Lancaster

USC Lancaster Native American Studies Center, 119 South Main Street, Lancaster. Mar. 16 - 21 - "Political, Economic, and Civil Rights Movements in Indian Country," is the theme for USC Lancaster's Native American Studies Center's 13th Annual Native American Studies Week. According to Dr. Brooke Bauer, Professor of History and Native American Studies at USC Lancaster and event coordinator for this year's Native American Studies Week, social movements in Indian Country are nothing new. "Activism, from my perspective as a historian, has been taking place since Hernando de Soto traveled through the South; it's just that we don't think about it in that same way," said Bauer. "They're actively standing up for themselves. This is activism, it's just not the 20th century type of movement." For more information and details call 803/313-7172 or visit (www.usclancaster.sc.edu). D. Lindsay Pettus Gallery, Ongoing - "The Story of Catawba Pottery". This National Endowment for the Arts funded exhibit traces the art, culture and history of Catawba pottery, the oldest Native American pottery tradition in the United States. Ongoing - The Center is 15,000 square foot facility in historic downtown Lancaster. Guests will have the opportunity to tour the NAS Center's gallery spaces, archives, classrooms, and archaeology, language, and audio-visual labs. Home to the world's largest collection of Catawba Indian pottery, the NAS Center will offer exhibits of regional Native American Art, classes and programs focused on Native American history, culture, archaeology, folklore, and language. Hours: Tue., Wed., Fri., & Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur., 10am-7pm; of Mon. by appt only. Contact: 803/313-7172 or visit (<http://usclancaster.sc.edu/NAS/>).

Franklin G. Burroughs - Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum, 3100 South Ocean Blvd., beside Springmaid Beach, Myrtle Beach. Through Apr. 22 - "William H. Miller: What You See Is What You Get". Miller is a high-energy guy. Besides being a prolific artist - creating abstract works that merge two strikingly different media, traditional painting and digital art -- Miller is a gallery owner, a mentor to other artists and a tireless advocate for the arts. Following the opening of William H. Miller Studios and Fine Art in 2015, he encouraged other galleries and studios to move into the area, sparking the growth of a downtown Myrtle Beach arts district; and in early 2017 he spearheaded the creation of First Friday Art Walks. Through Apr. 22 - "Steven Bleicher: The Kings Highway". Author J.R.R. Tolkien wrote in "The Fellowship of the Rings", "Not all those who wander are lost." In the view of artist and art educator Steven Bleicher, travel and migration are rooted deep in the American psyche. He combines this viewpoint with his travels and observations along our own Kings Highway. Through Apr. 8 - "Collection Connections: A Visual Exploration of Southern Heritage". The Franklin G. Burroughs-Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum was born of Southern heritage in 1997 with a mission to preserve and promote art for this region's community, culture and landscape. That mission and range continue growing, reaching new heights through a new exhibition. Through 37 works from more than 20 artists, this array of paintings, pastels, photographs, prints, film, basketry, drawings, maps and sculpture from the Museum's collections helps to cultivate a greater understanding and appreciation of the uniqueness of Southern culture: such avenues as music, food, landscape and the people and their ancestors, who have made it what it is today. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm & Sun., 1-4pm. Contact: 843/238-2510 or at (www.myrtlebeachartmuseum.org).
