

Christina Laurel

"SURVIVOR: GINGKO"

SEPTEMBER 20 - OCTOBER 25
The City of Greer Center for the Arts
804 Trade Street | Greer, SC 29651

About the artist-

Christina Laurel is a paper artist creating installations and two-dimensional art, all with a Japanese aesthetic. In 2005 Laurel removed her art from the frame; in 2009 she began crafting suspensions that freely rotate, and in 2014 shoji paper made its debut in an installation featuring one of her nature motifs – the gingko. The artist originally studied fashion design at Cornell University, then fine art at the University of Maryland and SUNY Brockport, earning a BS Studio Art in 2009. Laurel's artistic mission: "to create an exhale moment, an oasis of respite from the sensory bombardment of today's world." She is a resident of Liberty, SC, with a studio in Holly Springs Center.

Photo by Chelsey Ashford, TOWN Magazine

Photo by : Alan Devorsey

Photo by : Pat Owens

DON'T FORGET TO VISIT OUR RESIDENT ARTISTS!

KIM GILMORE

BLAINE OWENS

BAKKIALAKSHMI JEYARAMAN

