. Alexander, Spangler, and Harris Galleries, Ongoing - "Portals to the Past: British Ceramics 1675 - 1825". The Mint Museum's collection of eighteenth-century British pottery and porcelain is widely respected for its scope and quality. The collection numbers over 2,000 objects and includes important examples of both salt-glazed and dry-bodied stoneware from Staffordshire; tin-glazed earthenware from Bristol, Liverpool, and London; and cream-colored earthenware from Derbyshire, Staffordshire, and Yorkshire. Notable eighteenth-century porcelain factories represented include Chelsea, Bow, and Vauxhall in London, Longton Hall in Staffordshire, Worcester, Bristol, and others. Individual works in the collection are exceptional because of their rarity, craftsmanship, provenance, or as representative examples of particular types or methods of production or decoration. Ongoing - "American Glass". The nineteenth and early twentieth centuries represented a time of extraordinary growth for the American glass industry. Such companies as Boston & Sandwich Glass Company in Sandwich, MA; Steuben Glass Works in Corning, NY; and Libbey Glass Company in Toledo, OH, began operation and soon developed notable reputations for producing fashionable wares that were coveted by many middle- and upper-class consumers. "American Glass" showcases objects by these and other American glass companies, illustrating the variety of forms and styles that prevailed during this period. Glass-manufacturing techniques will be another focus of the exhibition, with representative examples of pressed, cut, blown, and molded glass. Nearly all of the works on view are from The Mint Museum's permanent collection of glass, which is second in size only to the ceramics collection in the museum's Decorative Arts holdings. Ongoing - "Arts of Africa". The African continent is remarkable in its geographic, social, political, and cultural diversity. This impressive diversity is reflected in the visual arts through a variety of media and forms including ceramics, masks, textiles, sculptures, prestige staffs, and shrines. With exceptional loans from private collectors and The Mint Museum's own collection of African Art, the museum is pleased to announce the expansion of its presentation of Arts of Africa, thereby providing visitors a more in-depth, meaningful, and exciting overview of African art. Heritage Gallery, Ongoing - Feature works of art, archival documents, and photographs documenting the growth and evolution of the museum, from its beginnings as the original branch of the US Mint to its founding as an art museum to the present and beyond. Ongoing - "Art for the Millions: WPA Prints" and "Carolina Clay," featuring a display of colorful wares made between 1920 and 1950 as potters from NC adapted their works to a market economy. "Art of the United States," featuring contemporary works from the Mint's permanent collection, including works by Romare Bearden, Maud Gatewood, John Biggers Juan Logan, Tartlon Blackwell, Radcliffe Bailey, Kojo Griffin, and others. "Art in the Americas," featuring paintings, precious metalwork, sculpture, furniture and decorative arts from the 17th through the 19th centuries illustrate the unique culture that emerged from the Spanish colonization of the Americas. Crosland Gallery - Featuring a presentation of portraits with many fascinating images presented. Hankin Gallery - Featuring a presentation of the Romare Bearden Collection, including two "new" Beardens. Delhom Gallery, Ongoing - The European Collection of ceramic works. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Mint Museum Uptown, Levine Center for the Arts, 500 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Through June 17, 2018 - "Develar y detonar (Reveal and Detonate)," features the powerful, thought-provoking work of more than 40 of Mexico's leading photographers. This not-to-be-missed exhibition examines the wide range of approaches that these photographers use to explore subjects, ranging from their own personal histories and relationships to their engagement with the country's diverse landscape to pressing social and political issues ranging from land use, drug trade, and immigration to beauty, sexuality, and gender. Flanging in size from a few inches across to floor-to-ceiling murals, some of these works are highly formal; others make a play for sheer beauty; still others are manipulated or staged to instill a sense of magic and wonder. Develar y detonar promises to open an engaging dialogue around the power of photography to both document and question many aspects of modern life, examining issues that are not isolated to residents of Mexico but that stretch across cultures and borders, connecting us all. Through June 3, 2018 - "William Ivey Long: Costume Designs 2007-2016". North Carolina native William Ivey Long is one of the most renowned theatrical costume designers working today. This exhibition, organized by The Mint Museum, explores Long's most recent work, from 2007 to today. It features the theatrical productions "The Lost Colony" (redesigned 2007-2008), "The Mystery of Edwin Drood" (2012), "Rodgers and Hammerstein's Cinderella" (2013), "Little Dancer" (2014), and "On the Twentieth Century" (2015), as well as the television specials "Grease Live!" (2016), and "The Rocky Horror Picture Show: Let's Do the Time Warp Again" (2016). Focusing on Long's process, it features sketches, swatches, mood boards, and other preparatory materials in addition to the costumes themselves. Because costume design is not an area in which the Mint collects, it provides visitors with exposure to this form of art and allow for comparison of the different goals of theatrical costume and fashion. The exhibition is co-curated by Annie Carlan and Rebecca Elliot. It will be accompanied by a scholarly and lavishly illustrated book. Ongoing - The Mint Museum Uptown will house the world renowned collections of the Mint Museum of Craft + Design, as well as the American Art and Contemporary Art collections and selected works from the European Art collection. The building also includes a café, a Family Gallery, painting and ceramics studios, classrooms, a 240-seat auditorium, a Special Events Pavilion with outdoor terrace, and an expanded Museum Shop specializing in crafts of the Carolinas. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. Through Dec. 22 - "Louise Fishman: A Retrospective". An Artist Conversation and public reception will be held on Oct. 6, beginning at 6pm. The Weatherspoon Art Museum is delighted to be the only southern venue for this exhibition. Organized by curator Helaine Posner for the Neuberger Museum of Art, Purchase College, SUNY, the exhibition is the first comprehensive look at five decades of Fishman's artistic production and the range, authenticity, and originality of her work. Featuring more than fifty painting and drawings from 1968 to the present, the exhibition traverses Fishman's career from hard-edge grid paintings to recent work inspired by late Venetian Renaissance painting and the work of British artist J.M.W. Turner. The Gregory D. Ivy Gallery and The Weatherspoon Guild Gallery, Through Feb. 11, 2018 - "For All Time: Interpretations of the Fourth Dimension from the Collection". The artworks included in this exhibition express a variety of ways artists have explored this multifarious concept, be it metaphorically, ironically, sequentially, or kinetically. The exhibition is organized by Elaine D. Gustafson, Curator of Collections. A Noon @ the Spoon, Public Tour will be offered on Oct 10, at noon. New WAM Atrium Installation, Through Jan. 31, 2018 - "Women Abstract Expressionists: Selections from the Collection". An art movement that came into being in the 1950s, Abstract Expressionism was seen as both the poster child of modernism and the symbol of all things avant-garde. Yet, the valorization of this style coincided with an unforeseen erasure of many of the female artists who also took part in it. These equally talented painters emerged from a variety of backgrounds and explored a range of artistic approaches. As a way to highlight their substantive contributions, this exhibition from the Weatherspoon's collection features paintings by five of these artists. The varieties of form, color, flow, and overall style stand as testament to the important innovations they made to the movement and further validate their right to recognition. By breaking away from Abstract Expressionism's cult of personality, they promoted new degrees of richness and depth (both of style and technique) that have brought new life to this defining period. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Work by Herb Jackson

Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, NC State University, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh. Through Dec. 30 - "Show & Tell," celebrating the collections of the Gregg Museum of Art & Design. The exhibition explores the vast range of human creativity represented by the more than 35,000 objects that comprise the Gregg Museum's permanent collections. From disguised war maps and iconic industrial designs to New Guinea body masks, even long-term fans of the Gregg will discover plenty of surprises among the objects on view. Through Jan. 28, 2018 - "A Door is not a Window," featuring paintings by Herb Jackson. This presentation features major abstract works from the past two decades by Raleigh native Herb Jackson, one of North Carolina's premier contemporary artists. The exhibition employs special lighting made possible by support from Wells Fargo. Through Apr. 29, 2018 - "Treatures of Native America," featuring selections from the Drs. Norman and Gilda Greenberg Gift. This exhibition includes silver and turquoise jewelry (displayed in special visitor exploration drawers), Navajo weavings, Hopi katsinam, Apache basketry, Pueblo pottery and Northwest Coast masks. Together, they offer a glimpse into the riches of the Greenberg Collection, a major recent donation to the Gregg Museum. Ongoing - The Museum along with the 15,000 sq. ft. addition currently under construction will increase the museum's visibility while significantly adding to its exhibition and programming space. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm. Contact: Zoe Starling, Curator of Education at 919/513-7244 or at (<https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/>).

Nature Art Gallery, inside the Museum Store, North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences, 11 W. Jones Street, downtown Raleigh. Dec. 1 - Jan 28, 2018 - "Exterminati Sunt Mechanica," featuring classical scientific illustrations of arthropods (creepy crawlies) with cyber and steampunk themes by John W. Elliott. A reception will be held on Dec. 2, from 2-4pm. A working designer and artist for over a decade, Raleigh-based Elliott is a visual artist and Artistic Director for Zendusria, a neo-Renaissance guild of artists and designers dedicated to bringing art and design to home and office. Admission: Free. Gallery Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-4:45pm & Sun., noon-4:45pm. Store Contact: 919/733-7450, ext. 360 or at (<http://naturalsciences.org/visit/museum-store/nature-art-gallery/>).

North Carolina Museum of Art, 2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh. Through Jan. 21, 2018 - "Inspiring Beauty: 50 Years of Ebony Fashion Fair," which tells the remarkable story of an extraordinary fashion show. The exhibition explores the 50-year history of the Ebony Fashion Fair (1958-2009), an unparalleled charity fashion show event that redefined the concepts of beauty, fashion, and empowerment for African Americans. It features 40 stunning ensembles by designers such as Stephen Burrows, Pierre Cardin, Christian Dior, Givenchy, Patrick Kelly, Christian Lacroix, Yves Saint Laurent, Bob

Mackie, Alexander McQueen, b. Michael, Missoni, Jean Patou, and Vivienne Westwood. The exhibition also includes archival photographs and memorabilia from "Ebony" magazine and Ebony Fashion Fair. Joyce W. Pope Gallery, Through Dec. 31 - "Donald Sultan: The Disaster Paintings". Each of the 11 paintings, created between 1984 and 1990, is an imposing, industrial-like structure, reinforced by Sultan's preferred media of Masonite tiles and tar. The resilience of his materials contrasts with his subject matter: fires, floods, and industrial catastrophes, which provoke feelings of fear, instability, and frailty. These large-scale paintings, most of which measure eight feet square, are heavy and dense, bringing a serious permanence to calamities that are often over in a flash. Sultan's images force us to confront the realities of contemporary life and dare us to remember the long-term effects of each accident or reaction. East Building, Level B, Through Jan. 28, 2018 - "Andrea Donnelly: We've Met Before". North Carolina-raised artist Andrea Donnelly explores the dynamic between the formulaic methods of handwoven cloth and the impulsiveness of ink in the creation of her larger-than-life textiles, featuring images of the human body, blots, and delicate floral abstractions. Her art furnishes both mental and physical spaces by creating an intimate, tactile relationship between the viewer and cloth. She employs photography to create the silhouettes within her work, giving her art a precision that reiterates the meticulous process of hand weaving fiber. Calling her work "a literal record of its making," Donnelly uses textiles to replicate the process of creating a mirror image on paper with ink through dyeing, weaving, unweaving, and weaving again. East Building, Level B, Video Gallery, Through Jan. 28, 2018 - "Sabine Gruffat: A Kiss of the Earth". The exhibit is an interactive computer-animated video and sound installation inspired by Sergei Diaghilev's revolutionary 1913 Ballet Russes production of The Rite of Spring, scored by Igor Stravinsky. It is the story of a pagan tribe calling on its deities to restore the earth, a drama that ends with a sacrificial maiden's dancing herself to death. East Building, Level B, Allen G. Thomas Jr. Photography Gallery, Through Jan. 28, 2018 - "Night(Light)". The exhibit explores light as it interacts with darkness in photography. In its purest form, photography harnesses light. The images give shape to light, immortalizing and suspending it. The eerie feeling of night is not lost in these photographs from the Museum's permanent collection. East Building, Level B, Julian T. Baker Jr. Photography Gallery, Through Jan. 28, 2018 - "Rhythmic Vitality: Photographs by Barbara Morgan". This exhibition features photographs by Barbara Morgan from the NCMA's permanent collection. Although Morgan, one of the founders of the photography magazine Aperture, is best known for her studies of modern dance, she also created photomontages and light drawings. Morgan said: "Whether my work is large or small, abstract or realistic, the one thing that must be present is rhythmic vitality...it doesn't matter

North Carolina Museum of History, 5 East Edenton Street, (between Salisbury and Wilmington Streets), Raleigh. Through Dec. 31 - "The Boomer List: Photographs by Timothy Greenfield-Sanders," featuring 19 large-format portraits of influential baby boomers. Subjects include Samuel L. Jackson, Erin Brockovich, Billy Joel, and Amy Tan, among others. The exhibit was created in partnership with AARP. This traveling exhibit got its start in 2014 at the Newseum in Washington, DC, and has been displayed in several museums since July 2015. Through Jan. 6, 2018 - "American Red Cross: Healing the Warrior's Heart through Art." "The museum is pleased to partner with the American Red Cross to bring to the public this exhibit of the remarkable art created by these wounded warriors. We hope it will help people realize the incredible sacrifice these soldiers and veterans have made for our country," said Ken Howard, director of the NC Museum of History. This powerful exhibit features more than 20 paintings and three sculptures created by US Marines who were wounded while serving. Lobby Case Exhibit, Through Mar. 4, 2018 - "Showcasing Art of Louis C. Tiffany." The exhibit features two of the artist's famous stained-glass windows, a small number of blown-glass vases, and several lamps. Louis C. Tiffany offers visitors a taste of the variety and vibrancy of the artworks produced at Tiffany's companies around the turn of the 20th century. Tiffany became one of the best-known American proponents of the Art Nouveau movement, and the objects in this exhibit case depict the curved and flowing lines and the jewel-bright colors connected with this style. Ongoing - Featuring exhibits dealing with North Carolina's history as a theme. Admission: Free. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 919/807-7900 or at (<http://www.ncmuseumofhistory.org/>).

NC State University in Raleigh, NC, Features Works by Herb Jackson

NC State University in Raleigh, NC, is presenting A Door is not a Window, featuring paintings by Herb Jackson, on view at Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, through Jan. 28, 2018.

This presentation features major abstract works from the past two decades by Raleigh native Herb Jackson, one of North Carolina's premier contemporary artists. The exhibition employs special lighting made possible by support from Wells Fargo.

Jackson was born in Raleigh, NC, in 1945. He cannot recall a time when he was not busy painting and drawing, but remembers beginning to sell his artwork by the time he was ten or eleven. In 1962, he won first place in the North Carolina Artists Exhibition, an annual juried show for state residents sponsored by the North Carolina Museum of Art, while he was still a student at Broughton High School. The runners-up were art professors with established careers and decades of experience. A local art critic dismissed the teenager's win at the time as merely a lucky "fluke."

Many years after Jackson had won his first award at age seventeen - and long after his reputation had achieved national status - he finally received a retraction and apology from the critic who had downplayed his early win. "You were no fluke," the former critic admitted.

In 1999, Jackson received the North Carolina Award, the highest civilian honor in the state. In 2015, he was given the North Caroliniana Society Award for extraordinary contributions to the state's cultural heritage. Jackson's work is now in more than 80 collections, including the Baltimore Museum of Art; the British Museum; the Brooklyn Museum; Chicago Art Institute; Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; Philadelphia Museum of Art; Victoria and Albert Museum, London; and the Whitney Museum of Art, NYC. A Door is not a Window is his first museum show in his hometown in many years.

The title of the exhibition comes from an explanation Jackson once offered about his work. "The history of narrative painting," he said, "is based on representing a reality as if were viewed through a window, whereas I am interested in presenting a new entity that one enters, as if by a door."
