Work by Wiley Johnson

Block Gallery (inside Raleigh Municipal Building), 222 W. Hargett St., Raleigh. Aug. 1 - Sept. 21 - "Wiley Johnson and Eduard Lapetina: Through the Layers". A reception will be held on Aug. 4, from 5:30-8pm. The exhibit is part of a showcase of art exhibitions, performances, and experiences accompanying the Leadership Exchange in Arts and Disability Conference (LEAD@), which will take place in Raleigh from Aug. 1 - 5, 2022. This exhibition brings together two North Carolina based artists who self-identify as having a disability. They each have different approaches to abstraction but have found a visual language through paint. For example, the rich thick layered colors of Eduardo Lapetina's paintings are applied by pouring, scraping, dripping and other methods, create a complex surface texture. Meanwhile, Wiley Johnson has a more fluid approach to abstraction often allowing the previous layer of paint to show through transparent applications. The title of this exhibition, "Through the Layers", suggests more than just the use of paint and the complex surfaces created by these artists. Working as an artist with a disability, whether it be physical, cognitive, or invisible to others, informs the creative process and the artist experience. As viewers, we shouldn't perceive this as an impediment to the art but as the culmination of a lived disability experience. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8:30am-5:15pm. Contact: Stacy Bloom Rexrode, Curator of Exhibitions and Collections, Raleigh Arts, call 919/996-4687 or at (<https://raleighnc.gov/SupportPages/hue-untitled-process-color>).

Clarence Heyward is a painter and collagist. He relocated to North Carolina to study Art Education at North Carolina Central University. He creates paintings and collages as an exploration of his culture. Clarence's artistic practice is based in the questioning of his identity and circumstance. He seeks ways to engage in dialogues that ultimately leave him connected to those who experience his work. His work is personal. Although creating from his perspective, the human element present in the work creates a connection for all. Independent Weekly Gallery, Through Aug. 14 - "Titus Heagins". Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, NC State University, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh. Through Dec. 3 - "Reic Serritella: Trompe l'Oeil Ceramics". Chapel Hill artist Eric Serritella creates his ceramic sculptures as conduits to emotion through inquiry, recognition, and familiarity. Through aging and decay, Serritella's sculptures challenge the viewer with both the nature of the material and the messages within. Each organic creation is filled with metaphor, both literal and implied. Anthropomorphic elements and vessel forms link humanity as timelessly inseparable from its interactions and relationships to its natural surroundings. Each sculpture in Eric Serritella-Trompe l'Oeil Ceramics fosters awareness to affect viewers' behaviors toward the environment. Through this consciousness they can acquire new appreciations and ways of seeing. Through Aug. 20 - "Frank Lee Craig: Near Distance". Of the many forms of visual art that have emerged in the last two centuries, collage and its three-dimensional sibling, assemblage, probably come closest to representing the process of human memory. Most of us summon up the past only in scattered bits and pieces that require instantaneous reassembly in order to literally "make sense" of recollected experiences each time we need to remember something. Every memory is a new collage of ephemeral thoughts, feelings, and impressions. "Frank Lee Craig-Near Distance" features multimedia work, collages, paintings, and sculptures by the late architect and NC State College of Design Graduate, Frank Lee Craig (B. Arch '77). The bulk of the very substantial body of work we celebrate in this exhibition parallels his efforts to make sense of the mortal circumstance he suddenly confronted when diagnosed with a fatal illness, as well as his need to keep seeing the world through the lens of endless opportunities and possibilities. The exhibition was co-curated by Dr. Margret Kentgens-Craig and Roger Manley. Through Nov. 12 - "Across the Threshold of India: Photographs by Martha Strawn," features photographs that make up a work of visual ecology that perceptively portrays one of India's and the world's longest and least-known religious practices—the art of sanctifying space through the creation of threshold diagrams. Objects from the Gregg Museum's permanent collection will also accompany the photographs. Many of Strawn's photographs are in the permanent collection of the Indira Gandhi National Centre for the Arts, the nation's foremost research center for Indian culture and art, and are featured in her book, "Across the Threshold of India: Art, Women, and Culture". Ongoing - One of NC State University's most historic buildings is now the permanent home of the Gregg Museum of Art & Design. The Historic Chancellor's Residence, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, along with a 15,000 sq. ft. addition, increases the museum's visibility while significantly adding to its exhibition and programming space. Hours: The Gregg Museum is suspending the need for timed entry reservations. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm. The Gregg does ask that larger groups (15+) call ahead at (919) 513-3503, to avoid crowding in the galleries. Contact: Zoe Starling, Curator of Education at 919/513-7244 or at (<https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/>).

North Carolina Museum of Art, 2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh. Ongoing - "Break the Mold: New Takes on Traditional Art Making". The exhibit showcases contemporary artists who use traditional modes of art making and crafting to tackle timely subject matter. Innovative takes on embroidery, ceramics, quilting, furniture, interior design, and fashion accessories serve to explore diverse topics such as gender assumptions and inequalities, prison reform, racial justice, memory, and loss, as well as how objects transmit and transform social and cultural history. This show features 25 contemporary artists, including Sanford Biggers, Elizabeth Brim, Maria Britton, Julie Cockburn, Rodney McMillan, Rachel Meginnes, Katy Mixon, Gabriel de la Mora, Yasumasa Morimura, Thomas Schmidt, Shinique Smith, and Do Ho Suh, whose artworks are displayed alongside some of their historical predecessors. East Building, Through Aug. 21 - "Becoming the NCMA: 10 Decades of Collecting, 1924-2022". The exhibition features more than 60 works of art of every type, including visitor favorites, such as our Botticelli, and rarely seen treasures. Ann and Jim Goodnight East Building, Level B, Video Gallery, Photography Gallery 1 (Julian T. Baker Jr. Gallery) and 2 (Allen G. Thomas Jr. Gallery), Through Aug. 28 - "The Altered Environment". Featuring landscape photography from the NCMA collection, "The Altered Environment" explores art and human geography to consider how we shape the natural world. By building physical structures such as skyscrapers and suburban houses and using transit systems such as subways and airplanes, our collective actions often result in long-term physical changes to the planet. This exhibition evaluates how our social and economic activities regularly overlook environmental costs. NCMA Park - The North Carolina Museum of Art (NCMA) announces new works of art to be installed in the 164-acre NCMA Park. The works include a bronze tree by Italian artist Giuseppe Penone, a playful pair of benches designed by Hank Willis Thomas, and a 10-day installation of 23-foot-tall illuminated rabbits by Australian artist Amanda Parer. The sculptures will be featured at the NCMA's Park Celebration on Nov. 6, when the public is invited to experience the newly expanded Park with a variety of outdoor activities. Ongoing - Featuring 10 additional sculptures by the celebrated French artist Rodin on loan from Iris Cantor's private collection. Ongoing - "John James Audubon's The Birds of America". The state has owned this treasured volume since 1848, but it has never been exhibited. Ongoing - The North Carolina Museum of Art has an outstanding permanent collection of more than 5,000 objects spanning antiquity to the present day.
