Charleston

Avery Research Center for African History and Culture, at the College of Charleston, 125 Bull St., Charleston. Ongoing - Exhibits on view include: "Since 1920: Zeta Phi Beta Centennial". The Gamma Zeta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Incorporated presents a centennial exhibit filled with the rich history of the sorority in print and paraphernalia. Visitors can see in-depth the programming, philanthropy and reach of Zeta Phi Beta during their 100 years. "The Water Keeps Rising" Hip-hop artist and activist Benny Starr has created an interactive exhibit based on data from the Avery's State of Racial Disparities Report in Charleston County. This exhibit will create an immersive experience for visitors. In the areas of civic engagement, racial disparities, the environment and performance art/music, this exhibit will aim to connect the dots from historical data and archival information up to the present conditions of the Lowcountry. "Resilient". Local artist Chris "Kolpeace" Johnson will highlight the power of being resilient with this work that recognizes African Americans who have shown strength through adversity including the late local activist Muhiyidin D'baha and Cyntoia Brown, who faced life in prison after being convicted of homicide as a juvenile. These pieces are tributes to memorialize the impactful strength of an unsung hero in the community, engaging the soul and spirit. "The African Origins of Mathematics". Charleston resident and artist Robert "King David" Ross highlights the direct impact Africa has had on modern mathematics in this exhibit. Showcasing the first math instrument, the Ishango bone, the exhibit allows visitors to see the influence Africa has had on every aspect of life. Admission: Free. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-5pm, with guided tours at 10:30am, 11:30am, 1:30pm, 2:30pm, and 3:30pm. Contact: 843/805-5507 or visit (www.cofc.edu/avery).

Charleston Artist Guild Gallery, 160 East Bay St., Charleston. Jan. 1 - 31 - "The Art of Fly Fishing," presents a captivating series of gouache and oil paintings that explore the beauty, culture, and intricacies of fly-fishing inspired by Danette Ulrich's personal connections and lifelong passion for nature. A reception will be held on Jan. 3, from 5-8pm. The exhibit was sparked by a personal request from Ulrich's daughter, an avid fly-fisher. Tasked with creating a salmon fly painting for her daughter's marriage announcement, Ulrich was introduced to the unique world of fly-fishing—a sport with its own distinct culture, artistry, and passion. Ongoing - Featuring an exhibit of works by over 80 plus members of CAG who display a wealth of talent in different media including, oils, acrylics, pastels, watercolors, photography, printmaking & sculpture. The Gallery is also home for the CAG office. Hours: Daily, 11am-6pm. Contact: 843/722-2454 or at (www.charlestonartistguild.com).

City Gallery at Joseph P. Riley, Jr. Waterfront Park, 34 Prioleau Street, Charleston. Through Feb. 9, 2025 - Calling Me Home: A Visual Ode to the Low-Country, featuring works by Marcus Middleton and "Children of Indigo" featuring works by Caroline Gutman. An artist's talk with Marcus Middleton will be held on Feb. 9, at 2pm. An artist's talk with Caroline Gutman will be held on Jan. 25 at 2pm. All events are free and open to the public. "Children of Indigo" is a documentary project that explores the plant's painful history in South Carolina and spotlights women in the Low-country today who have revived indigo cultivation and dyeing, building a flourishing community of textile artists and homesteaders. "Calling Me Home: A Visual Ode to the Low-Country" is a tribute to Wadmalaw Island and its environs. "Calling Me Home: A Visual Ode to the Low-Country" is photographer Marcus Middleton's tribute to Wadmalaw Island, or what he likes to call a "living museum." "The American South is both turbulent and beautiful, and my hope is to share that dynamic and sometimes contradictory experience with the audience; to capture Wadmalaw as it is, unspoiled by progress," says Middleton. In "Children of Indigo," Caroline Gutman explores how the commodity and its dye fueled slavery in the American colonies. Her body of work shows the remaining historical sites in contrast with contemporary textile artists and farmers confronting indigo's difficult past and reclaiming it. Indigo in America is haunted by a painful past. Like cotton, indigo carries inseparable links to centuries of American chattel slavery. Hours: Wed.-Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 843/958-6484 or (www.charleston-sc.gov/citygallery).

Editor's Note: I wish I could tell you that everything listed here is open or every event would happen, but we just don't know for sure and I don't blame any of the presenters if we were the last thing on their minds while dealing with this current disaster. My best advise to you is call before you go to visit someplace or go to see an exhibit listed. That's mostly for the areas hit by Hurricane Helene, in this case, Upstate SC.

Virtual Exhibitions

Anderson

Anderson County Museum, 202 East Greenville Street, Anderson. Through the Summer of 2025 - "Silver of South Carolina and Beyond". The Anderson County Museum is one of the most comprehensive collections of South Carolina silver ever assembled in our area. Many of the pieces are very rare. British soldiers evacuating Charleston in 1782 after the American Revolution took with them thousands of pounds of silver from the city's homes and churches. The pieces that have survived into the modern day are made more precious by their scarcity. Today Palmetto State silver attracts collectors from all over the globe. Ongoing - The Anderson County Museum has one of the largest galleries in the state! You can book a tour with one of our docent volunteers or explore on your own and get lost in history. We also have event space for rent if you would like to host your next event here. Anderson County Museum takes great care to catalog our artifacts. In fact, our artifact database is one of the most comprehensive in South Carolina. Check out our virtual exhibits or our past perfect collection to see some of our artifacts, and visit the Anderson County Museum to see them on display! Hours: Tue., 10am-7pm & Wed.-Sat., 10am-4pm.
