collection of prints, the exhibition examines a moment when artists adopted, and adapted, the screenprint technique during an extremely fertile period of experimentation and productivity in the United States and Great Britain. Coinciding with a confluence of social upheaval, political turmoil and artistic change and exchange, "Colour Correction" illustrates what many art historians consider to be the "golden age" of screenprinting. The exhibition includes more than 100 works by 40 artists—from the playful Pop art of Andy Warhol and Eduardo Paolozzi to the scathing political critiques of May Stevens to the minimalist abstractions and optical exercises in visual perception by artists such as Richard Anuszkiewicz, William T. Williams and Liliane Lijn. Also - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. "I am still a little girl walking amongst the trees. What has changed, however, are the colors that shift and transform with every piece I complete. The images are never quite the same, nor the music that drives my energy as I work. I run through the thicket of canvas with a brush in one hand and a can of spray paint in the other— splashing and streaking bold, sometimes brash, color combinations. As if in some kind of dream, I will lance and parry, my arms now maple, then oak. I become bright light until the autumnal equinox brings her long shadows and inky washes," says Fletcher. Hours: reg convention hours. Contact: Durham Arts Council at 919/560-2787 or at (www.durhamarts.org).

Weatherspoon Art Museum, University of North Carolina - Greensboro, Cone Building, Tate and Spring Garden Streets, Greensboro. Through Oct.4 - "FULL STOP (2004-05)" is a full-scale installation work constructed entirely of cardboard, black paint, wood and hot glue by Tom Burkhardt. A highly detailed replica of a mythical artist's studio, the work presents viewers with a cluttered interior space filled with art books, research material and all the tools of the classic post-war American oil painter. Curiously, at the center of the studio is a blank canvas, hinting at the anxiety of making the first mark, the theater of the studio, and the melancholy narrative of painting today, a subject that Burkhardt often references in his work. The exhibit is curated by Michael Goodson, Director of Exhibitions, Columbus College of Art & Design in collaboration with the artist.

Through Oct. 4 - "McDonald Bane: 2 Parts Art, 1 Part Science". Since the 1960s, North Carolina artist Mackey Bane has rigorously explored the visual effects of line, shape and color in her work. Her focus has been on exploring the endless variables produced by forming linear relationships and contrasting curved and angular geometric shapes in her abstract compositions, whether in color or black and white. Bane's exhibition at the Weatherspoon includes works on paper, prints and oil on canvas paintings dating from 1966 to 2013. Bane received her MFA at Woman's College (now UNCG) in 1959. Her work has been shown nationally and is in the permanent collections of the Museum of Modern Art, New York, NY; the Mint Museum, Charlotte, NC; and the Weatherspoon Art Museum, among others. Bane is represented by Lee Hansley Gallery, Raleigh, NC. Gregory D. Ivy Gallery and The Weatherspoon Guild Gallery, Through Oct. 18 - "The Stilled Lives of Objects". Over the history of art, the subject of the still life has provided unlimited opportunities for artists to investigate their understanding of vision and perception, to explore the formal elements of art, and to depict objects as symbols of cultural significance. The works in this exhibition both showcase depictions of natural and man-made objects and demonstrate the plethora of possibilities this humble subject matter offers to both artists and discerning visitors alike. The Bob & Lissa Shelley McDowell Gallery, Through Sept. 6 - "Beverly Semmes: FRP".

At the heart of Beverly Semmes' The Feminist Responsibility Project (FRP) is a collection of works on paper that use rough gestural applications of ink and paint to conceal and reveal the female body as depicted in pornographic magazines. As Semmes explains, "Picture a committee of rogue censors responding to the imagery of porn. They blot out the literal; what is left behind and altered now speaks in a different voice." At the Weatherspoon, the drawings are accompanied by ceramics, suspended and illuminated glass sculpture, video work, and a large-scale installation. Atrium and Lobbies - Featuring works of art complementing current gallery exhibitions which are rotated in the atrium and public areas throughout both floors of the gallery. Tom Otterness' site-specific work, "The Frieze" is permanently installed in the atrium. Sculpture Courtyard - Featuring selections of American sculpture from 1900 to the present from the Weatherspoon Collection and on loan works from contemporary artists.
