City of North Charleston, SC, Features Works by Christopher Dotson and Evie Zimmer

The City of North Charleston's Cultural Arts Department is pleased to announce that concurrent solo exhibitions by local artist Christopher Dotson, and Ohio based artist Evie Zimmer will be on display at the North Charleston City Gallery from July 5-31, 2017. The artists will host a free public reception at the gallery on July 6, from 5-7pm.

Local artist Christopher Dotson presents Supernatural, a collection of new work that celebrates nature as a metaphor for human behavior. Influenced by the Ancient Aztecs, Inca, and Maya, as well as 20th century artists Paul Klee and Joan Miro, Dotson creates compositions out of simple, organic shapes, allowing him to pursue his interests in color, instinct, and spontaneity. An explorer of nature, Dotson asks "We are social creatures, just like birds, fish and bees. Can we understand our destiny by understanding them?" Dotson's images show an interest in the relationship of an individual to a greater natural scheme. His compositions are composed of discrete shapes that hang together in an intuitive order.

Work by Christopher Dotson

Dotson hails from Boston and moved to Charleston in 2006. He was the winner of Best in Show and First Place in Oil

Work by Evelyn "Evie" Zimmer

Painting in the 2015 North Charleston Arts Fest judged fine art competition and received an Honorable Mention and Purchase Award in the 2016 competition. His work has been featured in a number of group exhibitions, including Kulture Klash, and is currently on display at Atelier Gallery. Dotson also provided artwork to appear on the CBS television show Reckless.

Evie Zimmer, a painter from Cleveland, OH, presents Modern Op-Art, a series of large scale, vibrant paintings that are visual expressions of the non-visual: music, energy, thoughts, and emotions. Influenced by artists such as Vasarely and Anuszkiewicz, Zimmer says she finds the vivid colors, intricate designs, and visual energy of Op-Art mesmerizing. Viewers are sure to find a similar mesmerizing

Art Exhibition featuring the work of

Robert Maniscalco

July 11 through August 10, 2017

Preview: July 11, 6-8pm

Opening Reception: July 15, 5-8 pm

Breakout Session: August 8, 5-8 pm

Robert Maniscalco will present new paintings from T&P, recent sketches from the trial for the Emanuel 9, along with other subjects relating to desire. Robert explores the myriad of human longings, expressing the tenacity of the human spirit to overcome great adversity, often at great cost and sacrifice, in order to quench our desires. Editorial COMMENTARY

by Tom Starland, Editor and Publisher

On Our Cover

On our cover this month is The Consolation of Philosophy by Kristi Ryba, 2017.

Here's what she has to say about her work, "For several years I have used my family's vintage photographs to make paintings based on the iconography and ideals of Medieval and Renaissance altarpieces and manuscripts. I use 22k gold leaf and egg tempera on wooden panels and sometimes-animal skin (vellum). Since November 2016 I have substituted photographs of Trump and his administration into existing manuscripts and altarpieces that depict, illuminate or illustrate what I believe is the shallow and corrupt nature of this government."

"In this painting, The Consolation of Philosophy, the moment shown is when the philosopher Boethius presents his text to the Ostrogothic King Theodoric the Great. Boethius wrote this volume while imprisoned for the alleged crime of treason in AD 523. He was eventually executed. He writes it as a conversation between himself and "Lady Philosophy". She consoles Boethius by discussing the transitory nature of fame and wealth ("no man can ever truly be secure until he has been forsaken by Fortune"), and the ultimate superiority of things of the mind, which she calls the "one true good". She contends that happiness comes from within, and that virtue is all that one truly has, because it is not imperiled by the vicissitudes of fortune. I have substituted the contemporary philosopher Cornell West for Boethius and one of our dear leader's Tweets appears in the bottom margin. The other characters I am sure you can figure out."

Kristi Ryba lives and works in Charleston, SC. She recently had a solo exhibit at Corrigan Gallery and also Ryba's work was included in the 2015 701 South Carolina Biennial. In 2012 she was selected as the SCAC Alternate Visual Arts Fellow. Her work has been exhibited in many institutions, including: 701 CCA, Columbia College in Columbia, SC, SOMAC in Portsmouth, OH, Waterworks Visual Arts Center in Salisbury, NC, Corrigan Gallery, Redux and The City Gallery at Waterfront Park, Charleston, SC, Sumter Gallery of Art, and Dialect Design and The McColl Center in Charlotte, NC, Wood Art Gallery, Montpelier, VT, and Silo in New York City. In 2009 she was an artist in residence at The McColl Center in Charlotte, NC. She currently has work at Corrigan Gallery in Charleston, SC.

Thirty Years

About this time, 30 years ago, we were waiting for our first issue of Charleston Arts to come back from the printer. We had worked for several months preparing that July 1987 issue. We were wondering, what will people think? what did we forget? how will we get the next issue done in time for the next month? You would think that after 30 years all that would have gone away, but it doesn't.

Years ago I was worried if we'd make it to 30 years - today we're too busy to celebrate. Besides producing our monthly publication, Social Media has become almost an equally demanding job on a daily basis.

We never could think of a way to thank all our supporters throughout the years in two states. Throwing ourselves a party would leave so many out and while I'm writing this there have been several articles that have come in for next month's issue. Thanks for all your support. I guess a rolling stone gathers no moss.

quality to Zimmer's work. Using reflections of geometric and organic shapes, Zimmer creates patterns which sometimes give the impression of a traditional mandala, and sometimes the impression of a swirling liquid.

Evelyn "Evie" Zimmer received her Bachelor of Arts from Cleveland State University in 2008 and currently teaches at Cuyahoga Community College. Her work has been exhibited in a number of group and juried shows throughout the country. She is represented by Fusion Arts Gallery in Palm Springs and Hayley Gallery in New Albany, OH. Her paintings have been featured in publications such as Women in Art 278 Magazine, and Art Reveal Magazine.

The North Charleston City Gallery is situated in two corridors of the northwest corner of the Charleston Area Convention Center, located on Coliseum Drive in North Charleston. Inquiries regarding the artists or purchase information may be directed to the North Charleston Cultural Arts Department at 843/740-5854.

Fabulon in Charleston, SC, Offers Works by Robert Maniscalco

Fabulon, a Center for Art and Education, located in the West Ashley area of Charleston, SC, will present The Quench Project and the mire of desire, featuring works by Robert Maniscalco, on view from July 11 through Aug. 10, 2017. A reception will be held on July 15, from 5 - 8pm.

Fabulon is fortunate to have an extra large gallery space. Artists with bigger pieces or larger bodies of work often seek them. Rather than simply sublet the space, they prefer to associate with artists on a mission.

Although he is one of Charleston's more prolific artists, Maniscalco may seem an unlikely fit for Fabulon. It was his most recent portraits of people not typically chosen to be subjects, and of those not in a position to request it, that intrigued Fabulon. He is a painter perhaps better known for his traditional portraits, being a former PBS TV host, author, and teacher.

But Maniscalco is also a social realist, documentarian, and courtroom sketch artist. Addressing racism, and "the role of artists as the visionaries behind the current revolution of mindfulness" is his mission.

In The Quench Project and the mire of desire, Maniscalco explores the myriad of human longings, often at great cost and sacrifice, in order to quench desires. These desires are often noble, such as those for justice, truth, forgiveness, and safe water. But all too often, they take the form of greed, envy and the desire to spread hate and fear.

Work by Robert Maniscalco

Maniscalco has been to Haiti and Flint, MI, documenting people's struggle for clean, safe drinking water, and inside the courtroom of Charleston's high profile cases.

"Recognizing the thoughts behind our desires is the first step to managing our actions, and becoming instruments of peace and understanding," says Maniscalco.

The Quench Project explores alternatives to societal ideas about beauty, tragedy and survival. The theme is the resilient nature of humans to rise "out of darkness." Maniscalco, who is a survivor of child sexual abuse, has dedicated his artistic life to telling the stories and celebrating the triumph of human spirit; specifically, our capacity to turn great adversity into victory.

Originally from Detroit, MI, Maniscalco apprenticed with his father, Joseph, who was an internationally renowned portrait artist. Classical training built mastery of traditional methods where the use of light and shadow create moods and achieve expressive characters. Since 1980, Maniscalco's exquisite commissioned portraits and fine art have become part of over 850 distinguished private and public collections throughout North America.

To be a "champion of truth in the era of alternative facts," is the unquenchable desire driving this artist.

A Breakout Session will be held on Aug. 8, from 5-8pm, which will offer viewers an opportunity for more intimate discussions with the artist, some small group activities, and a painting demonstration.

Charleston Artist Guild in Charleston, SC, Offers Works by Addelle Sanders

The Charleston Artist Guild in Charleston, SC, will present A TRANSITION: Fiber in the 21st Century, featuring works by Addelle Sanders, on view in the Guild Gallery, from July 1 - 31, 2017. A reception will be held on July 7, from 5-8pm.

Sanders is renowned for brilliant and audacious fiber artworks created from textiles such as fabric, yarns, and various natural and synthetic fibers that are revolved into extraordinary pieces.

Sanders' art career began 20 years ago when she created charms and fashion accessories using threads and skins as a hobby. The artwork evolved into a vibrant collection of unique works. Sanders uses rich color palettes of silk threads and metallic cords to weave elaborate designs. She is a graduate of Benedict College in Columbia, SC, and New York University with a Masters in Social Work. Sanders retired after almost 30 years of service from the US Veterans Administration to focus on her art. She resides on James Island, SC.

"When thinking about the use of threads in the 21st century, I considered the use of fibers which originated from the earth. I decided to extend the format of my art to be more picturesque, as opposed to my previous exhibition format which was more like wearable art," says Sanders. Based on that train of thought, Sanders latest works demonstrate the organic origin of the fiber and its relevance to our modern societal and political landscape. This includes recently sold works like Down River, which represents the employment of slave labor to promote the cotton industry and abet the rise of capitalism, and Holy City, which depicts the Emanuel 9 tragedy of 2015, a senseless hate crime that claimed the lives of nine unsuspecting victims attending an evening Bible study at a historical black church.

Currently, Sanders is working on a new piece entitled The Community to be featured in this exhibit alongside other recent works. This piece consists of trees, grass, a church and five figures of men and women.

Sanders' placed 2nd in the 2008 MOJA Juried Art Exhibition and 3rd in the 2009 Piccolo Spoleto Juried Art Exhibition. She was selected as a participant in the 2009-2010 South Carolina Palmetto Hands

Society of Bluffton Artists in Bluffton, SC, Offers Works by Stephen Moscovitz

The Society of Bluffton Artists in Bluffton, SC, will present Birds and Other Stuff, featuring acrylic paintings of wild life, real life and still life by Stephen Moscovitz, on view from July 3 through Aug. 5, 2017. A reception will be held on July 7, beginning at 5pm.

Moscovitz is a lifelong artist who studied at the Rochester Institute of Technology, School of Art and Design. He earned wide recognition as an illustrator for several years until he moved on to creating fine art with wildlife. He derives inspiration from birds of the Lowcountry, as well as still life and landscape painting.

"When I moved to the Lowcountry, I discovered the world of birds," Moscovitz said. "Herons and egrets of all sizes and colors. In the Lowcountry, these birds are everywhere — even in my backyard. So, I have taken and borrowed photos of birds eating, swimming, wading and flying. Using photos as reference gives my birds proper stature and realistic features."

Arts Center of Greenwood in SC Offers Food-Themed Exhibition

The Arts Center of Greenwood in Greenwood, SC, will present Food For Thought, a contemporary food-themed exhibition, on view in the Center's main gallery space, from July 10 through Aug. 31, 2017. A reception will be held on July 28, from 5:30-7:30pm. The exhibition coincides with an upcoming Farm-to-Fork fundraiser at the center in late August.

Work by Denise Stewart-Sanabria

Food For Thought will explore food as a motif for artistic study. Fast-food culture, delectable sweets, food-preparation, nourishment, sensuality, repetition, personification and deterioration are all part of the visual narrative. The exhibition will feature a variety of media including photography, paintings in oil, acrylic and watercolor, porcelain sculpture and cardboard constructions.

The exhibition will feature artwork by Alice Lewis, Denise Stewart-Sanabria, Ed Bing Lee, Hilarie Lambert, Karen Johnson, Lindsey Bargar, Manda McKay, Melanie Fennell, Patianne Stevenson and Sandy Singletary.

The Arts Center of Greenwood celebrated its 10th Anniversary in 2016 and we have welcomed over 175,000 guests. After years of dreams, studies, planning, and a major capital campaign, our community arts center became a reality. The Arts Center is located on Main Street in beautiful Uptown Greenwood. With 25,000 square feet of usable space, the building offers an exciting home for the arts in Greenwood.

have been showing at various venues on Hilton Head Island for the last ten years.

In this show, the group wanted it to be a celebration of images, inspired by the summer. Local scenes, flights of fancy, and colorful images celebrate the diversions of summer. "We always want color to be one of the basic expressions of our art" says Joanna Chalson. Other artists in this group show not mentioned are Annie Coughlin, Jo Dye, Barbara Grubba, Evie Kowko, Joyce Nagel, Barbara Spencer, Dorothy Steelman and Emily Wilson.

The Museum is located at 70 Honey Horn Drive on Hilton Head Island.

Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, Offers Works by Amos Hummell

The Art League of Hilton Head on Hilton Head Island, SC, will present 5 O'clock Somewhere, featuring works by Amos Hummell, on view from July 6 - 29, 2017. A reception will be held on July 12, from 5-7pm.

In his 36 years on Hilton Head, Hummell has worn many hats - or uniforms, as was the case during his 20 years as an island bartender. Now that he is better known as a self-taught artist who appreciates the color and fun in life, he has called upon those earlier experiences for his newest body of work.

This exhibit is an unconventional impressionist view of waterside bars, beach shacks, watering holes, and other enclaves of "quintin' time" for locals and vacationers alike. The essence of these afternoon experiences is that of being laid back, footloose, and carefree. Hummell's artistic career began in car-

Main & Maxwell in Greenwood, SC, Features Works by Jesse Nance, Bob Taft, & Dianne Page Yarborough

Main & Maxwell in Greenwood, SC, will present Color, Clay and Canvas, featuring works by multimedia artist Jesse Nance, potter Bob Taft, and painter Dianne Page Yarborough, on view from July 1 - 31, 2017. A reception will be held on July 6, from 5:30-7:30pm - the first evening of the Festival of Discovery BBQ and Blues Festival in Greenwood.

Work by Dianna Page Yarborough

Jesse Nance, the "Color" in the exhibit is inspired by sunsets, florals and bright yellow red colors. He is mostly self-taught and began painting and crafting in 1989 as a way to help himself deal with a family member's illness. Nance's work has been featured in a number of art and gift catalogs throughout the country. His work has been displayed at Disney World and in the private collection of Tony Bennett. Jesse Nance refers to his work as Giggie Art as he hopes to generate smiles and giggles with his art.

Other than things done well, the phrase, what if... inspires potter Bob Taft. "Taking a specific technique and trying it on another style of pot, using glazes in a new combination, firing pots in a new way. The possibilities in "Clay" are endless if you ask, "What if?", said Taft. While living in Asheville, NC, Taft took a non-credit wheel throwing class with Laurie Faye Long, but his real education started in 2006 when Gary Clontz created the Piedmont Technical College Creative Economics Program. Taft feels that it was an amazing in-depth instruction into ceramics and he continues to work and evolve with his ceramic work. He currently produces work and teaches classes at Edgefield Clay Center in Edgefield, SC. His pieces are often wood fired in the town's historic ground hog kiln.

Dianne Page Yarborough has painted for as long as she can remember. Early on in her childhood she developed a love of art and later went on to complete a BA in Fine Art from Newberry College. She works primarily in acrylic mixed with gloss medium applied to her preferred "Canvas" - Masonite board. Her artwork is inspired by nature, painting what she sees, including the fine details of her surroundings. Her paintings exhibit an understanding of the nuances of nature that most people miss. "I create paintings that come from my heart. They are not easy for me - they come through great struggle and uncertainty. If I don't give up God always sees me through," said Page Yarborough.

Greenville County Museum of Art in Greenville, SC, Features Photos by Victoria Wyeth

The Greenville County Museum of Art in Greenville, SC, is presenting Victoria Wyeth: My Andy, which offers an intimate look at Andrew Wyeth's world, on view from July 12 through Oct. 22, 2017.

In celebration of the 100th anniversary of Andrew Wyeth's birthday, the Greenville County Museum of Art presents Victoria Wyeth: My Andy. Comprised of more than 30 black-and-white photographs, the exhibition offers an intimate look at the late Andrew Wyeth's world via the lens of his only grandchild, Victoria.

Drawn from photographs taken between 1993 and 2013, the exhibition highlights images of the renowned artist at home; of his wife, Betsy; and of the people and landscapes that inspired him in both Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, and coastal Maine. Ms. Wyeth's photographs are borne of her close relationship with her grandfather and depict exhibition Wyeth Dynasty. Encompassing the full scope of Andrew Wyeth's extraordinary career, including significant decade-by-decade examples from the 1930s to the 21st century, Wyeth Dynasty also highlights works by his father, noted illustrator N.C., his son Jamie, and his sisters Carolyn and Henriette. More than 70 examples are featured in the exhibition, including a number of sketches and studies that enrich finished paintings while demonstrating Andrew Wyeth's process and technical mastery of media.

Ms. Wyeth earned her BA in American Cultural Studies from Bates College in Lewiston, ME. She studied psychology as a visiting graduate student at Harvard before receiving her masters from Wesleyan University in Connecticut. She lectures frequently in the United States and abroad about the work of both her grandfather Andrew Wyeth and her uncle Jamie Wyeth.

Visit the GCMA website (www.gcma.org) to find the latest details on special tours and other programs that complement the exhibitions. A fully illustrated catalog of photographic prints highlighted by Victoria Wyeth's reminiscences will be available for purchase when the exhibition opens in July.

Spartanburg Art Museum in SC Offers Another Body, an Exhibition by Seven Contemporary Artists

The Spartanburg Art Museum in Spartanburg, SC, is presenting Another Body, featuring the work of 7 artists from as far away as Yugoslavia and as nearby as Muncie, Indiana, on view through Sept. 10, 2017.

The artworks included in the exhibition are as diverse as the backgrounds of their creators, ranging from massive wall drawings of hybridized human/animal forms to a

Torah an artist has made from his own skin that depicts the opening sequence of the original 3 Star Wars movies. Another Body features the work of Corinne Duchesne, David Hannon, Vesna Jovanovic, Monika Malewska, Ari Richter, Edwina Sandys, and Meg Stein.

The varied works in the exhibition depict the physical and psychological experiences of living, striking a delicate balance between pleasure and anguish, sacred and profane, life and afterlife. Canadian artist Corinne Duchesne makes her wall-sized collages by tearing apart and re-assembling her own paintings and drawings on transparent plastic. The resulting mixtures of contorted human and animal forms, complex layers of frenetic abstraction, and intentionally blank, hazy backgrounds are apt visual metaphors for the sensation of grief.

Brooklyn-based Ari Richter uses his own skin as a material for artworks, dyeing it with tattoo inks and painstakingly arranging it in glass enclosures to recreate images from pop culture that are at once beautiful and unsettling.

In the exquisite watercolors of Polish artist Monika Malewska, traditional subjects in decorative art such as butterflies, flowers, and fruit are paired with exquisitely rendered raw bacon, cheese puffs, and shirtless G.I. Joes.

Meg Stein transforms banal materials used for hygiene like cotton swabs, toothpicks, and bandages into sculptures that could easily be mistaken for scientific specimens of formerly living insects, crustaceans, or invertebrates. While the works in the exhibition differ greatly in form and content, all provoke consideration of the conditional, fragile, and often strange nature of living in a human body.

Fans in the Upstate have come to expect such groundbreaking exhibitions from SAM, which recently shifted its exhibitions focus to all Contemporary Art. SAM is one of only a handful of Museums in the Southeast that exhibit such artwork, making it a destination for visitors from throughout the region and a sought-after exhibitions space for artists. What's more, Another Body - like all of SAM's exhibitions - was devised by the Museum's own Curatorial Staff and has never and will never be exhibited anywhere else.

Curator of Collections Mat Duncan explains, "People who visit SAM often ask where the exhibitions on view here have been shown before and where they'll be traveling next. They're always shocked to find out that our exhibitions are one-time only, bespoke offerings crafted by the SAM Curatorial Staff just for Spartanburg. Another Body is an excellent example of one of our typical exhibitions - exhibitions that are possible at SAM and nowhere else."

USC Upstate in Spartanburg, SC, Offers Works by Mark Brosseau

USC Upstate in Spartanburg, SC, will present Inhabiting Experience, a selection of recent works by Greenville, SC, painter Mark Brosseau, on view at the UPSTATE Gallery on Main, from July 11 through Aug. 25, 2017. A reception will be held on July 20, from 5-8pm, during Spartanburg ArtWalk.

Inspired in part by his artist residency in Iceland, Brosseau's pulsating abstractions celebrate the idiosyncrasy of visual experience and simultaneously negotiate our facility to process it. Using effervescent color and primary forms in deceptively complex ways, alternatively opaque and revealing layers create neatly stacked yet constantly mobilized spaces. Both whimsical and seductive, these ever-shifting images gently challenge the viewer to find their own stability in our oscillating universe.

Mark Brosseau, "Toxic," 2017, Acrylic, flashe, and ink on wood panel, 16 in. x 20 in.

"I use painting to ask questions about existence and learn about how I relate to everything around me," Brosseau said. "The paintings are experiments, and I want them to be simultaneously vast and intimate – equally fleeting and precious."

Mark Brosseau, originally of Vermont, earned his BA from Dartmouth College in 1998 and MFA from the University of Pennsylvania School of Design in 2001. In addition to being awarded the 2001

Mark Brosseau, "Entropic," 2017, Acrylic, flashe, and ink on wood panel, 16 in. x 20 in.

Fulbright Fellowship for painting, Brosseau also completed an artist residency in 2002 at Straumur International Art Commune in Hafnarfjörður, Iceland, and was the co-director of Tiger Strikes Asteroid Philadelphia from 2014-2016. His work has been featured in over 70 group and solo shows and over 30 publications and is included in numerous public and private collections throughout the US, Iceland, and the Netherlands.

The Upstate Gallery on Main is the newest addition of the USC Upstate's 3 gallery spaces, and is located at on E. Main Street in Spartanburg. It is a dedicated art space that houses and displays the university's permanent collection including works by Andy Warhol, Jerry Uelsmann, Jack Tworokov, and Beatrice Riese. Along with permanent collection work the front gallery houses a rotating schedule of regional and national artists' work. The gallery is primarily run by students as part of an on going internship program where they learn how to display, research, and promote the work on exhibit in the gallery.

Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, Features Works by Leah Mulligan Cabinum and Sean Mueller

In celebration of the 2017 UCI BMX World Championships, the Arts Council of York County hosts reCYCLE, featuring works by Leah Mulligan Cabinum and Sean Mueller, on view in the Dalton Gallery, at the Center for the Arts, in Rock Hill, SC, on view through July 30, 2017.

Carbon and metal frames begin to lose their identity as they are twisted and stacked. Gears and chains are pieced and welded together to create three-dimensional spheres. Wheels no longer grip the dirt, rather one finds them rotating from above. In their work, both Leah Mulligan Cabinum and Sean Mueller repurpose found objects, often bike parts – gears, valve stems, inner tubes, tires, bike chains, as well as the frames themselves, manipulating them to create sculptural installations.

The works in this exhibition by Leah Mulligan Cabinum are intended to mimic life's cyclical nature. Phases ranging from youth through maturity and the journey through these phases are referenced and aligned to environmental cycles such as those of the moon, flora, and reproduction. To some degree, everything is synchronous. Like a circle, everything loops, resonates and repeats. Naturally, one's perspective may shift, obscuring the connections from those who are less curious. The universality of our own evolution eventually may become apparent to each of us, and however subtly, becomes personal.

Cabinum is an artist living in the rural countryside of upstate South Carolina. She received her Master of Fine Arts from Winthrop University and Bachelor of Fine Arts from the University of Georgia. Cabinum was born in Athens, GA, where she grew up. Her work has been exhibited nationally at the Stone Quarry Hill Art Park, Spartanburg Art Museum and Marin MOCA. Recently, she received the honor of a commissioned public works for Artista

"tube, and round II" by Leah Mulligan Cabinum Vista, in Columbia, SC, and for the City of Rock Hill where her work, thead, is installed on the exterior wall of Swim, Bike, & Run. Cabinum is currently creating art and enjoying her family.

Sean Mueller bridges the gap between what is real and imaginary, relying heavily on intuition, material, and experimentation. His work explores material and object value by collecting, decontextualizing, and reconstructing refuse as sculpture. Through seeking out and collecting found objects, he focuses on wanderings without destination, recording the path from memory, and interpreting the experience into visual language. The goal of each wandering is to explore a new environment in an unconventional way, while examining how the experience contributes to the artistic process.

Mueller earned his BFA in sculpture at the College of Charleston. He is currently enrolled in the Fine Arts program at the

Mint Museum Uptown In Charlotte, NC, Offers Exhibit Focused by American Art

Mint Museum Uptown In Charlotte, NC, is presenting State of the Art: Discovering American Art Now, on view through Sept. 3, 2017.

In 2013, representatives from the Crystal Bridges Museum of Art embarked on a coast-to-coast curatorial road trip. Their objective: to discover new and intriguing works of art existing outside of typical metropolitan venues. Former Director Don Bacigalupe and Curator Chad Aligood traveled 100,000 miles and conducted nearly 1,000 studio visits with artists who had been recommended by their colleagues in each state. Their findings formed the basis for State of the Art: Discovering American Art Now, an unprecedented nationwide survey of contemporary American art.

Consisting of approximately 75 remarkable works of art ranging from paintings and drawings to sculpture, photography, video, and installations by 42 artists from every region of the country, State of the Art seeks to de-mystify contemporary American art. Works of art and artists were chosen based on their innovative use of materials, their relevance to modern life, and their deep connections to their communities and present-day issues. In order to further enhance that engagement, The Mint Museum is working directly with a selection of participating artists to offer a wide range of exhibition-related programming.

Work by Bob Trotman

State of the Art: Discovering American

Art Now was organized by Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, Bentonville, AR. Exhibition programs are supported, in part, by the Willard and Pat Walker Charitable Foundation.

This exhibition is presented in Charlotte with the generous support of PNC Financial Services, with additional support from the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation and Young Affiliates of the Mint.

Sumter County Gallery of Art in Sumter, SC, Offers Guild Show

Sumter County Gallery of Art in Sumter, SC, will present the 2017 Sumter Artists' Guild Show, on view through Aug. 22, 2017.

It is no secret that Sumter is home to many talented artists working in all mediums. The Sumter Artists Guild was founded in 1966 by some of Sumter's most prominent artists. Its membership includes amateur, professional artists and art enthusiasts. Its mission is "to promote, support and foster interest in art and to create an opportunity for our community of artists to engage in cooperative artistic enterprises and to be further active in supporting a variety of activities associated with art education, art instruction and art appreciation in our community."

The Guild has more than succeeded in its mission. In August of 1966, the Guild held its first exhibition in the basement of the Sumter County Courthouse. The Guild was instrumental in founding the Sumter County Gallery of Art.

The Guild holds monthly meetings upstairs at the Sumter County Gallery of Art, September through May. Guild meetings are interesting and lively and include artist demonstrations, lectures, "show and tell" and fellowship. The Guild also hosts an annual Christmas party, a May Picnic and partners with the Sumter County Gallery of Art for the annual Holiday Mart the first Saturday in December. You can keep up with Guild happenings by following the Sumter Artists' Guild on Facebook.

Outgoing Guild president Michael Duffy and a core group, including Carole Carberry, Laura Cardello, Vicki Hagner, work hard to maintain the energy and enthusiasm of the Guild. And their efforts have paid off - in recent years Guild has attracted many "new" and younger artists. Incoming Guild President, Michael Broadway has lots of energy and new ideas.

Karen Watson, Director of the Sumter Page 16 - Carolina Arts, July 2017

Work by Taylor Mitchum

County Gallery of Art notes that the Sumter Artists' Guild Show is the most popular and well-attended exhibition the gallery presents. Last year's exhibition was attended by over 200 people! The influx of work by new artists, coupled with the high quality work by long time guild artists results in a fresh and diverse Sumter Artists' Guild Show - a treat for art lovers in Sumter and surrounding areas. The Guild Show is a "judged" show, not a juried show, so every piece of artwork entered will be displayed. This will be the fourth year for the popular Peoples' Choice Award. The Sumter Artists' Guild Show also provides a great opportunity to purchase high-quality art at reasonable prices.

The Guild is excited to have Virginia Scotchie, a ceramic artist and head of ceramics at the University of South Carolina in Columbia, SC, as their judge. She holds a BFA in ceramics from UNC-Chapel Hill and an MFA from Alfred University in NY. Scotchie works in sculptural ceramics. Each form is surfaced with a textured glaze using stains and oxides for vibrant color. The forms - bulbous, pointed, cylindrical can be light and whimsical, or heavy and forbidding.

ing. Scotchie exhibits her work extensively throughout the US and abroad, and has received numerous awards. She has been an Artist in Residence in Taiwan, Italy, Australia and the Netherlands. Public commissions include the Trinity Building in downtown Charlotte, NC. Her clay forms reside in many public and private collections and her work is regularly written about in prestigious ceramic publications.

Scotchie offers the following artist statement: "The idea of taking from one object and connecting it to another through the dissection of parts and pieces is a foundation of my recent work in ceramic sculpture. My studio practice is an on-going visual investigation of ordinary man-made and natural objects that possess an odd quirkiness that pulls me to them. In some cases I do not know the object's purpose, function or where it may have originated. This allows me to see the object in a clearer light. My studio started as a place to make and store finished pieces, but has become a way to exhibit art as I see it; a progression of creation dependent on each individual piece, separate and together as a whole, to bring a viewer a higher understanding of the artist and their working habits".

Work by Carole Carberry

As with all of the exhibitions at the Sumter County Gallery of Art, this is a true community effort - especially since this show features all local artists. This would not have been possible without the support of The Heart of Sumter Neighborhood Association, First Citizens, Black River Electric Cooperative, Zaxby's and Susan and Jim Allen.

This is the second year that the Heart of Sumter Neighborhood Association has sponsored the Guild show. It is consistent with HSN's mission to support happenings jects. ReTooled also celebrates construction workers at their jobs, corner hardware stores, and the formal beauty of tools.

This exhibition gives us a chance to explore rarely seen works from a decade-sized slice of the CMA's collection of contemporary art. That '70s Show draws on the amusing nostalgia for the "decade that taste forgot," while showing a complicated portrait of art, current events, and identity in America.

In contemporary art, the lingering effects of hard-edge modernism rubbed elbows with the messiness of tie-dye while pop art's consumerist legacy existed alongside the simplicity movement. It was a time that claimed equal rights for all people and all forms of artmaking, from collage to op art. This exhibition is both a meaningful examination of art and history and a light and fun summer viewing experience.

The Columbia Museum of Art is among the leading art institutions in the country. In our 25+ galleries, you'll find art that spans 5,000 years of history and all areas of the globe. Our Wells Fargo Interactive Education Gallery is always free for children and families. Established in 1950, we now welcome and reach more than 150,000 people a year. We have re-

Southern Highland Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, Features Works by Haywood Community College Students

The Southern Highland Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, is presenting Haywood Graduate Show: Class of 2017, featuring works by 19 students from Haywood Community College's Professional Crafts Program graduate class of 2017, on view at The Folk Art Center, through Sept. 24, 2017.

With a 36-piece exhibit, featuring 19 students, the show continues the historical relationship between the Southern Highland Craft Guild and Haywood, an educational center member of the Guild.

This year's class is representing works from clay, fiber, jewelry and wood mediums. The main gallery of the Folk Art Center is adorned with hanging tapestries, lost-wax cast bees, decorative dinnerware, and wooden hutches, soon to be heirlooms for one's home. Students of the Haywood program come from all over, with or without prior experience of craft, and sometimes pursuing it as a second or third career. The course of study is challenging, combining craft concentrations with supplemental classes in design, drawing, craft history, business, marketing and photography.

Haywood Community College and the Southern Highland Craft Guild share a history that documents the role of craft education in preserving traditional culture, creating economic opportunity and fostering professional practice. All of the artists represent the vitality and creativity of craft practice today, which is the ultimate purpose of both institutions.

Many Haywood graduates have become individual members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and have served the Guild in various capacities. Instructor Brian Wurst of the Professional Crafts Wood program says, "Our students benefit so much from the opportunities that the Guild offers its education partners, and we in turn are thrilled when they grow into active participants themselves and continue that tradition of giving back. The Graduate Show spotlights the program's best work, and it's a delight to see it so well displayed and in such a beautiful venue as the Folk Art Center."

Haywood Community College is located in Clyde, NC., just west of Asheville. The college's Professional Crafts Program began in recognition of the region's strong craft heritage. It was envisioned that students would learn the basics of craft media and how to transform that craft into a business. The clay studio was the first to open in 1974. With the addition of jewelry, wood and fiber studios, a comprehensive curriculum was in place by 1977.

established in 1930 to cultivate the crafts and makers of the Southern Highlands for the purpose of shared resources, education, marketing and conservation. The Southern Highland Craft Guild is an authorized concessioner of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior. The Folk Art Center is located at Milepost 382 of the Blue Ridge Parkway, just north of the Highway 70 entrance in east Asheville, NC.

Woolworth Walk in Asheville, NC, Offers Works by Eric Cunningham

Woolworth Walk in Asheville, NC, will present Appalachian Disasterpiece, featuring works by Eric Cunningham, on view in the FW Gallery, from July 1 - 30, 2017. A reception will be held on July 7, from 5-7pm.

Cunningham who produces his art under the moniker Erikus Maximus, has lived in the Appalachian Mountains of the Bristol Tennessee/Virginia area his entire life. He started his artistic journey at a very young age when he first picked up a pencil. As Cunningham states it, "I was the young kid who drew on the walls, on my school books, in bathroom stalls...any place that had a flat clean surface fell victim to my vandalism." "I have always been a fan of southern inspired themes, the people, the heritage, the customs, and the weirdness that makes our area unique.

I consider my current style of art a cross between Americana/Folk/Pop that I call Appalachian Disasterpieces. I am a self-taught mixed media artist, creating art out of recycled materials and anything I can get my hands on such as plywood, bottle caps, license plates, electronic components and/or any other junk that catches my eye."

Not only does Cunningham have a plethora of fans in the Appalachia region, his collector base includes folk art enthusiasts and galleries throughout the nation and several different countries. Recently he was honored to be one of the artists featured in the book "When the Spirit Speaks: Self-Taught Art of the South" by Margaret Day Allen. The book introduces the reader to 32 up and coming self-taught artists in the Southeastern United States.

Asheville Gallery of Art in Asheville, NC, Offers Works by Cheryl Keefer

Asheville Gallery of Art in Asheville, NC, will present Cheryl Keefer New Works: Something to Celebrate, on view from July 1 - 31, 2017. A reception will be held on July 7, from 5-8pm.

Keefer's signature impressionist style interprets moody landscapes as well as urban scenes. The artist enjoys oil painting en plein air, whether on a mountainside or along a marsh. She is often inspired to listen to that still small voice that speaks to her, sometimes quietly, filling her with awe and gratitude, and moving her to create. Simple ideas become visual expressions of her personal epiphanies: morning light glistening on a wooded stream, a sunset punctuating a cloudy sky, fresh spring blossoms highlighting an otherwise gray day, a red umbrella piercing through the rain.

In a loud world full of so many inconsistencies, Keefer says she finds wonder and joy in the rhythmic cycles of life on earth, celebrating all seasons in all kinds of weather and times of day. Each composition reflects her endeavor to rejoice everyday, and her hope in the wondrousness of creation. "Momentous occasions of life are few and far between so I want the viewer to see cause for celebration, even in the rain."

The artist holds degrees in art history and art education from The University of Alabama, Birmingham, and graduate painting from Virginia Commonwealth University. She enjoys working and visiting with clients and friends in her studio, NorthLight, in Asheville's River Arts District.

Keefer's work, as well as the paintings of the other 30 gallery members will be on display and for sale through the month of July.

Groewood Gallery in Asheville, NC, Offers Works by Shawn Krueger

Groewood Gallery in Asheville, NC, will present Southern Migrations: Five Years in Asheville, a solo exhibition of contemporary landscape paintings by Michigan-based artist Shawn Krueger, on view from July 15 through Aug. 20, 2017. A reception will be held on July 15, from 2-5pm.

Krueger is a painter whose work sits comfortably in both the American Arts and Crafts and Tonalism movements. Traditional methods and an awareness of history are important to the artist. Krueger says "I consider myself a contemporary artist, by virtue of having breath and a pulse in the year 2017, but my approach to the work definitely hearkens back to Barbizon, to the Hudson River School and even the Dutch Masters."

Krueger has been quietly becoming a fixture in the Asheville art scene...which

is rather remarkable given that the artist lives in Grand Rapids, MI. He says, "I've been making pilgrimages to Asheville for five years now, either to deliver work to a gallery or specifically to paint. It's in my blood now." Mood and a sense of place are the focus for Krueger in his paintings, and the majority of his pieces for this exhibition were begun outdoors, on-site in the Asheville area.

When asked what draws him to Western North Carolina, Krueger says, "It's obviously beautiful here and I'm a painter who thrives on creating a mood and a sense of mystery in my work. In the Midwest, one generally has to coax this out of a scene. Here, you have such depth and moodiness to your landscape as is, and I'm able to concentrate on what's before me, rather than think about it as something I might want to try and improve upon."

Krueger also showcases his work at the annual National Arts and Crafts Conference each February at the Omni Grove Park Inn and is a member of the Roycroft Artisan Guild.

Established in 1992, Groewood Gallery showcases American-made art and craft by more than 400 artists from across the United

Penland School of Crafts in Penland, NC, Offers Exhibition of Contemporary Ceramics

Penland School of Crafts in Penland, NC, is presenting Within the Margins: Contemporary Ceramics, an exhibition curated by Steven Young Lee, on view in the John and Robyn Horn Gallery, through July 16, 2017.

Seventeen artists are represented in the exhibition with mostly narrative ceramic sculpture in a wide range of forms and styles. The group of artists is quite varied in terms of their cultural backgrounds and personal histories, and this is reflected in the content of the work.

Shalene Valenzuela, for example, says of her bright-colored earthenware and porcelain sculptures, "My narratives explore topics ranging from fairytales, urban mythologies, consumer culture, societal expectations, etiquette, and coming-of-age issues." Sculptor Sunkoo Yuh makes complex pieces that are often groupings of forms including plants, animals, fish, and human figures. He describes his process this way: "I draw images intuitively and spontaneously with ink and brush. I study my drawings and select a few to transform into three-dimensional clay sculptures. My work expresses my inner emotions, communications about life, and directly draws from mundane experiences."

Curator Steven Young Lee is the resident artist director of the Archie Bray Foundation for the Ceramic Arts in Helena, Montana. He has lectured extensively in North America and Asia including at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. His work was recently featured as part of Visions and Revisions: Renwick Invitational 2016 at the Renwick Gallery of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, DC. In describing his intent for the exhibition, Lee said, "The exhibition includes artists who, while residing within one set of perceived margins or another, are working from within to expand or redefine those boundaries, ultimately shifting the lines of ethnicity, race, gender, sexuality, cultural identity, or material association. Each artist is articulating a world view, and the most important aspect of their work is the sincerity of their investigation and quality of their execution. The title, Within the Margins, recognizes that while boundaries do exist, the mere fact of their existence invites—if not demands—that they be confronted, challenged and reshaped."

Also on view, in the Focus Gallery, is a small-format exhibition of functional ceramics by Holly Walker. She specializes in handbuilt earthenware and approaches the surfaces of her pots as a painter, brushing colored slips over the clay surface and then layering them with multiple glazes. This exhibition is titled Abecedarium/Envisioned because it includes an installation of twenty-six plates whose designs are inspired by the letters of the alphabet.

Roberto Lugo, Basquiat and Celia Teapot, porcelain, slip, china paint, luster

The Visitors Center Gallery has an ongoing display of objects that illuminate the history of Penland School, while the Lucy Morgan Gallery presents a selection of work by dozens of Penland-affiliated artists. On display outside the Penland Gallery is a monumental steel sculpture by Hoss Haley.

The Penland Gallery and Visitors Center is located at Penland School of Crafts on Conley Ridge Road, just off Penland Road in Mitchell County (near the town of Spruce Pine). It is the first building on your right as you enter the Penland campus. Penland School of Crafts is an international center for craft education dedicated to helping people live creative lives. Located in Western North Carolina, Penland offers workshops in books and paper, clay, drawing and painting, glass, iron, metals, printmaking and letterpress, photography, textiles, and wood. The school also sponsors artists' residencies, an outreach program, and a gallery and visitors center. Penland is a nonprofit, tax-exempt institution which receives support from the North Carolina Arts Council, an agency funded by the State

Mica in Bakersville, NC, Offers Group Show Focused on Birds

Mica in Bakersville, NC, will present Flights of Fancy, a richly varied visual celebration of birds, birds and more birds in honor of the only creature that truly takes flight, on view from July 27 through Oct. 15, 2017. A reception will be held on July 29, from 5 to 8pm.

Birds are age-old symbols of freedom and power, and in this exhibition artists interpret these qualities both mythically and realistically in works they have created especially for this exciting show. Mica, a cooperative gallery, invites guest artists Josh Cote, with wire sculpture; Elizabeth Brim, working in iron; Shane Fero, glass artist; and Mary Webster, a painter; to render pieces that uniquely illuminate and celebrate our planet's winged creatures. Cote's sculptural process treats wire as if a 3-dimensional line drawing to complete surreal and whimsical imagery. His portrayal of mystical expression in our feathered friends, as in all of his animal imagery, is apparent. Cote's work encourages innocence and humor, and allows the viewer to unwittingly embrace negative space, or the space between lines. Cote who shows his work internationally, is a self-described gypsy of sorts who recently settled in Bakersville, NC.

Brim and Fero bring together glass and metal to create pristine and delicate sculptures that clearly speak to the show's title. The ethereal quality and rich colors of Fero's glass birds atop Brim's delicate metal branches is a sublime collaboration; allows one to simply hear the song and prepare for the bird's flight. Brim received her MFA from University of Georgia and is a past iron studio coordinator from Penland School of Crafts. Fero has 47 years experience as a glass flameworker. He teaches and exhibits internationally, and has been honored with three retrospectives of his work. Brim and Fero are both residents of Penland, NC.

Webster's intricate and stirring paintings of birds and their nests are a departure from her mural painting. A more personal interpretation through her still-life visual, these paintings reflect her interest in the natural world and vast experience in traditional painting techniques. Webster received a MFA from the Museum of Fine Arts and Tufts University in Boston. She recently migrated to Asheville from Cape Cod.

Blowing Rock Art and History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, Features Works by Lillian Trettin and Linda Elksnin

The Blowing Rock Art and History Museum in Blowing Rock, NC, is presenting From the Mountains to the Sea, an exhibit featuring the cut paper collages and paper cut works of Lillian Trettin of Jonas Ridge and the mixed-media paintings of Linda Elksnin of Vilas, on view in the Alexander Community Gallery, through July 23, 2017.

The artists divide their time between the High Country and the Low Country of South Carolina and works in the exhibition reflect both environments.

Lillian Trettin's work reflects her experiences living in the Carolinas and East Tennessee, where she grew up. She creates figurative collages by piecing cut-paper shapes together like a jigsaw puzzle. She begins by drawing caricatures and sometimes writing stories about them as an aid to developing more complicated works. Characterized by dark humor in bright colors, the collages and cut-paper works are inspired by folklore of Appalachia and the Low Country of South Carolina, Southern literature, the art of Romare Bearden, and family history.

Work by Linda Elksnin

Linda Elksnin creates mixed-media paintings by layering watercolor and gouache on a painted background, then building up color and texture with colored pencils or pastels. Her inspiration comes from textiles, folk artists, and mainstream artists such as Mark Rothko, Romare Bearden, and Marc Chagall. Works from her Mola, Moon People, and Eco series will be featured in this exhibition.

Shortly after earning a BFA from Syracuse University, Elksnin's career path took a different turn when she taught art to children with disabilities. After earning master's and doctoral degrees in special education from the University of Virginia, Elksnin moved to Charleston to coordinate the Graduate Special Education Program at The Citadel. She retired as Professor Emerita in 2007 and returned to painting full time. Her work has been shown throughout the southeast in public and private galleries, museums, and at juried art shows.

For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call the Museum at 828/295-9099 or visit (www.blowing-rockmuseum.org).

Work by Lillian Trettin

In 2011, Trettin returned to making art full time following a career in higher education as a teacher, researcher, and consultant and after raising two sons. She remains convinced the delay enriched rather than impeded her growth as an artist. Trettin has exhibited in museums, collages, libraries, and public galleries throughout the south-east.

Eberle, Kiki Farish, Jane Wells Harrison, and Jerry Jackson. Each has a story to tell about their relationship with master painting professor, Paul Hartley who died in 2010. Hartley taught at East Carolina University from the early to mid '70s through 2008. Not unlike hundreds of other successful artists around the country, these four artists benefited from his artistry. Jackson reflected that "He was a masterful teacher who possessed clarity of insight, which he could impart with few words...a teacher, mentor and friend."

Work by Jill Eberle

In January 2016, Eberle, Farish, Wells Harrison, and Jackson reunited for two weeks in a Winter Residency at Penland School of Crafts. They spent uninterrupted hours connecting, creating and conducting critiques, which gave light to new ways of work, new materials, fresh ideas, and a welcomed realignment of friendships. In this exhibit, each artist will present a distinct body of work that includes influences from that Penland residency and their relationship with their former teacher. Their broad range of media and styles will engage visitors as they explore their common threads.

Over the past ten plus years, the four have grown as artists and friends. They now live in different parts of the state, doing different work in the arts, but each will acknowledge the commonality of being that Hartley instilled in all his students. Lee Hansley, Raleigh, NC, art dealer who represented Hartley said, "He has influenced more young artists than anyone in North Carolina's university system. That will be his legacy..."

The exhibition will include one of Paul Hartley's large-scale paintings, My Room is Turning.

group of sixteen artists have created in the last decade. Encaustic, oil on panel, ceramic, jewelry, sculpture, photography and more grace the walls and floors of the gallery in this exciting show and the work reflects well on this cooperative effort.

The ArtBomb Studio is an informal organization of dedicated, professional artists in West Greenville, SC. In 2000, they joined forces to work under one roof in individual studios. That roof covers a large brick building at 1320 Pendleton Street, which had once been the general store for families working at the historic Brandon Mills textile company, long out of business.

Work by Jo Carol Mitchell-Rogers

At the ArtBomb, studio life buzzes with 16 artists, each working independently in a variety of disciplines. It is the ideal environment for creativity. Each artist exhibits in many regional galleries and museums, including Art & Light and Greenville County Museum of Art, Greenville; Upstairs Artspace, Tryon; and Eastside 64, Cashiers. Some show in venues in Columbia, Atlanta, Charlotte and beyond. Most are in private and corporate collections.

Carolina Creations in New Bern, NC, Features Works by Nancy McClure

Carolina Creations in New Bern, NC, will present Summer Solace, featuring painting by Raleigh, NC, artist Nancy McClure, on view from July 1 through Aug. 31, 2017. A reception will be held on July 14, from 5-8pm, during the downtown Art Walk.

Nancy C. McClure is a contemporary North Carolina artist painting in oils and acrylics. She has always been involved in the arts from a young age and then formally through her education. After graduating from Syracuse University with a Bachelors in Merchandising, she went to Georgia State to pursue a degree in Studio Art.

McClure relocated to Raleigh, where she met her co-owner of ArtSource Fine Art gallery. She has been surrounded by art for over three decades and decided to pursue her own love of painting with an impressionist style. Most of her imagery is related to the coast and southern landscapes. She also enjoys painting large scale abstracts as well as still lifes from life.

McClure's love of the outdoors and especially the beach, where she spends her weekends, is seen in much of her imagery. She is inspired by the early morning light and late afternoon light creating shadow seen in her landscapes. McClure works from her own photographs for inspiration,

The Craven Arts Council in New Bern, NC, will present two new exhibits including: an exhibit of photography by local artist Chuck Colucchi, on view in the Director's Gallery, at the Bank of the Arts, from July 1 - 31, 2017, and Summer Session, an exhibition of works by five professional artists and professors at East Carolina University, on view in the Main Gallery at the Bank of the Arts, from July 4 through Aug. 26, 2017. A reception for both exhibits will be held on July 14, from 5-8pm, during the downtown Art Walk.

Colucchi is an award winning local photographer whose work includes scenes from across the United States and around the world.

An avid outdoorsman, Colucchi's work focuses primarily on wildlife and nature photography. His shots include scenes from North Carolina, New England, Arizona, and Michigan, as well as Italy and Germany. Speaking about his work, Colucchi says, "No matter what type of photographer you want to be, we are really looking for the same thing. We want to create images that express what we see, feel and experience in the world around us. We want to create images that help us remember the present after it long slips away into the past. emotions.” Colucchi started his photography in 1976, and became a professional photographer in 1994. He served in the United States Air Force before coming to New Bern. He has had photos published in the International Library of Photography, Nature Photography Magazine, as well as calendars, greeting cards, and other publications and annual reports.

Craven Arts Council is proud to present Summer Session, an exhibition by five professional artists and professors at East Carolina University in their chosen mediums: Hanna Jubran, sculpture; Robin Haller, textile design; Scott Egan, printmaking; Jodi Hollnagel, sculpture; and Heather Muise, printmaking. This exhibit highlights their commitment to continuing to create and exhibit their work, despite the stress and rigors of teaching full time. Each of the artists are experts in their chosen fields, exhibiting work locally, regionally, and nationally.

Jubran is the head of the Sculpture Department at ECU. His work addresses the concepts of time, movement, balance, and space. Heather Muise draws from alchemical texts, Russian tattoos, tarot, and arcane symbols to deal with the concept of change, intentional or otherwise. She serves as an Instructor in Printmaking and Foundations at ECU, and has worked at the American University in Dubai. Jodi Hollnagel's work expresses her concepts and ideas on life, family, and current concerns of society. She has served as a visiting artist and associate professor at ECU since 1998. Matt Egan, head of the ECU Printmaking Department, seeks to create a narrative language about spectacular events in the real world. Robin Haller combines digital and traditional weaving techniques to create woven works that serve as abstract visual representations of her personal life and experiences. She is currently the head of the Textile Design Department at ECU.

Fine Art at Baxters in New Bern, NC, Offers Works by GeeVee Meyer

Fine Art at Baxters in New Bern, NC, will present Open Box, featuring works by GeeVee Meyer, on view from July 14 through Aug. 30, 2017. A reception will be held on July 14, from 5-8pm, during the downtown Art Walk.

Always curious about the human figure, in this series of work Open Box, Meyer wanted to experiment with how the quality of light interacts with the human figure; texture of skin, tightness of muscles, angles of arms, legs, shoulders and head in confined and different contorted positions.

The box is a frame, the traditional way of thinking of a unique situation. By thinking “Out of the Box” Meyer focuses on the challenge of light, looking at it from various angles with novel and creative thinking.

Trying different angles and numerous numbers as well as types of lights, she had the 6' tall model pose inside a wooden 2'x5' box that minimizes down to a 2'x2' space. Horizontal angles of light just peeping into the box accentuated the figure the best. The contrast and value of the shadows against the texture of the skin helped pop the figure. After an initial drawing, she followed the process with a preliminary underpainting based on many reference photos. The final paintings were completed in short live model poses. She rendered the figure through a traditional method in oils and in dry media (graphite, colored pencils, charcoal) accentuated with washes.

Meyer moved to New Bern with her family in 2010. She grew up in the Philippines and moved to the United States in her early 20s. Though self-taught for many years, she has also attended workshops led by internationally renowned artists in France, Italy, Japan, and throughout the United States.

Burroughs - Chapin Art Museum in Myrtle Beach, SC, Features Two Exhibitions Focused on Food

The Franklin G. Burroughs - Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum in Myrtle Beach, SC, is presenting two exhibits focused on food including an exhibit of works by local photographer Brant Barrett, on view through Sept. 17, 2017, and Feast Your Eyes - Celebrating the Food of the South, featuring works by a variety of artists, on view through Sept. 17, 2017.

Barrett hits the road to highlight the Grand Strand's food scene in unexpected ways not always observed by the millions of tourists who come annually for the area's pristine beaches. With well over 1,800 restaurants (Huffington Post cited us as one of the US's top 15 “restaurant-crazy cities” a few years back), the Strand's food scene may seem obvious, but a deeper look uncovers the alternative food venues familiar chiefly to locals, like church gatherings, family reunions, mom-and-pop cafes, produce stands, farmers' markets, country stores, backwoods bars and signature food festivals. Barrett's lens will reveal definitive images that speak to our sense of taste, as well as our sense of place.

Feast Your Eyes will explore our culinary heritage as nourishment and beyond: a form of cultural, political and artistic expression; an enduring source of comfort; sometimes an object of obsession; perhaps a symbol of class, race or gender...and always a cause for celebration. Food and beverage icons, peculiar and particular to the South, will be examined with works in an expansive variety of two and three-dimensional media, including paintings in oil and watercolor; works in pastel; printmaking; photography; sculptures in ceramics, metal, wood and mixed media; textile and fiber arts, and functional art such as handcrafted dining furniture and serving ware. These objects will invite viewers to explore the confluence of the three distinct foodways (Native American, African and European) which have converged over time and place to form our unique cuisine, originally one of survival, now exalted for its honesty, comfort and generosity.

The exhibit will bring together painters and sculptors of startling realism; artists working larger than life and those working much smaller; some who are exploring the politics, psychology and humor in the food of the South; others who work with unexpected materials, and those who seek to help us “gather at the table” in an artful way. You're sure to enjoy every course of this mouth-watering, provocative and evocative exhibition.

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, Features Works by Nell Chandler, Ali Givens, and Michele Yellin

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, will present Serious Fun, featuring jewelry by Nell Chandler, fiber art by Ali Givens, and paintings by Michele Yellin, on view from July 24 through Aug. 20, 2017. A reception will be held on July 28, from 6-9pm.

Nell Chandler writes, "For our show Serious Fun I have created some of my narrative jewelry about relationships, spirituality and just life. I have also made some of my more abstract pieces that have a tailored look. I always enjoy reaching back to my previous techniques and jewelry lines for inspiration, but this year feels different. I find the challenges of the world today burdening my heart. As a reaction to this heaviness, I find myself in the studio making pieces that are more lighthearted and happy."

Chandler continues, "Serious Fun definitely means something different to me today than when we chose our title last year. The title is both lighthearted and heavy, happy and sad. I now see these two words more as opposites. For this show I find myself creating pieces that are fun, but at the same time solid."

Work by Michelle Yellin

Painter and assemblage artist, Michele Yellin, often begins her work by placing a quote in the underpainting as way to start the process. Color is the language she uses with great boldness to say the things that cannot be expressed in words. As she layers the canvas with color she finds that figures and shapes begin to emerge. Much like a writer developing a cast of characters, she lets these shapes and figures tell her who they are. Yellin moves from philosophical to playful with deftness and a strong sense of her own artistic voice.

Yellin writes, "For Serious Fun I have created vibrant paintings and wooden folk art using texture, layers of color, and line. With these elements, I am exploring the reality that is inside the reality we see."

Fabric artist Ali Givens writes, "For Serious Fun I've worked on refining several fabric collages that I began years ago. For some pieces, such as "Orange Peacock" I

removed one element, the peacock, from the original quilt and built an entirely new composition. In another work, "Long Afternoon" I simplified the colors to create a completely new feeling. I've also revisited my favorite theme for other new work: the still life. Especially fun and challenging for me was incorporating my own interpretations of my fellow artists' paintings and pottery as elements in my own collages. Being inspired by my friends is always the most fun, serious fun."

FRANK Gallery in Chapel Hill, NC, Features Two New Exhibitions

FRANK Gallery in Chapel Hill, NC, will present two new exhibits including: The Elegant Line, featuring works by Sudie Rakusin and Susan Filley, on view from July 11 through Aug. 5, 2017, and the Annular Consignor Invitational, featuring works by six artists who share a sense of whimsy and color, on view from July 11 through Aug. 5, 2017. A reception will be held on July 14, from 6-9pm for both exhibits.

"One must always search for the desire of the line, where it wishes to enter or where to die away." - Henri Matisse

Humbly and respectfully, there is always the search for that elusive, elegant line. The authentic line that contains integrity and grace. What is its imposing width or gossamer thinness? Its angle and curve? Its placement on a surface or its fluidity in space? And where does the line end, after-all? The line is worked until it says to leave it be. FRANK presents The Elegant Line, featuring Sudie Rakusin and Susan Filley. Rakusin celebrates line in her mixed-media abstract works; Filley creates graceful forms in clay.

Sudie Rakusin's latest work employs cold wax and oil on board; her abstract works are filled with color, texture and movement that are dominated by lines. Using a palette knife, she builds up thick textures, piling color upon color and then cutting through it all with line work. The result is a body of work that Rakusin believes to capture a feeling of exploration and a love of the line.

Susan Filley's ceramics have an unmistakable elegance to their forms. Her pieces are created with porcelain, a wonderfully rich clay with beautiful surface qualities. Filley's glazes create a stunning depth and brilliance on the finished pieces, while her gestural sense of line and fluid shapes give her work a sophistication and beauty.

Also featured in July, six artists who share a sense of whimsy and color in their individual bodies of work. The artists whose work will be showcased at FRANK this month include ceramicists Carmen Elliott and Cathy Kiffney, textile artist Elaine O'Neil, painters Henryk Fantazos, Anne Gregory and Rosie Thompson, and jeweler Rebecca Neigher. These Triangle based artists share some line, color and stylistic qualities, but overall were chosen as exceptional examples of the rich local artistic community. Each artist will be presenting a small body of work, showcasing their personal points of view and distinct, elevated level of skill and creativity.

The artists from the Elegant Line and Consignor Invitational exhibitions will be hosting an Artist Talk on July 20, beginning at 6pm. This will be an exclusive opportunity to learn more about why these artists create, and get some behind-the-scenes details about processes and materials.

Work by Reiko Miyagi

Cedar Creek Gallery in Creedmoor, NC, is presenting National Teapot Show X, on view through Sept. 5, 2017. The gallery has hosted this show every three years for the past twenty-six years. Although every show is special in its own right, this year's showing is especially significant as it leads into the 50th anniversary of the gallery. Marking the first kiln opening in 1968 this upcoming fall, we will be celebrating five decades of creating, showcasing and supporting fine craft. Florence County Museum in Florence, SC, is presenting EVIDENCE: The Art of Terry Jarrard-Dimond, 1987-2017, on view in the museum's Special Exhibits Gallery, through Dec. 3, 2017. Jarrard-Dimond's first academic exposure to fine art came while attending painting and drawing classes at the Winthrop College. It was then that she began to notice a distinct difference between her approach to creating art and

"Joy and Sorrow", by Terry Jarrard-Dimond, textile construction (hand-dyed cotton, machine stitched), 2008, 60" x 40" that of her classmates. Over the past thirty years, Jarrard-Dimond's use of overlapping marks, layered materials, and literal woven elements, has explored continuous themes of interconnectedness. The artworks on exhibit will include early sculptural works which utilize found objects in conjunction with constructed forms, as well as Jarrard-Dimond's later explorations in large scale geometric compositions using hand-dyed, contemporary textiles. Finally the exhibition will look at several works from her more recent two-dimensional experiments with hot wax encaustic and paint. For further information call the Museum at 843/676-1200 or visit (www.flocomuseum.org).

Work by Tom Stanley

Halsey Institute of Contemporary Art. The Marion and Wayland H. Cato Jr. Center for the Arts, College of Charleston School of the Arts, 161 Calhoun St., Charleston. Through July 8 - "Tom Stanley: Scratching the Surface". Over the past several decades, Tom Stanley has utilized sgraffito as a significant component of his abstract paintings. Popular in the Italian Renaissance of the 15th and 16th centuries, sgraffito refers to the practice of scratching a layer of paint to reveal a contrasting layer beneath it. In his geometric abstractions, the sgraffito adds an inherently expressive quality, creating a contrast between the frenzied scratching and his clinically precise lines and forms. His works also explore the history of painting techniques: beyond sgraffito, his works often contain drips of paint evoking Abstract Expressionism, and his expressive lines recall Surrealist automatic drawing. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 11am-4pm and open till 7pm on Thurs. Contact: Mark Sloan at 843/953-4422 or at (www.halsey.cofc.edu).

Saul Alexander Foundation Gallery, Charleston County Public Library, 68 Calhoun St., Charleston. July 1 - 31 - "Seven Plus One," featuring works by Beth Melton-Seabrook. "The exhibit honors my past and helps me to explore future potential. Raised in the South Carolina Lowcountry, I protract conventional, costal images upon the unconventional surface of salvaged and repurposed materials. I thrive on combining ordinary objects with the natural beauty of coastal wildlife," say Melton-Seabrook. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 9am-8pm; Fri. & Sat., 9am-6pm; and Sun. 2-5pm. Contact: Frances Richardson at 843/805-6803 or at (www.ccpil.org).

The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Charleston Museum's Lowcountry Image Gallery, Through Oct. 2 - "Forces of Nature: Charleston in the Aftermath," an exhibit curated by Archivist and Collections Manager, Jennifer McCormick. Many meteorological and geological forces of nature have impacted Charleston and the surrounding coastal areas over the years. Beginning with the Cyclone of 1885, the featured images will journey through the Earthquake of 1886, the deadly tornadoes of 1938 and the many unnamed storms and hurricanes that have pounded our coastline until Hurricane Hugo in 1989. Ongoing - Featuring the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific collections in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 843/722-2996 or at (www.charlestonmuseum.org).

ALTERNATE ART SPACES - Charleston Ashley River Tower, Public area at Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston. Ongoing - "Contemporary Carolina Collection @ Ashley River Tower," featuring the largest collection of original, contemporary South Carolina art on permanent display, including 885 works by 53 talented artists, sculptors and photographers in South Carolina. Clemson Area

Sikes Hall Showcase, Clemson University, Ground Floor Sikes Hall, 101 Calhoun Drive, Clemson. Through Oct. 4 - "Ink Travels Art Exhibit". "Ink travels" refers to the constant challenge of keeping an active print shop clean. In the context of this exhibition, the term also refers to the wide-reaching influence of Professor Sydney A. Cross's teaching and mentoring. Similar to how "ink travels" this exhibition showcases Cross's legacy as an educator and illustrates the positive impact she has had on artists across the nation. The exhibition is a thoughtful tribute to the quality of Cross's teaching and a reflection on the Clemson Family in the Visual Arts. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8:30am - 4:30pm. Contact: call Denise Woodward-Detrich, Lee Gallery Director at 864/656-3883 or at (<http://www.clemson.edu/centers-institutes/cva/>).

Columbia Area

Columbia Museum of Art, Main & Hampton Streets, Columbia. Through Aug. 27 - "Re-Tooled: Highlights from the Hechinger Collection," an engaging and thought-provoking look at the unexpected subject of tools. From the collection of American hardware-store tycoon John Hechinger, "ReTooled" features more than 40 paintings, sculptures, works on paper, and photographs that provide a dynamic entry point into the rich themes, materials, and processes of 20th-century art. "ReTooled" celebrates the prevalence of tools in our lives with art that offers affectionate, sometimes playful, tributes to tools as functional objects. It profiles 28 visionary artists including major names such as Arman, Richard Estes, Jacob Lawrence, Fernand Léger, and H.C. Westermann; photographers Berenice Abbott, William Eggleston, and Walker Evans; and pop artists Jim Dine, Claes Oldenburg, and James Rosenquist. The exhibition consists of four sections: Objects of Beauty, Material Illusions, Instruments of Satire, and Tools: An Extension of Self. Through Sept. 17 - "That '70s Show," draws on the amusing nostalgia for the "decade that taste forgot," while showing a complicated portrait of art, current events, and identity in America. In contemporary art, the lingering effects of hard-edge modernism rubbed elbows with the messiness of tie-dye while pop art's consumerist legacy existed alongside the simplicity movement. Colleen Guignard Community Gallery, Through Aug. 28 - "Light Beings," featuring a new series of large-scale works from Pakistani artist Sana Arjumand. Steeped in mysticism and spirituality, Arjumand's current body of work focuses on the bird as an energetic being, a symbol suggesting the coexistence of higher dimensions. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the earliest form of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the ancient Romans is represented by 2nd century glass and bronze items and portrait sculpture. Many of these works have not been seen since the Museum moved to its location on Main Street in 1998. The collection has grown over the last several years with the donation of 12 fine Roman sculptures in 2002 from Pennsylvania collector Dr. Robert Y. Turner. Admission: Yes, but there is no admission charge on Sun. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 11am-5pm; first Fri., till 8pm; Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 803/799-2810 or (www.columbiamuseum.org).

McKissick Museum, University of South Carolina, USC Horseshoe, Columbia. 2nd floor, South Gallery, Through July 15 - "A Compass to Guide: South Carolina Cabinetmakers Today". South Carolina has a long history of local cabinetmakers, who worked primarily to supply their surrounding communities with the furniture and implements needed in everyday life. While the industrial revolution saw the transition of much of this work to large, commercial operations, individuals continued to craft furniture distinct to their particular region. A Compass to Guide: South Carolina Cabinetmakers Today will focus on contemporary cabinetmakers, their regional differences and similarities, and explore the roots of their respective traditions. The exhibition will incorporate furniture from cabinetmakers actively practicing in South Carolina, as well as photographs and oral histories, exploring how these artists learned and what motivates them to work with wood as their primary medium. 18th and 19th century examples of South Carolina furniture will be featured, reflecting the importance of historical context to the discussion of contemporary furniture traditions. 2nd floor, North Gallery, Through Aug. 5 - "Scenic Impressions: Southern Interpretations from the Johnson Collection". This exhibit from the Johnson Collection features over forty paintings by native Southerners and painters who travelled to the Southern states between the 1880s and the 1940s. These stunning artworks reflect a moment in American art when a strong interest in Impressionism reinvigorated how artists viewed their environment. Expansive landscapes and tender genre scenes became bathed in light. With a loose, painterly style, the artists of Scenic Impressions used warm colors and a fluidity of form to signal their desire to capture atmospheric transience or a "scenic impression." They strived to evoke an experience, not to simply transcribe the natural world, and produced artworks unparalleled within Columbia Music Festival Association (CMFA), 914 Pulaski Street, Columbia. Ongoing - Fiber and installation artist Susan Lenz has been given a unique opportunity to create new work for a solo exhibition at Waterworks Visual Arts Center in Salisbury, NC, which will be on view from Sept. 9, 2017 through Jan. 3, 2018. The show is called "In Stitches" and will mostly feature works from Lenz's "Stained Glass" and "In Box" fiber series. "Waterworks" executive director, Anne Scott Clement challenged Lenz to approach the 24-foot back wall with a totally different series ... "CIRCLES", a celestial installation of orbs in response to the coming summer's total solar eclipse. In order to successfully create this installation, Lenz needed a large wall on which to hang the "work-in-progress". CMFA graciously provided their venue. Over the coming weeks, Lenz will be regularly adding new circles, standing back to evaluate the size and relationship between the objects, calculate the number of orbs needed, and experimenting with different finishing techniques. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-6pm. For information e-mail to (cmfasc5678@gmail.com), call 803/771-6303 or call Lenz at 803/254-0923 or visit (www.susanlenz.com).

Installation by Susan Lenz

Greenville County Museum of Art, 420 College Street, Greenville. Through Aug. 27 - "Masterworks of Color: African-American Art from the Greenville Collection". More than 50 works are included in this exhibition that explores the viewpoint of African-American artists. The earliest examples are clay vessels made by enslaved potter and poet David Drake along with an 1850 painting View of Asheville, North Carolina by free man of color Robert Duncanson. The exhibition also features works by such 20th-century luminaries as William H. Johnson, Romare Bearden, and Jacob Lawrence. More contemporary highlights include Kara Walker, Carrie Mae Weems, Leo Twigg, Gary Grier, and Jonathan Green. Through Aug. 27 - "Grainger McKoy: Recovery Stroke". Grainger McKoy (born 1947) moved with his family at a young age to Sumter, South Carolina. McKoy attended Clemson University, earning a degree in zoology, while also studying architecture. After graduating, McKoy apprenticed for 18 months with the renowned bird carver Gilbert Maggioni in Beaufort, South Carolina. McKoy initially produced realistic carvings, but slowly began transforming these intricately carved birds into gravity-defying sculptures that played with form and space, while continuing to accurately render each species in detail. His work has been shown at the High Museum of Art, Brandywine River Museum, Brookgreen Gardens, and many other galleries. Through Sept. 10 - "Wyeth Dynasty". Andrew Wyeth (1917 - 2009), regarded as one of the most important American artists of the 20th century, launched his career in 1937 with a sold-out exhibition of his watercolors in New York. On the occasion of the young artist's remarkable debut, his father and mentor, noted illustrator N.C. Wyeth wrote him a congratulatory letter prophesying, "You are headed in the direction that should finally reach the pinnacle in American art." Through Oct. 22 - "Victoria Wyeth: My Andy," offers an intimate look at Andrew Wyeth's world. In celebration of the 100th anniversary of Andrew Wyeth's birthday, the Greenville County Museum of Art presents "Victoria Wyeth: My Andy". Hilton Head Island Area

Art League of Hilton Head Gallery, at the Arts Center of Coastal Carolina, 14 Shelter Cove Lane, Hilton Head Island. Through July 1 - "BrainWaves," featuring works in clay by Sheri Farbstein. "BrainWaves describes the way that I work, always evolving, even as I create a piece. Very much like water, flowing over and under, always moving, the waves go on forever, carrying my ideas," states Farbstein. July 6 - 29 - "5 O'clock Somewhere," featuring an exhibit of new works by Amos Hummel. A reception will be held on July 12, from 5 to 7pm. In his 36 years on Hilton Head, Hummel has worn many hats - or uniforms, as was the case during his 20 years as an island bartender. Now that he is better known as a self-taught artist who appreciates the color and fun in life, he has called upon those earlier experiences for his newest body of work. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact: 843/681-5060 or at (www.artleaguehhi.org).

Hilton Head Regional Healthcare Gallery, Coastal Discovery Museum, at Honey Horn, off Highway 278, across from Gumtree Road, Hilton Head Island. July 1 - Aug. 27 - "Les Bonnes Artistes". "The Good Artists" was founded in 2007 by Doris Shay. The name is something that all artists aspire to; to become a really good artist. The idea was to get a group of women artists together once a month to discuss art, share ideas and techniques, support each other, and improve their art. Soon after, the idea for a group show of their works was discussed and they have been showing at various venues on Hilton Head Island for the last ten years. Ongoing - This beautiful 69-acre site will serve as the Museum's base for programs highlighting the cultural heritage and natural history of the Lowcountry. And, it will provide a signature venue for community events for people of all ages. The opening includes the renovation of a 6,000 sq. foot former hunting retreat, renamed the "Discovery House," containing the Museum's new interactive exhibits, temporary gallery space and community meeting rooms. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-4:30pm & Sun., 11am-3pm. Contact: 843-689-6767 ext. 224 or at (www.coastaldiscovery.org).

Lancaster

The Bradley Gallery, James A. Bradley Arts and Sciences Building, USC-Lancaster, 476 Hubbard Dr., Lancaster. Through July 7 - "The Many Faces of Me," a journey of growth through education and culture features the writing and artwork of Beckee Garris. USC Lancaster Native American Studies Center, 119 South Main Street, Lancaster. Duke Energy Gallery, Through Mar. 1, 2018 - "Piedmont American Indian Association's Tribal Exhibit". Members of the Piedmont American Indian Association - Lower Eastern Cherokee Nation of South Carolina have put together an exhibit that represents their tribe, history, and culture. Curated by Chief Gene Norris and Victoria Norris, this exhibit is the second at the Center to be curated by one of the South Carolina tribes. Rose Gallery, Through Feb. 1, 2018 - "Clay Pit to Fire Pit: From the Beginning to the End," featuring an exhibit of works by Keith Brown's artist-in-residence. Funded, in part, by the South Carolina Arts Commission, the Native American Studies Center's artist-in-residence program allows the NASC to bring in Native American Artists to work within our galleries providing demonstrations and lectures for students and visitors. This exhibition showcases the work completed during our third residency with Keith "Little Bear" Brown, along with complimentary pieces from his portfolio that influenced the pottery created at the Center. Ongoing - The Center is 15,000 square foot facility in historic downtown Lancaster. Guests will have the opportunity to tour the NAS Center's gallery spaces, archives, classrooms, and archaeology, language, and audio-visual labs. Home to the world's largest collection of Catawba Indian pottery, the NAS Center will offer exhibits of regional Native American Art, classes and programs focused on Native American history, culture, archaeology, folklore, and language. Hours: Tue., Wed., Fri., & Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur., 10am-7pm; of Mon. by appt only. Contact: 803/313-7172 or visit (<http://usclancaster.sco.edu/NAS/>).

Moncks Corner

Old Santee Canal Park, Interpretive Center, 900 Stony Landing Rd., off Hwy. 52 By-Pass, Moncks Corner. July 1 - Aug. 24 - "Pirates, Privateers and Buccaneers of the Carolinas". Many myths about pirates are dispelled in this exhibit such as that pirates frequently sank other ships. Perhaps a warship in combat would be sunk, but pirates rarely sank a ship they wanted to capture. Sinking a ship would be counterproductive because their loot and captives would go down with the ship. One of the most feared pirates of all was Blackbeard, who was said to increase his fierce countenance for battle by weaving lit fuses into his beard. The story of Blackbeard can be found in this exhibit, along with the stories of many other pirates. This exhibit was developed by the South Carolina State Museum with research, collaboration and assistance from the North Carolina Museum of History, the Queen Anne's Revenge Project of the North Carolina Office of State Archaeology, and the North Carolina Maritime Museum. Hours: 9am - 4pm. Admission: Yes. Contact: call Mary S. Bell at 843/761-8000 ext 5216, or at (www.oldsanteecanalpark.org).

Work by Douglas Balentine

Franklin G. Burroughs - Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum, 3100 South Ocean Blvd., beside Springmaid Beach, Myrtle Beach. Through Sept. 17 - "Feast / Local: Photography by Brant Barrett. Local photographer Brant Barrett hits the road to highlight the Grand Strand's food scene in unexpected ways not always observed by the millions of tourists who come annually for the area's pristine beaches. With well over 1,800 restaurants (Huffington Post cited us as one of the U.S.'s top 15 "restaurant-crazy cities" a few years back), the Strand's food scene may seem obvious, but a deeper look uncovers the alternative food venues familiar chiefly to locals, like church gatherings, family reunions, mom-and-pop cafes, produce stands, farmers' markets, country stores, backwoods bars and signature food festivals. Barrett's lens will reveal definitive images that speak to our sense of taste, as well as our sense of place. Through Sept. 17 - "Feast Your Eyes / Celebrating the Food of the South - The exhibit will explore our culinary heritage as nourishment and beyond: a form of cultural, political and artistic expression; an enduring source of comfort; sometimes an object of obsession; perhaps a symbol of class, race or gender... and always a cause for celebration. Food and beverage icons, peculiar and particular to the South, will be examined with works in an expansive variety of two and three-dimensional media, including paintings in oil and watercolor; works in pastel; printmaking; photography; sculptures in ceramics, metal, wood and mixed media; textile and fiber arts, and functional art such as handcrafted dining furniture and serving ware. Through Sept. 10 - "Beyond the Horizon," featuring a retrospective by Charleston, SC, based artist, Douglas Balentine. After years of painting in classical style, Balentine felt the need to step away from the work he had been doing. "So I went out to the beach (Sullivan's Island, SC), somewhere I hadn't painted before, except maybe when I was very young," Balentine said. "In classical art you have your verticals and horizontals, structure and geometry, but out there it's just this big empty space, this expansiveness." The exhibition includes 43 works - studies, sketches, paintings in progress and finished paintings. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm & Sun., 1-4pm. Contact: 843/238-2510 or at (www.myrtlebeachartmuseum.org).

Rock Hill

"The Bicycle Carousel" by Sean Mueller, in collaboration with Jarod Chazzewski

Center for the Arts, 121 East Main St., Rock Hill. Dalton Gallery, Through July 30 - "reCYCLE," featuring works by Leah Mulligan Cabinum and Sean Mueller, in celebration of the 2017 UCI BMX World Championships. Carbon and metal frames begin to lose their identity as they are twisted and stacked. Gears and chains are pieced and welded together to create three-dimensional spheres. Wheels no longer grip the dirt, rather one finds them rotating from above. In their work, both Leah Mulligan Cabinum and Sean Mueller repurpose found objects, often bike parts - gears, valve stems, inner tubes, tires, bike chains, as well as the frames themselves, manipulating them to create sculptural installations. Hours: Mon.-Thur., 9am-6pm; Fri., 9am-5pm; and on 2nd and 4th weekends, Sat., 10am-2pm; & Sun., 2-4pm. Contact: 803/328-2787 or at (<http://www.yorkcountyyarts.org/>).

UPSTATE Gallery on Main, 172 E. Main Street, Spartanburg. July 11 - Aug. 25 - "Inhabiting Experience," a selection of recent works by Greenville, SC, painter Mark Brosseau. A reception will be held on July 20, from 6-8pm. Inspired in part by his artist residency in Iceland, Brosseau's pulsating abstractions celebrate the idiosyncrasy of visual experience and simultaneously negotiate our facility to process it. Using effervescent color and primary forms in deceptively complex ways, alternatively opaque and revealing layers create neatly stacked yet constantly mobilized spaces. Ongoing - The gallery, run by UPSTATE, is dedicated to contemporary and original exhibitions that include selections from the permanent collection by artists Andy Warhol, Jerry Uelsmann and Beatrice Riese. Hours: Tue.-Sat., noon-5pm or by appt. Contact: Jane Allen Nodine, director by e-mail at (Jnodine@uscupstate.edu), call 864/503-5838, or Mark Flowers, exhibits coordinator by e-mail at (Mflowers@uscupstate.edu), or call 864/503-5848.

The 320-mile New River begins high in the mountains of northwestern North Carolina, deep in the heart of the Southern Appalachians. The New, as it is affectionately called, actually begins as two rivers, the North Fork in Ashe County and South Fork in Watauga County. The two forks join in Alleghany County and flow north from North Carolina's Blue Ridge into Virginia and West Virginia. One of the oldest rivers in the world and certainly the oldest in the United States, the headwaters of the New wind more than 100 miles through the Appalachians; the forks join just a few miles south of the North Carolina-Virginia line. The New River continues its somewhat unusual northward flow through southwestern Virginia and West Virginia into the Kanawha and Ohio rivers - its waters eventually reaching the Gulf of Mexico by way of the Mississippi River. Hours: 10am-6pm, Tue., Wed., Thur., & Sat. and Fri., noon -8pm. Contact: Hank T. Foreman at 828/262-3017 or at (www.turchincenter.org).

Work by Bob Trotman

Mint Museum Uptown, Levine Center for the Arts, 500 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Through July 20 - "John Biggers: Wheels in Wheels". If Gastonia native John Biggers (1924-2001) was alive today, he might give us the following advice about interpreting his art: "It's all in there - you just have to look." Through Sept. 3 - "State of the Art: Discovering American Art Now." Consisting of approximately 75 remarkable works, the exhibition seeks to de-mystify contemporary American art. In 2013, representatives from the Crystal Bridges Museum of Art embarked on a coast-to-coast curatorial road trip. Their objective: to discover new and intriguing works of art existing outside of typical metropolitan venues. Former Director Don Bacigalupo and Curator Chad Aligood traveled 100,000 miles and conducted nearly 1,000 studio visits with artists who had been recommended by their colleagues in each state. Their findings formed the basis for "State of the Art: Discovering American Art Now", an unprecedented nationwide survey of contemporary American art. Ongoing - The Mint Museum Uptown will house the world renowned collections of the Mint Museum of Craft + Design, as well as the American Art and Contemporary Art collections and selected works from the European Art collection. The building also includes a café, a Family Gallery, painting and ceramics studios, classrooms, a 240-seat auditorium, a Special Events Pavilion with outdoor terrace, and an expanded Museum Shop specializing in crafts of the Carolinas. Admission: Yes. Hours: Wed., 11am-9pm (free admission 5-9pm); Thur.-Sat., 11am-6pm; & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 704/337-2000 or at (www.mintmuseum.org).

Fennell is most widely known for the luminous landscapes, interiors and still lifes he has painted during the past four decades while based in the communities of Whitsett and Grassy Creek, NC. The vivid palette and Impressionist paint handling that are most often associated with Fennell's style are the result of a lifelong aesthetic drive. Fennell explains, "My work, as personal as it is, is basically the study of light upon form and space. In pursuit of this study, I try to merge a visual truth of what is seen with basic abstract elements inherent in both painting and nature." InFocus Gallery, Through Aug. 20 - Presenting an exhibition highlighting artists affiliated with the North Carolina Glass Center. Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. Through Oct. 15 - "Red-Hot and Newly Acquired: Recent Additions to the Collection". Last year the Weatherspoon celebrated its 75th anniversary and showcased many outright and promised gifts to the collection as part of the festivities. Not all recent additions to the collection, however, could be included. This exhibition focuses on those that the museum purchased through established art acquisition endowments or using donated funds. These purchases, along with four gifts of art, allow us to acknowledge that the museum's broad collection and steady growth and innovation result in part from many kinds of civic generosity. Artwork by Ai Weiwei, Mickalene Thomas, Tony Oursler, and Rozeal are but a few new additions highlighted. The exhibition is organized by Elaine D. Gustafson, Curator of Collections. Through Aug. 20 - "Single-Channel Catalyst II". In his video, Better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all (2014), Mexican artist Alejandro Almanza Pereda creates a surreal scene: a still life—that traditional artist's subject of objects on a surface—becomes animated. Playing cards, fruit, and vases move with unexpected buoyancy. Suddenly one sees these objects not as games, food, or containers, but as living things with distinct personalities and individual agency. In the companion exhibition, Almanza Pereda's video serves as the catalyst for an installation of artworks from the Weatherspoon's collection. Each selection features common things—a cup, a shirt, a box. Like the objects in the video, these ordinary items take on poetic meaning when featured as artistic subjects. Collectively, the video, paintings, drawings, prints, and sculptures provide an opportunity to pause and reconsider the role of things in our lives. How do we use them? Which do we treasure and which do we discard? What do things mean to us? The project is organized by Dr. Emily Stamey, Curator of Exhibitions. The Bob & Lissa Shelley McDowell Gallery, Through Sept. 3 - "Art on Paper 2017: The 44th Exhibition". The exhibition celebrates contemporary art in which the use of paper—either as surface or material—is a primary concern. Longstanding support from xpexd (formerly the Dillard Paper Company) and, today, the Dillard Fund has allowed the Weatherspoon to acquire work from each "Art on Paper" exhibition since 1965. This significant support has fostered the growth of the Weatherspoon's nationally recognized Dillard Collection of Art on Paper. Today its holdings number some 600 works of art. Following a slate of exhibitions timed to celebrate the Weatherspoon's 75th anniversary, this biennial exhibition will shift seasons and open in May of 2017. As with "Art on Paper" 2014, the installation will include several works by each artist, rather than a single representative piece. This approach aims to provide greater context for individual artworks and a broader understanding of each artist's practice. Space limitations will again make the selection process highly competitive. The Gregory D. Ivy Gallery and The Weatherspoon Guild Gallery, Through Aug. 6 - "Affinities & Variations". This exhibition pairs paintings in the museum's collection to show visual affinities in structure, theme, technique, emphasis or palette, as well as distinct variations between the two works. While none of the artists were responding to each other's work, it is fascinating to see how they tackled similar issues in their own personal way, sometimes decades apart. Visitors will be challenged to look closely at each pairing and consider to what extent the paintings cohere and/or vary. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Sculpture Courtyard - Featuring selections of American sculpture from 1900 to the present from the Weatherspoon Collection and on loan works from contemporary artists. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue., Wed. & Fri., 10am-5pm, Thur., 10am to 9pm and Sat. & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 336/334-5770 or at (<http://weatherspoon.uncg.edu>).

Contact: 828/322-7545 or at (www.fullcirclearts.org).

Hickory Museum of Art, Arts and Science Center, 243 Third Avenue NE, Hickory. Coe Gallery, Through Sept. 9 - "HICKORY STICKS: Jonathan Brilliant Installation". HMA invites North Carolina artist Jonathan Brilliant for a week-long residency to create a site-specific installation in the Museum's Coe Gallery using to-go coffee accoutrements as his art materials. The artist will laboriously weave 50,000+ wood coffee stirrers to create a site-responsive, colossal sculpture influenced by the gallery's 25 foot ceiling and unique architectural features—spiral staircases and Palladian windows. Visitors will be able to walk under, in and around the undulating walls of this structure. The woven stirrers are held in place without the use of adhesives; tension and compression are what gives the structure strength and stability. Complementary smaller installations comprised of coffee cup sleeves, disposable lids and coffee stain wall drawings will also be included in the exhibition. Shuford Gallery, Gifford & Regal Galleries, Through Sept. 17 - "PAST LIVES: Installation by Brian Lackey". An installation by Hickory, NC, native Brian Lackey of photographic prints including a rare body of work using Polaroid type 55 film; original music; and film projections. High Point

Theatre Art Galleries, High Point Theatre, 220 East Commerce Avenue, High Point. Main and Hallway Galleries, Through Aug. 4 - "URBAN EXPRESSIONS". Public art is exactly that, art in public spaces. The term "public art" may conjure images of historic bronze statues of a soldier on horseback in a park. Today, public art can take a wide range of forms, sizes, and scales—and can be temporary or permanent. Public art can include murals, sculpture, memorials, integrated architectural or landscape architectural work, community art, digital new media, and even performances and festivals! Upstairs Gallery, Through Aug. 4 - "Summerball: a month with the Torrington Twisters". In 2005, Laurie and Blair Pessemier, fine art painters, set out to follow a baseball team during the summer. They found the Torrington Twisters, an NECBL team, not far from where Laurie grew up. The Pessemiers spent 30 days documenting the team in paintings, sketches and writing. Kaleidoscope Youth Gallery, Through Aug. 4 - "Annual Middle School Art Exhibition". Hours: Tue.-Sat., noon-5pm. Contact: 336/887-2137 or at (www.lagart.org).

Eudora Welty, "A Woman of the Thirties" (Jackson), 1930s-early 1940s, printed 1992, toned gelatin-silver print, 17 1/4 x 12 1/2 in., Gift of Robert P. Venuti in honor of Lawrence J. Wheeler, © 1992 Eudora Welty, LLC, Courtesy Eudora Welty Collection-Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

North Carolina Museum of Art, 2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh. East Building, Level B, Video Gallery, Through Aug. 13 - "Quayola: Pleasant Places". The exhibition consists of a series of digital paintings exploring the boundary between representation and abstraction. Inspired by the work of Vincent van Gogh, U.K.-based artist Quayola traveled to Provence, France, 125 years after Van Gogh famously painted there. As a nod to that painter's expressionist style, Quayola's own Provence landscapes morph from realistic images of windblown trees to abstracted scenes of color and texture, as the natural forms begin to bleed into one another in swirls of disintegrating pixels. Simultaneously, the audio of rustling leaves and wind becomes distorted and abstracted. East Building, Level B, Julian T. Baker Jr. Photography Gallery, Through Sept. 3 - "Looking South: Photographs by Eudora

Welty". This exhibition features a portfolio of 18 photographs by the acclaimed American novelist and short story writer Eudora Welty (1909-2001), produced by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History in 1992 (with Welty selecting the images and printing techniques) to represent the range of her photographs from the 1930s and early 1940s. Welty's iconic images of the South during this time bring to mind the photographs of Helen Levitt, Dorothea Lange, and Walker Evans, among others. In comparing Welty's work to Levitt's photographs of New York, critic John Szarkowski wrote, "Like those of Levitt, Welty's photographs do not show us the only truths of her subjects' lives; perhaps they show us only the rarest and most evanescent truths, in which case we are the more grateful for these proofs of their existence." East Building, Level B, Allen G. Thomas Jr. Photography Gallery, Through Sept. 3 - "You + Me". The photographs featured in this exhibit reveal the complexities of relationships, particularly those between two people: mother and daughter, a married couple, two friends, colleagues, multiple generations, and neighbors. Each photograph shows the gray spaces among independence and dependence, vulnerability and resistance, or compassion and indifference. An even more complicated relationship is that of the photographer and his or her subjects. The camera calls into question the candidness of the relationship in the portrait, whether it changes because it is seen through a lens. Art in the exhibition include Ralph Burns, Sue de Beer, Harry Callahan, Carolyn DeMerit, Sarah Anne Johnson, Deborah Luster, Danny Lyon, Barbara Morgan, Caroline Vaughan, Alec Soth, and Luis Rey Velasco. African Art Gallery, East Building, Level A, Ongoing - Featuring African creativity spanning 16 centuries. The new gallery will be three times as large as the old West Building gallery, allowing the Museum to display nearly twice as many works - including some that have not been on view in a decade, and others that are newly acquired and have never before been on display. The new gallery will feature improved light control so that light-sensitive works of art, such as textiles and works on paper, can be given more visibility, shown in curated rotations. The gallery will include a designated space to highlight North Carolina collections of African art from private collectors and public institutions, beginning with work from Bennett College. It will also incorporate African and African Diasporic modern and contemporary art, including a site-specific wall drawing by Nigerian-American artist Victor Ekpuk. NCMA Park - The North Carolina Museum of Art (NCMA) announces new works of art to be installed in the 164-acre NCMA Park. The works include a bronze tree by Italian artist Giuseppe Penone, a playful pair of benches designed by Hank Willis Thomas, and a 10-day installation of 23-foot-tall illuminated rabbits by Australian artist Amanda Parer. The sculptures will be featured at the NCMA's Park Celebration on Nov. 6, when the public is invited to experience the newly expanded Park with a variety of outdoor activities. Ongoing - Featuring 10 additional sculptures by the celebrated French artist Rodin on loan from Iris Cantor's private collection. Ongoing - "John James Audubon's The Birds of America". The state has owned this treasured volume since 1848, but it has never been exhibited. Ongoing - The North Carolina Museum of Art has an outstanding permanent collection of more than 5,000 objects spanning antiquity to the present day. On the occasion of the expansion, the Museum has acquired more than 100 new works of art. Representing commissions, gifts, and purchases, the new works encompass important and diverse examples of historic and contemporary art from around the world, and will be installed in the Museum's new building and the surrounding landscape. Highlights include a gift of 28 sculptures by Auguste Rodin, and work by such internationally acclaimed artists as Roxby Paine, Ursula von Rydingsvard, El Anatsui, Jaume Plensa, Jackie Ferrara, Ellsworth Kelly, and David Park, among others. Admission: Yes for some exhibits. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 9am-5pm; Sun., 10am-5pm; & open until 9pm on Fri. Contact: 919/839-6262 or at (www.ncartmuseum.org).

North Carolina Museum of History, 5 East Edenton Street, (between Salisbury and Wilmington Streets), Raleigh. Through Jan. 6, 2018 - "American Red Cross: Healing the Warrior's Heart through Art." "The museum is pleased to partner with the American Red Cross to bring to the public this exhibit of the remarkable art created by these wounded warriors. We hope it will help people realize the incredible sacrifice these soldiers and veterans have made for our country," said Ken Howard, director of the NC Museum of History. This powerful exhibit features more than 20 paintings and three sculptures created by US Marines who were wounded while serving. Ongoing - Featuring exhibits dealing with North Carolina's history as a theme. Admission: Free. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 919/807-7900 or at (<http://www.ncmuseumofhistory.org/>).
