Mint Museum Randolph, 2730 Randolph Road, Charlotte. Ongoing - "American Glass". The nineteenth and early twentieth centuries represented a time of extraordinary growth for the American glass industry. Such companies as Boston & Sandwich Glass Company in Sandwich, MA; Steuben Glass Works in Corning, NY; and Libbey Glass Company in Toledo, OH, began operation and soon developed notable reputations for producing fashionable wares that were coveted by many middle- and upper-class consumers. "American Glass" showcases objects by these and other American glass companies, illustrating the variety of forms and styles that prevailed during this period. Glass-manufacturing techniques will be another focus of the exhibition, with representative examples of pressed, cut, blown, and molded glass. Nearly all of the works on view are from The Mint Museum's permanent collection of glass, which is second in size only to the ceramics collection in the museum's Decorative Arts holdings. Ongoing - "Arts of Africa". The African continent is remarkable in its geographic, social, political, and cultural diversity. This impressive diversity is reflected in the visual arts through a variety of media and forms including ceramics, masks, textiles, sculptures, prestige staffs, and shrines. A short story by celebrated author Anthony Doerr will also be part of the exhibition which explores timely global themes. Level 5 expansion space, Through Feb. 22 - "The Light Factory's Moment Mile". Back in November, the eyes of Charlotte turned toward Tryon Street, where 138 local photographers captured a simultaneous panoramic shot of a mile-long stretch of Tryon Street. And now, the resulting prints - 100 feet long - are going on view to the public in a pop-up gallery inside Mint Museum Uptown. "Moment Mile" will be on view in the museum's Level 5 expansion space - raw, unfinished space on the museum's top floor that was first used last fall for The Boombox Project, a pop-up gallery of photos by Lyle Owerko. This new project, which will occupy even more of the space first glimpsed during the Boombox run, will continue the museum's recent emphasis on showcasing photography. Level 4 Modern & Contemporary Galleries, Through Feb. 22 - "Kristina Rogers: Into the Labyrinth". This is the Mint's first exhibition showcasing the work of Rogers (1945-2011), who was born in Germany and moved to Charlotte when she was nine years old. After studying in London and traveling widely, she settled with her husband in Waxhaw, NC, and got involved with The Light Factory. She is known for multi-layered photographs created by overlapping negatives, to which she frequently added objects, historical photographs, and other artifacts. Shortly before her death, she donated nearly 100 of her prints to the Mint's permanent collection, and this exhibition brings together 25 of her most provocative works. Romare Bearden Gallery, Through Feb. 22 - "Conversations: Romare Bearden and Richard Hunt". The exhibit explores parallels between the two contemporaries - Bearden, who was born in Charlotte in 1911 and became the world's most famous colli- g- gist before his death in 1988; and Hunt, widely regarded as one of the greatest living American sculptors. The Mint holds the largest repository of Bearden's art of any public art museum, and has returned many of his signature works to public view, including "Of the Blues: Carolina Shout", 1974, and "Evening of the Gray Cat," 1982, which inspired the design of the museum's Lewis Family Gallery. Hunt has been commissioned to create a monumental public sculpture in Bearden's honor for Charlotte-Mecklenburg's Romare Bearden Park, just one block north of Mint Museum Uptown. The sculpture is scheduled for unveiling sometime in 2015. Ongoing - The Mint Museum Uptown will house the world renowned collections of the Mint Museum of Craft + Design, as well as the American Art and Contemporary Art collections and selected works from the European Art collection. The building also includes a café, a Family Gallery, painting and ceramics studios, classrooms, a 240-seat auditorium, a Special Events Pavilion with outdoor terrace, and an expanded Museum Shop specializing in crafts of the Carolinas.
